WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Being the story of the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association

Supt. Albright had most appropriately arranged to hold the exercises commemorative of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Park, at the camping site of the Washburn exploring party in 1870 at the junction of the Fire Hole and Gibbons rivers. The record shows that it was at this camp that the suggestion was first made by Judge Hedges, that the wonders they had just witnessed should be preserved for the public by making this region a national park. The idea met with instant favor among the little party engaged in that expedition and was the genesis of the movement which culminated two years later in the passage by Congress of an act establishing the Yellowstone National Park. Two sons of Judge Hedges were present at our celebration and raised a flag to the top of a new flag pole and planted a tree as their part of an interesting program. Later one of the brothers informed me that Mrs. John M. Woodbridge of Jewett street, Newton was his sister.

Mr. Albright had erected a speaker's stand adorned with the antlers of elk and deer and gay with flags, on which he few brief addresses of the day were given, while moving pictures were made of the entire proceeding. Several hundred spectators were present, the big buses in which they came forming a background for the scene. One of the former stage coaches which were operated before automobiles came in vogue, was driven about the field and there was also an exhibition of placer mining in the adjacent river. The whole affair went off very nicely to the credit of the executive ability of Supt. Albright.

On our way over to the celebration hat morning, we stopped at the Noris geyser basin for our first sight of cal geysers. This basin does not contain the larger geysers but those it as are quite active and the valley is alive with steaming pools of water. After the celebration was over, we drove to the Old Faithful Inn for lunch. This hotel faces the geyser of the same name and was about as comfortable a place as one could imagine. To begin with the hotel is built entirely of logs (with the bark removed), and boulders. The lobby inside is 75 feet square and 92 feet high to the peak of the roof, with balconies around three sides. The oddest shaped wood is used for the balustrades and braces for the pillars and there is a massive stone chimney in the center with eight fireplaces, one at each side and corner. On one side of this chimney is an immense skeleton clock, with a clock dial several feet in diameter. The service at this hotel was the finest we had in the entire journey, and we left its hospitable roof with many promises to return.

But the great attraction of the place of course is the Old Faithful geyser, which sends a stream of hot water and steam 150 feet in the air every 65 minutes. A clock dial on the veranda of the hotel informs you when the geyser will play again and it has never yet failed. A searchlight on the roof of the hotel shines on Old Faithful when it plays at night and is one of the features of the place. In addition to Old Faithful this basin contains numerous other geysers which play at irregular intervals, the Giant throwing a mass of water 250 feet in the air at intervals of from 6 to 14 days; the Grand, Giantess and Bee Hive are 200 feet geysers and there are several others in the 100 feet class.

That afternoon we visited the Lower Geyser basin, to my mind the most beautiful part of the geyser and hot spring features of the Park. For here

MOORE — SPRAGUE

The wedding of Miss Katherine Gorham Sprague, Simmons 1917, of West Newton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Sprague 2nd of Webster street, and Mr. Ernest Allen Moore of Weston, took place last Monday afternoon at the Unitarian Church at Barnstable, Mass., the summer home of the Sprague family.

The church was decorated with garden hydrangeas and greens and the organ selections were given by Mr. Lyman F. Brackett of Dorchester, a cousin of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest A. Chase, the minister of the church.

The bride wore white crepe with side drapery of lace and a court train. Her veil was caught with the conventional cluster of orange blossoms.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. K. H. Barnard of Hillsboro, Ill., as matron of honor and who wore a green organdie with hat to match. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary A. Sprague, a sister, of West Newton, Miss Gertrude Moore of Weston, a sister of the groom and the Misses Harriett R. Edmonds and Mary L. Hunter of West Newton. Ethel B. Griffin of Auburndale and Mrs. Stanley E. Hall of Wellesley. They were gown in blue organdie and in yellow organdie, with hats to match.

Eleanor G. and Mary Katherine Barnard, nieces of the bride were the flower girls.

The bridegroom's brother, Mr. Arthur J. Moore of Weston, was the best man and the ushers were Messrs Henry C. Everett, Jr., of Boston and John A. Crocker of Newton, both of whom are cousins of the bride; Frank Thompson of Wollaston; George E. Salt of Melrose; John C. Ferguson of Brookline and Dr. Stanley L. Hall of Wellesley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home in Barnstable of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Henry C. Everett, of Boston. The bride and groom were seated in the same room in which the bride's grandfather and grandmother were married. Mr. Moore and his bride are to live at Wellesley Farms, where they will be at home after Nov. 1. The bridegroom served in the World War with the 101st United States Engineers.

HOW MASSACHUSETTS IS GOVERNED

The 4th article in a series on state departments written by Representative J. C. Brimblecom

The appalling extent of the amount of insanity, feeble minded and mental deficiency in this Commonwealth is clearly indicated in the appropriation made for the Department of Mental Diseases, amounting to $7,893,576, the highest amount appropriated for any department of the state.

Massachusetts began its work among the insane in 1853 and in connection with the work for state charities and later with the department of Health. It was not until 193 that the care of the insane was made the sole function of a department. The present form under the consolidation act of 1919 has a paid Commissioner at the head with four unpaid associates, who meet monthly with the Commissioner, decide policies, and approve contracts.

The statute provides that: "The Commonwealth shall have the care, control, and treatment of all insane, feeble-minded, and epileptic persons, and of persons addicted to the intemperate use of narcotics or stimulants, the care of whom is vested in it by law, and of each person who shall hereafter be received into any state hospital. No county, city or town shall establish or maintain any institution for the care, control and treatment of insane, feeble-minded or epileptic persons, or of persons addicted to the intemperate use of narcotics or stimulants, or be liable for the board, care, treatment, or act of any inmate thereof."

The department has control of 11 insane hospitals, 2 institutions for the feeble-minded and 1 for epileptics, and on June 1st, had the care of 19,220 persons, of whom about 16,000 were insane and 3,400 feeble-minded. This by no means tells the whole sad story for it is estimated that there are between 30,000 and 40,000 feeble-minded persons in the state of whom but 5,000 are under treatment. This does not mean that Massachusetts has a larger proportion of insane and feeble-minded persons than other states, but because our state leads the whole country in the care it extends to this class of unfortunate.

It is of interest to note that a study of the figures shows that out of every 100 persons admitted to our state institutions for the mentally sick that 23% are discharged as recovered, 28% discharged as improved, 21% discharged as not improved, 19% die and 95 remain at the end of ten-year periods. This makes an accurate yardstick for estimating the needs for the future and on our present basis means that accommodations should be provided each year for about 300 to 400 new patients.

Work is considered the best form of treatment for these people, and about 95% of those who are not bedridden or afflicted with acute insanity, are employed around the various institutions.

In this connection the department has an investigator of farm administration who balances the agricultural work of the various institutions.

The purchasing of supplies for such a department is an important function and has been scientifically carried out. There are monthly meetings of the stewards of the various institutions at which certain standards of food supplies are established, and to which each must conform. Bids are then obtained and contracts awarded on the basis thus established. A basic ration has also been established for each inmate and the quantities of supplies are accurately estimated. In this way it is possible for the department to give to the legislature each year an

Coal Shortage

PERFECTION OIL HEATERS

As a result of the coal and railroad strikes, it is evident New England householders face a serious shortage of fuel during the coming winter. The gravity of the situation is not generally realized by the public.

Perfection Oil Heaters will be of the utmost help in overcoming the discomfort and inconveniences incident to this fuel shortage. We have ordered a large supply of heaters which we hope will take care of the demands of our customers.

It will be to your advantage, therefore, immediately to give most careful consideration to your heater requirements and place your order with us at once.

Immediate attention to this matter is essential for the supply of heaters will of necessity be limited—we do not want our customers to suffer this winter for lack of heat.

We found the most wonderful colorings in the pools and hot springs. These pools are a distinct feature of the basins, each of them having no bottom in the center and spreading out on the edges to the thinnest possible sheet of water. At the edge, vegetable algae grows profusely with bright colors of red and green and yellow, which with the deep green of the center of the pool forms a beautiful sight. Emerald pool did not have this algae apparently and the water was several shades of green. Prismatic lake, was the largest body of water in this basin and was aglow with color, but to my mind Rainbow pool was the most beautiful thing in the park, without even excepting the wonderful Canyon itself.

It is a curious fact that the water from none of these springs and geysers washes the earth away. On the contrary the water as it runs away from the spring leaves a bit of sediment, and some of them have quite a crater. The Punch bowl is a good example of this—a spring of boiling bubbling hot water in a crater several feet higher than the surrounding ground.

From the diary of the Washburn Party of 1870, it is evident that there has been a steady decline in the number as well as in the activity of the geysers since that date. We were shown the crater of the Excelsior geyser which has not been active for over 30 years, and heard tales that when it did play it sent a body of water 250 feet in the air and 300 feet in diameter. This mass of water raised the river some three feet every time it played and its hot water killed all the fish. It must have been a wonderful sight.

The next day we drove from Old Faithful back to the Canyon Hotel by way of the lake, crossing the Continental divide twice in the trip, the divide making a curious loop at this part of the Park. It was a fine drive, with a glimpse of the high Teton mountains to the south, in a territory which it is hoped will soon be added to the Park. We also saw the Kepler geysers, a beautiful fall of water and a small natural bridge.

The Canyon Hotel was less crowded that night and we were much more comfortable than on our first night there. Late that afternoon we thought we were near a tragedy when a young man from the Canyon camp, while on the trail to the bottom of the Canyon had to call for assistance. The rangers responded quickly and soon had him out on safe ground.

Our last day in the Park was a notable one. Leaving the Canyon Hotel right after breakfast, we drove to the top of Mt. Washburn, named after the leader of the exploring party in 1870, and said to be the highest mountain in the Park, being over 10,300 feet above the sea. We were the second of the motorcade, and were fortunate enough as we neared the top of the mountain to see a little group of mountain sheep. There is a good road to the top of the mountain and the view on a clear day must have been something fine. It was a trifle hazy on the day we were there and so we had missed some of the best views. The ladies of our party were greatly interested in the acres and acres of bright colored wild flowers which grew on the sides of the mountain.

We stopped a few moments at Tower falls, a unique waterfall which is flanked with tall chimney like splinters of rock a hundred feet or more high.

We arrived at the Mammoth Springs hotel in time for lunch after stopping all along the way to view the numerous terraces of lime stone which have been built up during many ages by the hot waters of the springs. These terraces are as high as a house and are of all colors. Some of them are pure white while others are streaked with red, yellow, blue and pink. The formation is much like chalk in consistency and is carved and fretted in curious shapes and forms.

Mammoth Springs is the government headquarters and was formerly an important military fort. The soldiers have gone nowadays and the rangers furnish all the protection needed at present.

We took a short drive that afternoon to the Golden Gate, a rock formation on the road to the westerly side of the park. On the way we passed the Hoodoos, a wild jumble of huge boulders which had fallen from the nearby mountain side. It seemed as if giants of former days had amused themselves by throwing these enormous rocks around in extricable confusion.

That evening we said adieu to the Yellowstone Park and took the buses once more for our train which was to meet us at Gardiner, the northern entrance to the Park. It was a pleasing ride of five miles or more down the valley of the Yellowstone and the canyon of the Gardiner river, passing through the hot arch which marks this entrance to the Park, inscribed with the slogan of the Park, "For the benefit and enjoyment of the people."

I trust I have not wearied you with this story of our visit to the wonderful Yellowstone Park. I realize its inadequacy and can only advise my readers to take the first possible opportunity and visit the park. It will pay you many fold and give you an insight into the works of God which you can never realize in any other way or manner.

ARLINGTON WATER CIRCUUS TO BE NOVEL AFFAIR

The Arlington Water Circus and Path of Jewels Carnival to be held at Spy Pond, Arlington, September 12th to 16th inclusive promises to be the most gigantic affair of its kind ever held in this section of the country.

The Middlesex Sportsman's Association and the Arlington Lodge of Elks have combined to handle this mammoth production and have instructed Harry S. Orr, the Director, to spare no expense to promote a production second to none.

The show opens with a concert by Charlie Young's fifty-piece concert band which is followed by a mammoth decorated canoe parade—with two hundred and fifty decorated canoes.

The big Water Ballet Chorus composed of a hundred young ladies singing especially arranged numbers and followed by water events such as canoe races, swimming races, high and fancy diving.

The Moxie Boy assisted by twelve frolicking Moxie Beauties sing and dance on the Oyster Shell Float—a new and novel feature especially arranged through the courtesy of Frank M. Archer of the Moxie Company.

A canoe drill of great interest will be shown at each performance.

Canoe races, singles, doubles and war canoes in fast speedy races, high and fancy divers featuring Neptune and Neptune's Daughters. Feature fireworks display every night at the close of each performance.

A Path of Jewels Midway brilliantly illuminated with twenty four concession booths to be erected will be a feature par excellence.

The show, taken as a whole, will be the biggest event of its kind ever held in this section of the country. New and novel features will predominate and a sensational free act will close the production each night.

It is estimated that a hundred thousand people will visit Spy Pond on these dates.

A flock of a hundred wild ducks will mingle with the performers and the entire show will be produced under the blaze of eight big search lights.

A good time is assured all who attend.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—Beginning with a special matinee Labor Day the Boston Stock Company will present "The Night Call", an absorbing mystery melodrama by Adeline Hendricks. This play enjoyed a phenomenal success at the Frazee Theatre in New York, and its presentation here will be the first showing by a stock organization. In seeing this play the Boston theatre-goer will witness one of the most mysterious stories brought to the stage and its tremendous dramatic and emotional value will be capably handled by the excellent company of players at the St. James. Dealing with a momentous problem, it will give all lovers of mystery an opportunity to guess, and after they have guessed and re-guessed it is a safe bet that they won't pick the real culprit. It was announced by the New York press and public as one of the best thrillers of the season, at all times carrying a legitimate air of suspense without any attempt to create an atmosphere of horror. It is melodrama of the sort that will be relished by everybody, and its interesting theme, intensely dramatic situations and air of mystery will mark it as an outstanding play of Boston's theatrical season. Miss Eveta Nudsen will be seen as Alice Dodge, whose strange wedding gift is the basis of this puzzling drama. Walter Gilbert, the versatile leading man, as The Man From Out Of The Storm, and Ralph Remley, Edward Darney, Harold Chase, Anna Layne, Houston Richards, Mark Kent and Lucille Adams, complete the cast.

ANCIENT PEOPLE A MYSTERY

Excavations on Site of Askelon and Gaza May Throw Light on Philistines.

A further attempt is to be made this summer to solve the "mystery of the Philistines."

Professor Garstand, the archeologist, has returned to Palestine after his visit to England and has started to mark out sites for further excavations.

During the past two years the professor and his assistants have been engaged in making exploration on the sites of the ancient cities of Askelon and Gaza.

This season trial explorations are to be made upon a series of "tells" (artificial hill mounds, the debris of successive cities near the two sites of Askelon and Gaza. Little is known of the national history of the Philistines, and it is the object of the new excavations to get at the problem of this mysterious race.

Professor Garstand considers that it would be too prolonged and expensive a business to dig through the great depth of Graeco-Roman buildings to the deeper layers in which lie the Philistine remains of the city of Askelon, so that the excavations will be outside the walls of the city. A good deal of pottery has been discovered and a few weapons which may have been used against King David.

Many theories have been advanced as to who the Philistines were, and from whence they came, but it is generally believed their origin was in the neighborhood of the island of Cyprus.
Reference is made to them in the pre-Mosaic period, but for at least 3,000 years they have remained a mystery.

MEXICANS TAKE TO "MOVIES"

Popular American Amusement May Yet Take the Place of the San-guinary Bull Fight.

The movie is displacing the bull fight as the popular amusement of Mexico.

"The motion picture undoubtedly holds first place in the amusement field of the Chihuahua consular district," says Vice Consul Ott in a report to the Department of Commerce.

"From one small, unpretentious circus tent installed in Chihuahua city some ten or fifteen years ago the business has grown until today there are in the consular district 15 permanently established movie houses where pictures are exclusively shown, with a number of legitimate theaters giving occasional exhibitions.

"This development occurred partly during a period of revolution, when it was no uncommon thing to have the performance interrupted by firing on the outskirts of the city."

Ott says that the upper classes demand emotional dramas and melodramas and the peons prefer western thrillers and slapstick comedies.

American machines are used exclusively. European makers having failed to sell a single projector.

Tribe That Devours Its Children.

"Since the doctor came here we have seen the most wonderful things happen. First of all he kills the sick people; then he cures them, and after that he wakes them up again." So a native girl wrote of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, author of "On the Edge of the Primeval Forest," who went out in 1913 to the Ogowe lowlands of the French colony of Gaboon, there to maintain for four and a half years a surgical and medical clinic for the negroes.

"Our country devours its own children," was the sage remark of an old chief. A vicious climate, a plentiful lack of proper food, overindulgence in rum and strong tobacco were killing off the natives rapidly when Doctor Schweitzer arrived. One of the worst problems was chronic nicotine poisoning, producing acute constipation and nervous disturbances. The tobacco comes from America in the form of leaves, frightfully strong, and is so highly prized by the natives that it is used as money—a single leaf buying two fine pineapples.

Fine View of Waterspout.

It is rarely that an opportunity occurs to make a truly scientific observation of a waterspout. Yet an engineer on board an American schooner had what is said to be a unique experience of this kind off the coast of New South Wales. Fourteen complete waterspouts formed off the shore where he was at work with a theodolite, and he made careful measurements of them. The largest spout consisted of two cones, connected by a pipe-shaped spout. The top of the upper cone, which was inverted, was 5,014 feet above the sea. Each cone was about 100 feet in diameter at the base, diminishing gradually until it merged into the spout. The length of the cones was about 250 feet each, leaving 4,500 feet for the length of the spout connecting them.

No Rest in This World.
"The soda fountain has one advantage over the old-fashioned bar."
"What is it?" asked Mr. Grumpson, suspiciously.
"The man you meet there seldom tells you his family troubles and weeps on your shoulder."
"That's true, but some old codger who has been buying a pill or a plaster on the other side of the drug store is apt to hobble over and detain you for half an hour while he tells you what his symptoms are."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

POLITICAL RALLY

An outdoor rally in the interests of Mr. Joseph E. Warner for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant governor was held on the steps of the City Hall, West Newton, on Wednesday evening. The speakers were Mr.
Warner, Mr. Charles Sumner Bird, and Judge R. L. Head of Springfield. Mr.
Bird attacked the record of Mr. Fuller and spoke in part as follows:

Mr. Fuller was a member of the 65th and 66th Congress. In the first he failed to vote 93 times. In the second he failed to vote 136 times; in other words in the 65th and 66th Congress 471 yeas and nay votes were taken on measures and bills concerning the Nation's welfare and Mr. Fuller responded to only 242 roll calls. I know of no man in public life, excepting William Randolph Hearst of New York, whose absentee Congressional record is so discreditable as that of Lieutenant-Governor Fuller, who so often prates of duty and conscience in the public service. It may be said that Fuller voted on all important measures but that is not true. For instance, he failed to vote on—

Bill aimed at food and rent profiteers in the District of Columbia.
Bill for the development of water power.

Bill to provide hospitals for discharged soldiers and sailors.
Bill to provide a national budget system which President Wilson had vetoed.

These are a few only of the important measures on which Mr. Fuller failed to be recorded.
What has he done for his country, or for his state? The records show that his activities were limited to the introduction of a few petitions and papers presented by citizens and assigned nothing more. It is fair to say, however, that he introduced some bills, as follows:

To donate captured cannon to the City of Malden.
To erect a public building in Malden.

To donate cannon, helmets, and other war trophies to Revere, close to Malden. That is all.

Out of 190 roll calls Mr. Fuller is recorded as not voting 63 times—absent, or failing to vote, almost two-thirds of the time. His habit of absenteeism, so conspicuous in his Congressional career, was evidently contracted on Beacon Hill. Furthermore, as Legislator, Mr. Fuller introduced no bills of importance and failed on Beacon Hill to vote on many measures vital to the welfare of his state.

On the other hand Mr. Warner has had a long and impressive legislative experience—a record of achievement ending in the Speakership. It would be difficult to point to a public servant who has been more assiduous and conscientious in the performance of public duty, than Warner has been. Furthermore he has shown marked ability. For 6 years he was on the Committee which regulated the expenditure of State money and for 3 years as Chairman, his Committee was instrumental in reducing the State tax nearly 2 million dollars. "Economy in State expenditures," has been his slogan and Warner's performance has at least equalled his promise.

For nearly 15 years he has been in the public service during which he established an honorable name—his only asset, for he is poorer in purse today than he was when he started in public life more than 12 years ago; in fact no man in public life has a record that better fits him for public office than Mr. Warner who, today, would be our Lieutenant-Governor if he has not been slandered and libeled by his opponent in the election of 1920.

POLICE NEWS

Mark M. Cooper, colored, 12 Prospect St., West Newton, was arraigned Monday morning, before Judge Bacon, in the District Court, charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Cooper pleaded not guilty. He said he had had a drink after dinner Sunday of some kind of white stuff. A fellow gave it to him; he only took one, just one; "wasn't no hog."

Patrolman Gaquin, who arrested
Cooper at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, said he refused to stop his car when requested and that he and the car were staggering from the effects of the "white stuff."

Judge Bacon found Cooper guilty, placed the drunkenness case on file and fined him $75 on the other charge.
The case was continued to Sept. 25,
to give him time to pay.

A number of inebriated bareback riders, galloping around in dizzy circles on the Norumbega Park merry-go-round Sunday afternoon refused to pay for their entertainment and as a result appeared in the District Court
the next morning before Judge Bacon.

Edward Callahan, 27 Chelsea St., East Boston; James Barton, Dorchester; Frank Sullivan, Mayfield St., Dorchester; George R. McDonald, East 5th St., South Boston, and James Walker, 839 4th St., South Boston, were the men arraigned, charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Robert W. Moir, ticket collector on the merry-go-round at the park, testified that the men were riding three and four to a horse and that one in the crowd was doing a toe dance on a giraffe's back. Moir said he asked them to sit properly on the saddles, which they did after a little argument.
When it came time, however, to collect the tickets Moir met with opposition. He asked one man for a ticket.
The man refused to give it up. Moir again asked him, when he was suddenly struck from behind. After the first blow Moir said he was walloped a dozen times by every man in the crowd, and that there were 8 or 10 of them. Moir's eyes were blackened, his jaw bruised, there was a lump on the back of his head and his shirt was torn off. While the fracas was at its height the merry-go-round was stopped and the men disappeared, leaving Moir dazed on the floor.

Patrolman Stevens rounded the men up later on after he had found them lying down on the river's edge, badly intoxicated.

The men pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and not guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace.
The first charge was placed on file in each case. On the second Judge Bacon fined four of them $10 apiece.

During the heavy rain Sunday night, just before midnight, two accidents were reported at Police Headquarters.
An electric light wire at Centre and Crescent sts., Newton Centre, came down, throwing that section of the city into darkness for the rest of the night. A party of picnickers from North Cambridge, who had spent the day in Medfield, passed through Newtonville shortly before 12 in trucks.
The first car stopped to get directions and Louis Tagliafico of 35 Clinton st., North Cambridge, ran into a store on Washington st. Returning to the truck he was blinded by the rain and was struck by an automobile owned and operated by Herbert Stanger of 220 Orchard terrace, Arlington. Tag-liafico was removed to the Newton Hospital. His legs were bruised and lacerated.

On Sunday night Sergt. Moran and patrolmen McLean and Kelly raided a house in Norantum and arrested five men, charged with gaming on the Lord's Day. The men were Joseph Romard of 105 Allison st., Joseph Samson of 99 Faxon st., Henry Cormier of 109 West st., William Cormier of 42
Faxon street and George Aucoin of 105 Allison street. All pleaded guilty and fines of $10 each were imposed by Judge Bacon.

Dr. Joseph F. Deleahanty, 56 Westland avenue, Cambridge, was in court last week Friday morning before Judge Connolly on the complaint of Henry A. Norton, 25 Highland avenue, Newtonville. Mr. Norton accused Dr.
Deleahanty of reckless driving and running into his car on Aug. 16. The Norton car, according to the testimony, was driven to West Newton on Washington street, Lower Falls. Mr. Norton said Dr. Deleahanty was driving at a fast rate and after passing him on a hill cut in sharp, breaking the front wheel and fender on Norton's car. Dr. Deleahanty testified that Norton's car was wobbling along and that just as he passed him Norton's young son, who was driving, turned sharply striking the rear fender on his car.
Neither car was damaged to any great extent. Judge Connolly continued the case until Sept. 2 for a finding.

LEG BROKEN

A Middlesex & Boston car crashed into an automobile left standing on the tracks in Newton Lower Falls last Friday night and Mrs. Prudence McLean of Wellesley Hills, who was seated in the automobile, was taken to Newton Hospital with a broken leg.
The car tracks are a few feet from the sidewalk at Washington and Hamilton streets, Newton Lower Falls, where the accident occurred. McLean stopped his car in front of the home of John Healy, 2285 Washington street, and an electric car, Wellesley bound,
struck the automobile.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Kirk Wood Hobart, a resident of this city for the past 49 years and one of our best known citizens, died Wednesday at his home on Sargent street, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Hobart was born in Brookline
June 19, 1845. He has been engaged in the lumber business practically all his long and useful life, first as a member of the firm of Hobart & Taylor of Newcastle, N. B., later with W.
H. Treavor & Co. and since 1900 as Hobart & Co.

He was a life member of Dalhousie lodge and was one of the oldest Masons in the United States, having been connected with the order for 55 years.
He was a former member of the Northumberland Royal Arch Chapter of Glasgow, Scotland, a member of Gethsemane Commandery K. T., a former director in the Boston Wholesale Lumber Association, a member of the National Wholesale Lumber Association, the National Hardwood Lumber Association, Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston City Club and the Boston Masonic Club. In Newton he was one of the oldest members of the Eliot church and was also a member of the Monday club. He served in the Common Council of this city in 1895-96 and was an alderman in 1897 and 1898.

Mr. Hobart married Miss Henrietta Hammill and is survived by her and two sons and two daughters, Mr. B.
Waldo Hobart of Boston, Mrs. H. L.
Nason of Brookline, Miss Janie D.
Hobart of Newton and Mr. William T.
Hobart of Montreal.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 P. M. at his late residence 123 Sargent street Newton.

EDITORIAL

We regret to note the increasing tendency in the present campaign for the primary nominations towards personalities. It is unfortunate that candidates seem to avoid explaining their own qualifications and employ all their efforts towards pointing out the mote that is in the eye of their opponents. The editor had a personal experience on this line two years ago and in consequence, introduced and was successful in having the Legislature enact a bill which provides a severe penalty for any "false statements" made in a political campaign. Unfortunately it was not found possible to include half truths and deliberate misrepresentations in this legislation, although everyone concedes that it should be prevented in some form or other. The best way, of course, is to ignore it altogether, but human nature is so prone to enjoy another's mistakes that we shall probably never reach that political Utopia. With the publicity given this matter two years ago in Newton, we hope that this city will be free for some time from this class of campaigning.

STATE PRIMARIES

Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1922. Polls Open 6 A. M. to 4:30 P. M.

Egotistical German.

In a volume of biography published recently is an amusing anecdote concerning a well-known German spa or health resort, whose fame was chiefly due to a certain Herr Dr. Schott. One Sunday at the English church the parson began his peroration with the words, "But, my friends, we must not forget the Great Physician." Imagine his surprise and the delight of the congregation when the flattered Schott rose from his seat, advanced to the center of the aisle, and bowed solemnly in acknowledgment of the compliment.

A NEWTON CANDIDATE

No citizen of our time has rendered greater honor to the City of Newton than Hon. J. Weston Allen, who bids fair to be the first Governor from our city for nearly fifty years. Aside from the natural pride which the citizens of Newton feel in voting for a neighbor and fellow-townsmen for this high office, we realize at this time that he has by his many public services well merited this honor. Born in Newton, educated in its public schools and a life long resident of our city, we are proud to find the esteem in which he is held throughout the State by all classes of men.

Loyalty at all times to the protection of the general public is Mr. Allen's distinguishing characteristic. This was his attitude in the fish investigation undertaken to prevent profiteering in the necessities of life, in which he was the leader and the brains. This was his attitude in the Ponzi case at a time when Ponzi was a popular hero. He has been one of the main advocates of legislation intended to protect ignorant and credulous men and women against the public sale of worthless securities by men who have found in Massachusetts in the past a rich field for operation. The protection of the public was the essence of his great fight against tremendous odds for clean and fair administration of public justice in Middlesex and Suffolk counties, to deliver the high office of district attorney from the hands of the underworld and ensure that these offices should be conducted again for the protection of the public and not for the protection and profit of the criminal classes.

Courage in a public man to-day is somewhat rare but this is Mr. Allen's forte, and his capacity for unceasing work from nine in the morning to well into the night is tremendous. His appeal is to the general public, to the ordinary voter for whom he has worked without ceasing in all his great contests. We believe that pride in our city and appreciation of his service to the Commonwealth should lead us who are his friends and neighbors to vote for Mr. Allen at the coming primaries.

Famous London Street.

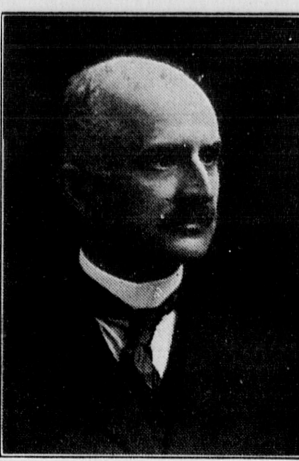

Fleet street is a famous thoroughfare in London, extending from Ludgate hill to the Strand. It derives its name from the Fleet, formerly a stream and now a sewer—which empties into the Thames near Blackfriars bridge. Fleet street has been celebrated for centuries for its printers, booksellers, banking houses, taverns and coffee houses, and is at present the center of the London newspaper world. It was for years the favorite promenade of Dr. Samuel Johnson, the great lexicographer.

MERRIAM FOR SENATOR

Candidate for Republican Nomination Makes Frank Statement to Voters

September 1st, 1922.

To the Republican Voters of Newton:—

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination as Senator from the First Middlesex District. I have many friends of long standing in Newton who are representative citizens of your city. I am, however, a stranger to the mass of Newton Republican voters. Can I therefore by way of introduction ask you to read this personal letter?

I am a graduate of the Framingham Public Schools, with an early business training as a cashier and paymaster for Cutler & Company of North Wilbraham. Later I entered the Senior Class, Phillips Exeter Academy, and with this preparation was admitted to Harvard College and graduated with the Class of 1886.

After a year in the Harvard Law School, I became Private Secretary of United States Senator George F. Hoar, and was with him in Washington and Worcester on terms of the closest intimacy for over two years. I then studied law with Shattuck and Munroe of Boston and was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1890; and have since that time practised my profession in Framingham and Boston.

I have represented Framingham in the Legislature and was the delegate from Framingham in the Constitutional Convention and served on the Judiciary Committee, and I am on record in every important roll call in the Convention. I represented the Judiciary Committee in opposing and defeating the proposition to take from our Courts the power to pass upon the constitutionality of Statutes.

I favored the appointment of judges, the appointment of women as Notaries Public, the requirement of unanimity in verdicts by juries. I offered an amendment which was adopted, excluding from the Initiative and Referendum the more important personal rights guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. I was also a member of the Local Exemption Board for District 32 with Samuel C. Bennett, Esquire, of Weston, and Dr. George A. Bancroft of Natick.

I have served on the Finance Committee of Framingham, and other special committees having to do with Town By-Laws and scheme of government. I am a Director of the Framingham National Bank and other local and Boston corporations. For some eighteen years I was a Trustee of the Westboro State Hospital, appointed originally by Governor Greenhalge at the request of Hon. Alden Speare, of Newton, and for a portion of this time was Chairman of the Board. I am a trustee of the Framingham Hospital and of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital.

I have no personal controversy with my opponent for this nomination. I know nothing to his discredit, and wish to discourage any personal attack upon him. The issue is for the voters in their freedom of choice, to select between us. If I am nominated and elected I will endeavor to the best of my ability, to represent the entire district with diligence, honesty and fidelity.

I am, very truly yours, JOHN M. MERRIAM.

Prospect St., Framingham.

MERRIAM FOR SENATOR

CHIEF JUSTICE RUGG SAYS

In the course of his opinion in the Tufts case relative to the powers and responsibilities of a district attorney: "Powers so great impose responsibilities correspondingly grave. They demand character incorruptible, reputation unsullied, a high standard of professional ethics, and sound judgment of no mean order. Profound learning and unusual intellectual acumen, although eminently desirable, are less essential."

Look over the records of the candidates for District Attorney and see if that of SENATOR GARDNER W. PEARSON of Lowell does not best measure up to the above standard, set by the highest legal authority in the Commonwealth. In his long public career there is no stain on his character or reputation, while his sound judgment has been proved as lawyer, legislator and in upholding law and order in many fields.

accurate estimate of the amounts and standards required, and the appropriation can then be made on the prevailing market price.

The Commonwealth has over thirteen millions invested in land and buildings and has a revenue of over $600,000.

The great work of the department is in the line of prevention and in this direction the examination of children who have been backward in their studies for a period of three years is expected to yield excellent results. By this work it is hoped that the feeble-minded will be detected and given proper care before they become a greater burden on the community. This department contains many interesting and comparatively unknown (to the general public) features, and I regret that lack of time has prevented a more comprehensive review of its activities.

THIS FREEDOM

Mr. Hutchinson's new novel, to the writing of which he has given two years, is published to-day. It deals with the very much changed and still changing conditions of home life, of married life, of social life, and particularly with the way in which these changed conditions are effecting ideas about parenthood, affecting the lives of children. The title of the book is taken from the scriptures: "With a great sum obtained I this freedom." Can a married woman have a business career and still do her duty by her husband and children? That is the theme of this great novel, which will

AS COMMON CITIZENS

We greatly admire a man in public life who dares to do what ought to be done, even at the risk of his political future. Therefore we shall vote for J. Weston Allen, as Governor. Few men have done more than J. Weston Allen has done for Massachusetts.

We also greatly admire a man who is willing to do public work well at a personal sacrifice. Mr. Saltonstall, appointed by Mr. Allen's advice, has brought changes in this county far more important than most people realize.

He says that Mr. James C. Reilly, of Lowell is the man best qualified to carry his work forward in the best way. Therefore we shall also take pleasure in voting for Mr. James C. Reilly as District Attorney.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of

Albert E. Miller
late of Newton in said County deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Prudence T. Miller, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twentieth day of September, A. D. 1922, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of August, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two.

PERK UP!
Your nose may be battered, your jaw-bone nicked,
Your visage may be a sight,
But always remember you're never licked
While still you can stand and fight.
No matter how badly they mess your map,
It won't be beyond repair.
And there still is a chance that you'll win the scrap,
As long as the punch is there.
You'll make mistakes and you'll do things wrong,
The best of them always do.
But as soon as you get to going strong,
Your gift will see you through.
They smashed Paul Jones to a fare-you-well
But he didn't observe "good-night."
He merely paused in his tracks to yell
That he'd just begun to fight.
There'll be plenty of folks to peddle gloom,
There'll be plenty of folks to say
That they see the terrible day of doom Hurrying on its way.
But the fellow who knows that the fight is hard,
And still has the nerve to grin,
And never gets rattled and drops his guard,
Is the fellow that is going to win!
—James J. Montague

SHUBERT THEATRE.—Coming direct to Boston from the Casino Theatre, New York City, "Tangerine," which begins its second week Monday afternoon next (Sept. 4), at the Shubert Theatre, with Julia Sanderson, as its brilliant star, has enjoyed its unprecedented vogue on Broadway for two seasons, very largely because it is really something new and novel, as well as sensational, in musical comedy producing.

Those responsible for "Tangerine" have all been originators of innovations in the realm of the theatre. Carle Carlton, its producer, achieved instantaneous success with his first production, the novel and immortal "Irene" through doing something different. To attain distinction and innovations for his second production, Mr. Carlton first engaged Lawrence Langner and Lee Simonson, who had attained fame with the new theatre movement of the Theatre Guild, to respectively provide the basis for the book and to design the scenery and scenic effects.

Why Looking Your Best is Most Economical.

It's really most economical to look your best where clothes are concerned.
Garments neglected, out of press, filled with dust and grit, wear out faster.
We believe in the thriftiness of frequent dry-cleaning and you will too, if you try it.
Say the word, and we will call tomorrow.

COLONEL HASKELL RETURNS FROM NEAR EAST

Considering the traditional attitude of Moslems toward women it is a notable fact that the American College for Girls in Constantinople was the only large women's College conducted by Americans in Turkey which was not closed by the Turks during the war. It proves a remarkable change in the estimation of leading Turkish officials and statesmen as to the importance of the modern education of women. This is given additional significance by the fact that, when coal was seventy-five dollars a ton, the Turkish Government took good care that the girls in the American College were kept warm. Colonel Edward H. Haskell, Newton Centre, who is a trustee of the college, and chairman of the committee on the medical department and also of the building committee, has just returned from a two months' trip to Constantinople, and brings an enthusiastic report of the prospects for the development of education in that city. The special object of his trip, which was his twenty-sixth round voyage across the Atlantic, was to complete arrangements for the erection of a building for the medical department of the college for girls. A member of the board of trustees Wm. Bingham of Bethel, Me. has donated $175,000 for this purpose.

The plant of the Woman's College, when completed, will include eight buildings, of which four are already built. The college occupies a commanding site of seventy-four acres, three miles from Constantinople, on the European shore of the Bosphorus. Of the four buildings completed the administration building was donated by Helen Gould, a dormitory by Mrs. Russell Sage, the science building by Mrs. Henry Wood, and another dormitory by Mrs. Olivia Phelps Stokes.

John D. Rockefeller gave the funds which laid out the grounds and built the reservoir and power plant. The medical building will be the fifth, and plans for its erection were fully completed by Colonel Haskell, who is peculiarly fitted for the work by his experience of more than twenty-five years as president of the New England Baptist Hospital on Parker Hill, Boston; plans for an entirely new hospital and nurses' home for the latter, recently adopted, having matured largely under Colonel Haskell's direction.

The Constantinople College for Girls has a faculty of sixty-five. Miss Mary Mills Patrick is president. The student body of 444 comprises twenty nationalities.

Turkey is now one of the sore spots of the world. What the immediate future has in store is uncertain. But the destiny of the nation will be decided by the youth now being trained for the duties of life; and among these the graduates of the American College for Girls at Constantinople will have an important moulding influence. It has been said that a nation cannot be raised above its homes, and the standard set by these young women, out into life from the American College, will weigh profoundly in the future of Turkey. Colonel Haskell's observations on current conditions in the Near East are of profound interest. He visited Athens and other points in Greece and was at Belgrade during the wedding festivities of King Alexander. He thinks that Constantinople and the Bosphorus are permanently under the European yoke, that Greece is bankrupt and weak, and its future uncertain; that famine conditions are past in Yugoslavia and Serbia, where all the people are working and the crops are wonderful. His whole trip was the most interesting and inspiring of his life.—Boston Transcript.

JAMES W. GIBSON

SHALL THE DESOLATING SALOON COME BACK?

The U. S. Brewer's Association Year Book Records that for the year 1919, which was before Prohibition, the brewers of the State of Mass. alone, manufactured 68,768,571 gallons of fermented liquor. Where as the amount of distilled liquor was less than one million gallons. This fermented liquor was sold in the saloons and as the figures will show is what made the saloon a profitable business. It is this same fermented liquor that those opposed to having the eighteenth amendment in the U. S. Constitution enforced in Mass. wish to bring back to enslave the youth of our State.

Where do they propose to handle this vast amount of beer, stout, ale and etc.?

The Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was the result of a century of prayer, pleading and determined effort on the part of the God-fearing, Christ-loving people of this country.

The despisers of God and the haters of Christ opposed it bitterly from the start.

It is impossible for any person at this time, even the most intellectually alert and spiritually developed, to realize even a small fraction of the distress, the heartbreaking, the agony of soul, which were suffered by millions of people in America, mainly parents of wayward youth and wives and children of drunken fathers, during the nineteenth century alone, as a result of the unmitigated curse of the liquor traffic and that offspring of hell—the saloon.

If the statistics of the suffering, degradation and loss of production suffered during that century alone, the ruined homes, the broken-hearted wives and mothers, the murdered and handicapped children, could be massed in small compass, it would make a picture which would cause a shudder in the most hardened soul. And that picture would offer only the faintest hint of the spiritual suffering, the soul agony of that century.

The whole foul, damning and damnable business is a horror of the past which all right-minded people would gladly forget.

But they are not permitted to forget it.

As eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, so it would seem that eternal contest is to be the price of a country free from the curse of drunkenness.

It is one of life's unfinished tasks. The fight is on again and a new sacrifice must be made.

Those soulless people who piled up great fortune in years gone by in the traffic of debauching their fellow-men are about to make a supreme effort to regain the legal right to enter upon a new era of money-making by prostituting the bodies and souls of the youth of the nation.

If they are to be defeated in this effort the God-fearing, Christ-loving people of the nation must arouse themselves at once for a stern battle.

The essential feature of this whole iniquitous movement is that it is an endeavor to legalize beverages on which people can get drunk. The Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States forbids traffic in intoxicating liquors. Strenuous effort is being made to get a law which shall declare that certain beverages are non-intoxicating in the eyes of the law, even though they are intoxicating as a matter of fact. In other words, the endeavor is to nullify this part of the Constitution of the United States.

The inevitable consequence of legalizing beverages which would produce intoxication would be to furnish a cloak under which beverages very heavy in alcoholic content would be sold. The movement looks innocent to some people, but "beer and light wine" is the entering wedge by which the liquor traffic hopes to get back into legalized business.

The time has come for widespread concern and action by those who want to keep the gains of recent years for temperance.

Foley of said Newton, dated June 4th, 1916, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4062, Page 4, of which mortgage the subscriber is the present holder, and for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Monday the seventeenth day of September, A. D. 1922, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, being located in Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, adjoining premises now numbered 61 Walker street in said Newton, described in said mortgage deed as follows:

The land in that part of said Newton called Newtonville, shown as the lot numbered eight on a Plan of Lots in Newtonville belonging to the Harrington and Proctor Heirs, dated October, 1902, drawn by Irving T. Farnham, C. E., and bounded:—

Southeasterly by Walker Street seventy and 68/100 (70.68) feet, Northeasterly by lot numbered 9 on said plan one hundred fifty (150) feet, Northwesterly by lots numbered 2 and 1 on said plan seventy-six and 78/100 (76.78) feet, and Southwestwesterly by other land late of Cornelia A. Johnson one hundred fifty and 12/100 (150.12) feet.

Containing 11,060 square feet of land be all said measurements more or less.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments, $250. in cash to be paid at the time and place of sale; other terms to be announced at the said time and place.

MARY A. FOLEY,
Mortgagee and present holder of said mortgage.

FIRST VIEW OF CONGRESS

By CONGRESSMAN GUY U. HARDY

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

If you came to Washington for the first time and wanted to see congress in action, what would you do and what would you see?

I remember doing that very thing a few years ago—coming as a sort of tourist—and I sat in the gallery and looked on. I can get the viewpoint, I think, of the person looking down as well as that of a member who is on the floor.

On that trip a member friend took me in to see the late speaker, Champ Clark. It was in the beginning of the great war. My friend said to Mr. Clark: "Mr. Hardy has come down to Washington to see what we are doing." Mr. Clark replied in his characteristic way: "If he can find out, I hope to God he will let me know." And it is ever so, we are all seeking information about the congress, even the speaker of the house sometimes.

We have got to start from some place, so we might as well assume that you have come to my office in the house office building. Every man who comes to Washington should call on his congressman. The representatives are always glad to see folks from back home; especially so are the members from the West. Some members from nearby states have more callers than they can well take care of.

The house office building is a fine structure, built of marble. It has 410 office and committee rooms in it. Each member is entitled to an office room. If he is chairman of a committee he gets two, sometimes. The building covers a large block of ground with a grass-covered court in the center. There are five floors and a basement. It is a mile walk around the corridors on the four sides of the five floors.

Through the Tunnel to the Capitol.

After we have had a little visit I will take you over to the capitol. You have already seen that magnificent building from the outside and will see it many times before you leave the city, so we will go over underground, just to show you the tunnel. This tunnel, which is large, well lighted and spacious, runs for about two blocks, I should think. By the use of it a member can go back and forth in winter or hot summer time and during bad weather without putting his hat on, if he wishes. It isn't used much in good weather. Over on the senate side through a similar tunnel a little electric car system carries the senators back and forth between their office building and the capitol; but the representatives of the people have to walk.

Arriving at the capitol, we will go up in the gallery and look down on the house for a while. You will be disappointed at first by the small number of members present. Every member doesn't sit in his seat all the time every day. If he did, he would not be able to keep up with his office business, and besides that, he would grow nutty. Much of the time is spent in general debate, and much of the debate is very general. So when a definite time has been set for general debate—two hours being the usual time, though it may be 12 hours sometimes—a member not interested can safely get up and go to his office, or visit out in the cloak rooms for a while. During general debate it often happens that not more than 75 or 100 members are in their seats. After a while some one will probably call for a quorum, and then we will see the house fill up with members, as most of them like to answer as many roll calls as possible.

We will sit here in the gallery for a while. This is a historic old room. It has been occupied since 1857, so it has seen much history made. It used to have desks in it, but when the number of representatives was last increased the desks were taken out and plain comfortable rows of seats put in. A member has no special seat. He may sit anywhere he pleases. The Democrats sit on one side and the Republicans on the other.

Speaker Gillett Presiding.

The mace is in its place, so we know that the house is in session. If it were in committee of the whole, the mace would be resting on the floor.

The mace is the symbol of the speaker's authority and it has been doing duty ever since the American congress was organized.

The speaker is in the chair, behind a fine-carved marble desk. Mr. Gillett makes an excellent speaker in this modern day of great freedom in the house. He is fair and nonpartisan. He lets the house run itself, merely acting as its presiding officer. He is seventy-one years of age and has served in the house 20 years. He comes from Springfield, Mass., and is a gentleman of parts. His district thinks pretty well of him, as is indicated by the fact that only 36 votes were cast for all other candidates in the last election; and his wife's relatives think pretty well of him is indicated by the fact that one of them who died recently left $100,000 to him, $100,000 to his wife and an equal amount to each of his two daughters.

At Mr. Gillett's left stands a young man who is official timekeeper. Whenever a member is recognized to speak he has a definite amount of time. Rarely it is an hour, occasionally it is 30 minutes, but usually it is only five or ten minutes. The timekeeper notifies the speaker and the speaker calls the member down at the end of his allotted time. By unanimous consent the member is sometimes permitted to proceed for five or ten minutes longer, and I have seen members plead and beg the house for five minutes, or two minutes or one minute more, like a Methodist preacher pleading for money to pay off the church debt. Sometimes it is granted, but often a member says "I object," and that settles it.

Parliamentarian is Important.

At the right of the speaker stands another young man who is the parliamentarian. This young man is supposed to be thoroughly posted and trained in the rules and precedents of the house. He has various books of rules and precedents at hand, and advises with the speaker when any knotty points of order are to be decided.

The house has been run mostly by lawyers for a hundred years or more, and it is not a difficult matter for some lawyer member to dig up a precedent on either side of any parliamentary question brought up. The house had a speaker one time of the name of Crisp. His son Charles became the parliamentarian for Speaker Clark. Charles is now a valued member of the house. In the last congress we had both ex-speaker Cannon and ex-speaker Clark on the floor, but they all differ some times on points of order. It was one of the pleasures of Republicans to refer occasionally to the fact that Speaker Clark ruled "thus and so" at some time in the past, and Speaker Clark announced several times in his facetious way: "As a member on the floor of the house, I do not propose to be bound by any rulings I made from the speaker's chair." So you can see that with a couple of hundred lawyers in the house there is at times much argument and jangling over points of order and modes of procedure.

Mann Knows All the Rules.

However, when James R. Mann is on the floor the chair soon gets some advice that he can depend upon. I think that Mr. Mann knows more about the rules and precedents of the house than all the other members combined, and he usually has his way, because the man in the chair knows that he knows what he is talking about.

In front and below the speaker at another marble desk are the reading clerks, men have to be men of considerable ability.

Below and in front are the Congressional Record clerk and the official reporters. Every word that is spoken in the house is taken down by an official stenographer. There are five or six of them. They work in shifts of about 20 minutes each. As soon as a stenographer is through with his task he goes to his room and reads his notes into a phonograph. An amanuensis takes the record and puts the stuff through a typewriter and within an hour a member may read and correct the speech he has made.

Tomorrow morning the Congressional Record will contain a complete report of today's proceedings. The Record is a little abused, I think. It is a valuable publication and contains much information, little humor, some wisdom, and a minute report of the proceedings of the house. It contains some speeches that are not delivered in the house. Members occasionally get permission to extend their remarks, and a speech of five minutes may be extended over several pages. To do this unanimous consent must be asked in each instance, which means that if any member merely says, "I object," the permission is not granted. There are watchdogs of the Record as there are of the treasury, and someone frequently objects. Mr. Clark once said that the greatest speech ever made on an important subject of interest to the country was put in the Record by Samuel J. Randall, and was not made in the house.

The Congressional Record is issued daily during the sessions of congress. A member has only about fifty copies at his disposal. These he sends to libraries, clubs, newspapers and places where they may be seen by the public at large. He cannot fill out many individual requests. Those who are interested in the Congressional Record however, can subscribe for it at $1.50 per month.

Cat Turns on Gas and Dies.

The members of a family living at East Sheen, Eng., came downstairs the other morning to find the kitchen full of gas and their fine white Persian cat lying dead by the side of the gas stove. The cat had evidently jumped onto the stove and in doing so had turned on one of the burners.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Leon C. Carter, an old resident of Newtonville and one of the best known men in the hardware business in New England, died Friday night at his home, 64 Washington Park, Newtonville, where he had occupied the same house for fifty-three years. Mr. Carter was born in Saxtonville, seventy-four years ago, and he was the son of Matthew Carter, a native of Warner, N. H. At the age of seventeen he associated himself with the Dana Hardware Company in Boston and remained with that concern until it was liquidated in 1918, thereafter being connected with the firm of the Bigelow & Dowse Company. At the time of his death Mr. Carter was the oldest man in Boston connected with the hardware business.

He was identified with the New England Iron and Hardware Association, and was chairman of the shelf hardware committee of that body for several years past.

During his long residence in Newtonville Mr. Carter was closely affiliated with the Methodist Church in that part of the city, and was both treasurer and trustee of the society. He is survived by his widow, who was Lucy Eaton of Cambridge; two daughters, Miss Cora and Miss Stella Merrill Carter; and two sons, Arthur C. and Charles E. Carter, all living in Newtonville.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at his late home on Washington park, Newtonville, at 12.15. Rev. Dr. George S. Butters, pastor of the Newton Methodist Church, and formerly in charge of the parish in which Mr. Carter worshipped and held the offices of trustee and treasurer of the society, conducted the service and was assisted by Rev. Edgar E. Davidson of Newtonville, an evangelist, who read from the Scripture. The Apollo Quartet sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." Burial was at the Newton Cemetery.

CHINESE CITY WORTH SEEING

Hong Kong, Though in Central of the British, is in a Way Peculiarly Oriental.

The recent visit of the prince of Wales to Hong Kong has drawn attention once more to that island, known by its residents as the "Island of Sweet Waters."

Great Britain obtained Hong Kong, 80 years ago, by the treaty of Nanking, and though she took care, in 1898, to lease nearly 400 miles of the adjacent Chinese mainland, in order to make this outpost more secure against attack, the Far East has come to think of Hong Kong less as a British fortified naval station than as a commercial port, admirably administered by a British governor, serving South China.

Victoria, the city, stretches for four miles along the northern shore of the rocky island and faces the Kowloon peninsula, separated from it only by a narrow strait only half a mile wide.
Above the city rises the famous Peak,
where the lucky people have houses, high up out of the heat, and whose summit can be reached quite quickly in a miniature train that is hauled up its steep sides like a lift, and initiates the visitor into one of the classic examples of relativity for while one is in it, the houses clinging to the hill all seem to be stuck on sideways and in imminent danger of falling off into the abyss below.

The view from the Peak is exquisite, especially at dawn or before darkness falls.

Down below all is bustle and noise.
The streets are thronged with hundreds of jostling Chinamen, and the native part of the city, by night, lit up with lanterns and gay with open shop fronts, is a stimulating welter of color and strange sounds, and peculiar, baffling odors.—Montreal

PRAY BEFORE STARTING WORK

New and Excellent Custom Spreading Among Business Men in Country's Financial Center.

The church that is located in the business district of a city is developing a new form of use. Within the past year Trinity church, standing at the Broadway end of Wall street, New York, and having a great city market immediately behind it, finds a steadily increasing number of business and professional men in its pews from 8:30 to 9 o'clock of each week day morning, except Saturday. There is no service at this hour, and no ministers are about. It is immediately before a busy day. A year ago there were not enough men in the pews at this morning hour for the sextons to take note.
It is to be remembered that at all hours Trinity has people in its pews, regardless of services.

Recently this morning custom has grown, until at present the numbers in pews at 8:30 o'clock will reach forty to fifty. They never bring in newspapers or books. They do not come to read or to rest. They come in, kneel and pray. Then they go out and to business. No invitation ever was given, save the general one of opening the doors to all people and making all pews free.

Origin of Weather Cocks.
By a pupal enactment made in the middle of the Ninth century, the figure of a cock was set up on every church steeple as the emblem of St.
Peter. This is the origin of weather cocks.

Permanent "Umbrella."
A new kind of umbrella is the broad "bungalow hat" worn by a material checker in a shipyard of Portland, Ore. It is made chiefly of wood and measures 35½ inches long by 21 inches wide. It has a supporting frame, which rests on the shoulders, and it is steadied by straps which connect with a chest belt, and a wooden strip which extends down the back. Its purpose is to protect not only the wearer but also his tally sheets in stormy weather.

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Being the story of the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association

We woke the next morning in the clean little city of Bozeman, in the heart of the Gallatin valley and completely surrounded with mountains. The farming land here is irrigated and the principal crop is peas. We were told that the seed peas for all the great seed companies were grown in this valley, whose soil is unsurpassed for this vegetable. Considerable wheat is also raised here and there is a flour mill in the city with a capacity of 1200 barrels a day. After breakfast we went to the local theatre where pictures were shown of Montana scenery and of the annual Bozeman Round up, which is the event of the year in that city.

A long and not at all interesting auto drive followed covering about 40 miles of the valley. At the train as we pulled out each lady was presented with a bouquet of sweet peas.

We reached Helena, the capital of the state, in the mid-afternoon and found automobiles in waiting for a trip about that noted city. Our first stop was at the state capitol, a fine looking building, where we were greeted cordially by Governor Dixon. The capitol has some fine painting on the walls, but the chambers for the Senate and House were not nearly as good as those of Massachusetts. Possibly I am prejudiced in this respect but I have yet to find the chambers for any legislative body as beautiful as those of our own state.

The committee in charge of our entertainment at Helena set out to give us something unusual and struck the bull's eye the first time. For we paid a visit to Last Chance Gulch, where the discovery of gold, made Helena, one of the most noted mining camps in the world. A long and dusty ride up the gulch brought us to the Last Chance saloon, which had been revived and rehabilitated for our edification and to give us an idea of what a mining saloon in the "good old days" really looked like. It was a one story, weather beaten structure, and consisted of one long room. On the left as you entered was an old fashioned bar, with a desperado dressed in a blue shirt, tucked into canvas trousers, with two or three revolvers in his belt. He wore a sombrero, a red hankiechief about his neck and had a fierce looking mustache. He was busy serving near beer drinks, while behind him were numerous bottles with pre-prohibition labels. On the other side of a room a faro game was going on while in the rear a roulette wheel entertained the crowd. Fake money being used. The committee even went so far as to stage a fight among the spectators and which most of us thought was a real affair until the combatants locked arms and marched to the bar to take a drink together. It certainly was a novel affair and most interesting to many of our party. But this was not all, for after leaving the saloon, we drove a mile or two further up the gulch where the ladies served us with the most delicious fried ham and flap jacks imaginable. It was the most enjoyable out of door meal I have ever eaten. Nearby, a miner was engaged in placer mining for gold and kindly showed us how it was done. We understood that he made about $4 a day in this fashion.

All the way up and back from the gulch we noted the numerous heaps of gravel along side the creek, showing where miners had prospected for gold. We drove back to the city by another road, equally dusty, and many of us appreciated the use of the largest swimming pool in the country, which was given over to our use. That evening we stopped for an ice cream at what was once a famous bar.

SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY

Newton schools will reopen next Monday with a full complement of 360 principals and teachers.

A notable addition to the teaching force is the new master of the Classical High school, Mr. Francis I. Bacon, who comes to Newton with a splendid record of accomplishment at Meriden, Conn. Mr. Bacon takes the place of the late Enoch C. Adams.

The school accommodations are still inadequate for the large number of children in the city and portable buildings must be used in several districts. The Frank A. Day Junior High School at Newtonville will not be ready for occupancy for several weeks and the delay will cause some complications in caring for the pupils in that district.

The following teachers have resigned: Grace D. Aikin, Horace Mann; George J. Altmann, N. H. S. Physical Training; Ernest C. Amy, Vocational; Woodworking Dept.; Lillian Y. Bassett, Peirce; Ada F. Blanchard, Grade; Industrial Arts; Marion L. Boddgett, Clerk, Vocational School; Ruth L. Bond, Williams; Helen Brimblecom, Bowen Kindergarten; Marion B. Clark, Mason; Grace B. Curtis, Vocational; Cecile C. Crandall, Mason; Lillian M. Ducaet, Adams Kindergarten; A. Mae Glidden, Bowen; Editha M. Grant, Hyde; William O. Holman, Grade Manual Training; Helena M. Kees, Physical Training; Harold Lyon, Tech. High-School; Doris B. Manning, Cooking-Grades; Georgia W. Moore, Bigelow; Harry R. Neville, Horace Mann; Anita L. Niebanek, Vocational; Ruth M. Page, Underwood Kindergarten; Lillian C. Parker, Peirce; Mrs. Louise B. Parker, Franklin; Effie A. Prince, Claffin; Ruth Scully, Grade Cooking; Josephine M. Seymour, Peirce; Emily R. Titus, Hyde; John S. Walsh, Newton High.

READ FUND PICNIC

The annual Read Fund picnic was held last Saturday on the Burr Playground at Newton under the direction of the Playground department and over 800 children enjoyed the excellent program which had been prepared for them. Each child was given a strip of tickets which entitled them to two ice cream cones, a bottle of tonic, a cake of chocolate and an auto ride about the village.

There was a long program of sports, and games both morning and afternoon in charge of Supt. Hermann of the Playground Department, assisted by Mr. J. J. Lane and Mr. J. E. Leary. In addition Mrs. Ruth Weston was in charge of the dancing, Miss Forsyth of the occupational play exhibit and the refreshments, while Miss Dale managed the dodge ball and the races for children and Miss Anderson had charge of the costumes.

In the afternoon the children were greatly entertained by an exhibition of clever sleight of hand.

The folk dancing was a feature of the day, the young girls attired in bright costumes making a pretty picture on the lawn.

The prizes were presented by Mr. Grosvenor Calkins, a member of the Read Fund Trustees, and the day was brought to a fitting close by a salute to the flag.

The winners in the various events follow:—

ALLEN FOR GOVERNOR

Former Attorney General Pillsbury in an open letter yesterday morning in the Boston Herald advocating the nomination of J. Weston Allen for Governor, discusses the issues involved with clarity and common sense.

His concluding sentence is well worth serious consideration by Republican voters, where he says,—

Finally, a man can doubt that if the attorney-general is defeated in the primaries, every corrupt rascal will rejoice and take courage, and every one who has been brought to justice by his agency will claim, with some reason, that the people have vindicated him against the action of the attorney-general and the judgment of the court.

HON. J. WESTON ALLEN

ney-general and the judgment of the court. In Suffolk county this would go far to make the late district attorney's campaign for re-election a reality and to assure its success. Are the Republican voters, or the Republican press, or the reputable lawyers of either party, in any part of the commonwealth disposed to contribute to this result?

Among the many endorsers of Mr. Allen's candidacy in this city are: George H. Fernald, Philip W. Carter, Seward W. Jones, John W. Knudson, Edward H. Woods, Henry W. Crowell, Charles A. Clarke, Bernard Early, Frank L. Richardson, Philip R. Dunbar, George M. Angier, Charles D. Cabot, Coleen S. Ober, Guy M. Winslow, Arthur W. Blakemore, Charles F. Johnson, Samuel W. Powers.

HOW MASSACHUSETTS IS GOVERNED

The 5th article in a series on state departments written by Representative J. C. Brimblecom

If George William Curtis and his associates who fought so courageously and so persistently for the adoption of Civil Service reform 40 and more years ago, could look on the result of their work as shown by the Civil Service and Registration Department of Massachusetts in the present year, they would undoubtedly be amazed as well as gratified at the success of their efforts to take the spoils out of public office.

Civil Service examinations for appointment to State and municipal office began in Massachusetts in 1884, and the writer was one of the first persons appointed under civil service in the City of Newton in the year 1885. Later, he served as secretary of the local board of civil service examiners for Newton for twenty years, and until the work of the civil service for the Metropolitan District was done at the State House.

At the present time, the commission, which consists of a Commissioner of Civil Service and two associate commissioners, has charge of the examination and appointment to most of the offices in the State Metropolitan District, and in cities and some of the towns.

The principal examinations are for the police and fire departments and for clerks and stenographers. Over 11,500 persons were examined last year, 1,585 for clerks, over 2,000 for police, and 1,400 for stenographers and about 800 for fire.

These examinations cover writing, spelling, arithmetic and grammar for practically all classes, and with such additions as seem necessary for the different offices for which the examination is held.

The police and fire also call for a physical examination which includes not only tests for the heart, lungs, and other organs of the body, flat feet, but also include a severe strength test with dumbbells, jumping, and pull-up work. Firemen, in addition have rope climbing and similar tests. The physical examination is deemed more essential where the office includes a pension for later disability or for length of service. There is also an age, height, and weight limit for both police and firemen, with a little stricter requirements for Boston than for other parts of the state.

The examination papers for the ordinary offices are prepared and marked by experts in the same line of business.

The applicant must get a passing mark of at least 65 per cent to go on the eligible list for appointment and they are graded on that list in the order of percentage. The law gives special privileges to veterans and, regardless of the percentage obtained at the examination, veterans must be placed on the eligible list ahead of all other applicants, and a disabled veteran, who is otherwise able to fill the office, must be appointed in preference to all other veterans or civilians.

When the appointing officer has occasion to make appointments to offices under civil service rules, he makes a requisition on the commission and is given the names of the three highest persons on the eligible list for one office to be filled and unless he can show good reasons for having additional names the office must be filled by one of those so certified. Each person on the eligible list is entitled to be certified three times for the same grade of service. If not appointed under such certifications, the name is not certified again unless the appointing officer so requests.

Promotions are usually allowed under non-competitive examinations, the appointing officer designating the person for such examination. In order to prevent any scheme to circumvent the original appointment by this method, however, the rules require at least six months' service before a non-competitive examination can be taken. The rules also provide for appointments to places for which there is no eligible list, the person receiving the appointments, being required to take the examination when held. There are also provisions for emergency and temporary appointments.

The Labor Bureau is an important part of this work of the Civil Service commission and has charge of the appointment of all laborers in Boston and the cities of the state which accepted the act. Newton accepted this

Coal Shortage

As a result of the coal and railroad strikes, it is evident New England householders face a serious shortage of fuel during the coming winter. The gravity of the situation is not generally realized by the public.

Perfection Oil Heaters will be of the utmost help in overcoming the discomfort and inconveniences incident to this fuel shortage. We have ordered a large supply of heaters which we hope will take care of the demands of our customers.

It will be to your advantage, therefore, immediately to give most careful consideration to your heater requirements and place your order with us at once. Immediate attention to this matter is essential for the supply of heaters will of necessity be limited—we do not want our customers to suffer this winter for lack of heat.

room in the city. It was beautifully decorated with paintings and adorned with many stuffed animals. A most interesting place.

That night we rode over and thru the mountains to Butte, the largest and toughest city of the state if not in the entire west. The ride was not pleasant as the train passes thru several tunnels and the gasses from the engine made sleep almost impossible. However, everything has and end sometime and we reached Butte in the early morning and were met with music by a band.

Our programme here called for a trip down one of the copper mines in the morning and a visit to the great smelter of the Anaconda Copper Company in the afternoon. A number of us preferred to rest and from those who did go to both places, we gathered that while it was interesting, there was no desire to go again.

Butte is said to be the richest hill in the world. Originally a placer gold mining camp, it now produces silver, copper, zinc and manganese.

For years Butte has been known as one of the most unique cities in the world from the sightseer's standpoint, but its wonderful mines have also been the lode stone that has drawn thousands of scientists to Montana. Some of the mines are now approximately 4,000 feet deep, the mechanical equipment is the best money can buy, and the scientific investigations and experiments that have been successfully carried on by the mine operators of Butte have been copied the world over.

Butte is in many ways the greatest single metal producing city in the world and according to the records of the United States Geological Survey the mines of Butte produce more silver, copper and zinc than the mines of any other single mining district in the world. The approximate production of silver in 1919 was $13,290,000, of copper $33,687,000 and of zinc $11,000,000, but 1919 was a sub-normal year because of labor difficulties and the low price of copper. Normally the mines of Butte produce far over the hundred million mark in these three metals, and in addition a great deal of gold, manganese and lead is extracted from the Butte ores. The normal underground forces and surfaces of workmen in the Butte mines average between 15,000 and 20,000 men. Almost the entire copper, zinc and silver production of Montana comes from the mines of Butte, as well as a great percentage of the manganese and gold mined in the state.

If cities could bring libel suits and recover for damaged reputations Butte would be richer by several million dollars just on the score of the slanderous story still circulated, that nothing but copper grows in Butte.

The story started in the days of the chlorinating "open roasts" when the dense sulphur smoke naturally killed all vegetation. But that was 20 years ago, before the big stack in Anaconda carried the noxious fumes hundreds of feet into the air. Now Butte takes the sweepstakes prize regarding products at the state fair and holds annual flower and vegetable shows where hundreds of adults and children compete for $750,000 in prizes offered every year by the Butte Chamber of Commerce.

The city did not appeal to me in the least. It looked dirty and the streets were filled with loafers.

Late in the afternoon we went to the Columbia Gardens, a gift to the city by former Senator William A. Clark, where we had a basket lunch in the only spot of beauty we had seen that day. The gardens are really beautiful. After supper we were treated to another long automobile ride across the valley which lies below the city and so planned that we returned to the city in the late evening in order to see the city lights. Again it was a beautiful sight, with the thousands of sparkling lights of the city spread out before you as if on the stage of an immense theatre. It gave us a pleasing impression of the city after a long, hot and otherwise uninteresting day.

Not Till Then.

After a woman finds out that nobody believes her when she lies about her age she begins to boast about the beauty and brightness of her grandchildren.

THE THOUSAND ISLANDS

THE River St. Lawrence "As grand as the Rhine," was discovered by a French explorer in 1535. In 1615, Champlain explored the upper reaches of this majestic stream and discovered these islands.

The origin of the name is evident to the beholder. Below Lake Ontario for a distance of some forty miles the river broadens to a width ranging from four to seven miles. Here begins this world-famous archipelago. These islands—sometimes in a string like links in a chain—again in just pell-mell confusion, appear to block the channel. Apparently there are a thousand of them. Some authorities assert there are as many as 1,700.

Composed mainly of rock or granite, their surfaces are not high. Some are no larger than to provide a foundation for a house—the largest contains about 10,000 acres. Many are privately owned and here man and his money have created castles which look as wondrous as fairy tales sound.

The Thousand Islands were the scene of some hot conflicts between nations—Indian wars (when this region was known as Manatona—Garden of the Great Spirit), contests between the French and the English and battles of Revolutionary France.

To this generation, however, they are more prominently known for their singularly picturesque beauty and unquestioned charm.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Dear Me," the offering next week of the Boston Stock Company at the St. James is a sister play of "Lightning." "Turn to the Right," "3 Wise Fools," and "The First Year," and shares in the distinction these widely known plays have won as the most sensational successes of late years. Its wide range of characters, its bubbling humor, its heart-throbbing pathos, its fine touch of romance and its theme make it a play of unusual interest. Supporting Mr. Gilbert and Miss Nudsen will be seen Mark Kent, Ralph Romley, Anna Layne, Harold Chase, Edward Darney, Houston Richards, and Lucille Adams.

CORPUS CHRISTI CHURCH BAZAAR

The new Catholic parish in Auburndale are extremely active in preparation for its Harvest Festival Bazaar on September 28, 29 and 30. The whole affair is under the supervision of the Executive Committee sub-divided in four districts under captains. The officers in charge are George P. Brophy, chairman; Mrs. Frank A. O'Brien, Secretary; Mrs. S. M. Thornton, Associate Secretary; Rev. Thomas P. McManmon, Treasurer.

The captains of each district are as follows: District 1, Mrs. Anna B. Moir; District 2, Mrs. Robert H. James; District 3, Mrs. John W. Quilty; District 4, Mrs. Frank Mague.

The entertainment on Thursday, September 28, will be furnished by the Newton Catholic Club; on September 29, by Auburndale; on September 30, by Rev. John B. DeValles Council Knights of Columbus, Boston.

Prominent men of the State and City will be guests of the Parish and entertainment will be furnished for the children on the Saturday afternoon, September 30. Dancing and novelty forms of entertainment will be featured.

On Friday evening, September 8, a Whist and Dancing party will be given at the Wawbywawa Club on Islington road, Auburndale, under the patronage of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Coleman.

Thursday, September 14, a Character Party will be held at Norumbega Hall, under the auspices of Miss Loretta Melody and Miss Molly Keyes.

Monday, September 18, a Whist will be held at the home of Mrs. Anna B. Moir.

Great interest is manifested throughout the City in the efforts of the Catholic people of Auburndale to build their new Church.

CHATHAM COUNTRY CLUB BOAT RACES

The last race of the season for the President's Cup was held on Labor Day at the Chatham Country Club. The course was changed somewhat from that followed in the previous races, the boats sailing down the Channel past the Chatham Bars Inn and the Mattaquon. A drifting fog added a bit of spice to the occasion, making it difficult for the contestants to hold to their courses and to determine their respective positions. Seventeen boats crossed the starting line with a light south wind blowing.

Mrs. Joseph Foster finished first in two hours, 23 minutes, and 49 seconds, receiving the blue pennant for the day. The Camp Quanset boat, sailed by Mrs. James H. Melcher of Newton Centre, and assisted by Capt. Irving D. Dore of Chatham, and by Mr. Melcher came in a close second in two hours, 25 minutes, 5 seconds. The third, fourth, and fifth places were won by Miss Bartow of North Chatham, Mrs. E. L. Hurd, and Miss Persis McClellan respectively. Pennants were awarded as usual for the first five positions.

The much coveted President's Cup, awarded to the boat scoring the highest average in five races held at intervals during the season, went to the Camp Quanset boat with an average of 16.40. Quanset joined the Club for the first time this year. Mrs. Joseph Foster took second place with a total of 15.40; Mrs. Ernest Johnson, third place with 14.60; while Mrs. E. L. Hurd and Mrs. Ripley Dana took fourth and fifth places.

SANDY BURR COUNTRY CLUB

A local committee consisting of William F. Brennan, A. Dudley Dowd, H. C. Dunn, and L. I. Van Biskirk has been appointed by the directors of Sandy Burr Country Club to have first hand information for citizens of Newton who might be interested in this new golf course.

The rapid progress that has been made in the construction of the permanent eighteen-hole course as well as the play enjoyed on the temporary nine-hole course has attracted more than ordinary interest.

A drive for membership is on and the men mentioned above will be pleased to answer any questions put up to them.

There will be no dearth of action at Sandy Burr. When the golf season is brought to a close by winter snows, a winter sports program will be introduced. The plans already in hand furnish plenty of enjoyment for everyone.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—It is indeed a welcome announcement that the second season of Shubert Vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre will open on Monday afternoon, September 11, with no less a feature than the world-famous dialect comedians Weber and Fields, reunited, and heading their own company once more. Joe Weber and Lew Fields were the best known actors on the vaudeville, musical comedy and revue stage during the heyday of their little but famous Music Hall in New York City, but they separated after the northward march of the theatrical centre in the Metropolitan necessitated the closing of their unique playhouse.

The Messrs. Shubert announce that this season, in their enlarged chain of vaudeville houses, extending from coast to coast, they will adhere closely to their policy of unique unit shows, consisting of a new revue each week, headed by a well-known musical comedy star, or stars, with the introduction of a vaudeville programme, the vaudeville artists taking part also in the revues.

LODGES

The Fair Committee of Garden City Grange is making extensive plans for the Fair on October 7.

The State Agricultural Department has made a generous allotment of funds for State Prizes, also several blue ribbons. The grange will be much pleased to have everyone interested in Agriculture, Home Economics, Poultry, Canning, etc., to exhibit. There will be prizes given in all departments. Those wishing to exhibit may receive further information of Charles F. Dow, Secretary of Fair Committee, 10 Church road, Newton.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held Sept. 12 and will be devoted to raising contributions for the State Educational Fund.

Sept. 16, Middlesex-Norfolk Pomona Grange will meet in Ashland. The evening will be devoted to a Mock Town Meeting.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS

CREDIT TO AMERICAN RULE

Affairs of Colony of Pago Pago, in the South Seas, Declared Admirably Managed.

According to Randolph Bedford, in a recent number of Our World, Pago Pago is the "happiest community on earth."

This island in the Samoan group is the southernmost outpost of American government. Little has been said about this colony of ours; probably there are a great many Americans who do not even know that we have it. But in our administration of its affairs we have demonstrated, according to Mr. Bedford, who is an Australian globe trotter and journalist, that we govern our colonies better than we govern ourselves.

The total of the annual taxes levied on the natives is just $7. It is with mingled feelings that one reads of what Uncle Sam can accomplish for $7 a year if he has to. The Samoan, according to Mr. Bedford, gets for this expenditure, "protection, work, cleanliness, electric light, good water supply, cement roads and education." When Spanish influenza was raging through the islands of the South seas, taking a cruel toll among the natives, it passed Pago by. There was not a single case throughout the entire epidemic. "Pago is a long march ahead of the average western Pacific settlement administered by the white man. The native has succeeded at no personal cost to the efficiency of the American engineer; to the smooth roads that bear his bicycle; aye, and to the picture show and ice cream of California."

MOVED WALL WITHOUT INJURY

Engineering Experts Proved it No Trick at All to Lengthen Big Buffalo Church.

In olden days, when the medieval cathedral builders wished to lengthen one of their great churches (and this happened very frequently), there was nothing for it but to pull down the western wall with its two towers, if it possessed any, or the eastern face, and lengthen the structure to the desired extent.

Today, however, thanks to the highly developed art of "house moving," we can lengthen a church without any preliminary destruction of its principal front. As witness of this, the front of the Central Presbyterian church, Buffalo, was recently moved 30 feet eastward, to permit a lengthening of the auditorium to that extent. The front of the building is 78 feet wide over the lateral buttresses, 65 feet high and 8 feet wide at the thickest parts. The weight of the wall, as moved, is 1,000 tons.

The preliminary operations consisted of removing the front, preparing the new foundations, 30 feet to the eastward, and making a clean cut through the roof and through the side walls, where they abutted against the church front. While this was being done the front wall was jacked up on rollers. The work of moving the 1,000-ton mass was done by means of screw-jacks, operated by 15 men, and the wall completed its journey of 30 feet without injury in 16 hours.—Scientific American.

Enforce Federal Bird Law.

Among the convictions obtained by the United States Department of Agriculture during May for violation of the Migratory-Bird Treaty act were one in Illinois, involving in killing of a gull, fine $25 and costs; one in Virginia, involving the sale of a heron, fine $25; two in Kentucky, involving the hunting of ducks from a motor boat, fine $25 each and costs; two in Florida, involving the possession of ducks in close season, $25 each; two in Oregon involving the hunting of ducks after sunset, fine $25 each; one in Oregon, involving the killing of a band-tailed pigeon, fine $25; two in Arkansas, involving the sale of ducks, $20 each; one in Florida, involving the killing of ducks in close season, fine $50; one in Virginia, involving the sale of ducks, fine $100; and one in Louisiana, involving the sale of ducks, fine $100.

Effect of Daylight on Plants.

Investigation of length of daylight on plant life conducted by the United States Bureau of Plant Industry indicates the importance of this factor in its development. Formation of bulbs is induced by excessively long days, while formation of tubers commonly results from excessively short days. This deposition of carbohydrate in relatively condensed or dehydrated form as a result of an unfavorable light period indicates marked loss of power to utilize the products of photosynthesis in elongating the stem or in developing flower and fruit, a condition well exemplified in the stemless or leaf-rossette form of foliage development. The opposite change toward the optimal day length or stem-elongation may rescue typical annual plants from impending death and effect more or less complete rejuvenescence.

How She Did It.

Two housewives were exchanging confidences as to their help. "What I can't see," exclaimed the first, "is how you manage to get so much work out of Ruth. I can't do it. She gets your work done much quicker than mine, and does it just as well or better, too." "Well," exclaimed the second housewife, "I just put jazzy pieces on our electric player piano all the time she is working. Simple, isn't it?"

TIBBETTS—LUCAS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton F. Lucas 13 Emerson street, Sept. 4, when their only daughter Ruth Gladys was united in marriage to Loren P. Tibbetts of Winthrop. There ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ambler Garnet of the Methodist Church. The bride was given away by her father.

The best man was Mr. Frank DeVoe of Philadelphia, and the bridesmaid was Miss Grace Hope of Waltham.

The service was the double ring service.

The bride's dress was of Canton silk with veil caught up with orange blossoms. The bouquet was made of white roses and Lily of the valley. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of pink roses tied with pink ribbon. During the reception Miss Martha Booth sang a few selections.

Friends and relatives were present from Winthrop, Boston and New York. The wedding presents were numerous.

After an automobile trip through the White mountains they will reside in Winthrop where Mr. Tibbetts is in business and will be at home to friends after October 1.

FITZGERALD—COMMONS

Miss Mary Frances Commons of Newtonville, and Mr. Michael J. Fitzgerald of Allston were married on Monday at the Church of Our Lady, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Walter J. Roche.

Miss Ruth C. Commons, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. James J. Fitzgerald of Worcester, brother of the groom best man.

The gown of the bride was of whiteorgette with a corsage of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

A wedding breakfast was held at Hotel Somerset, Boston.

The bridal couple left on a trip to Bermuda where they will remain until January 1st, after which they will make their home on Madison avenue, Newtonville.

The bride is a graduate of Simmons College, class of '16, and the groom is a graduate of Pace Institute, and is in business in Boston.

The young people met at the Army Base in South Boston where they both served during the war.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—"The Nest" which William A. Brady is presenting at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, and now entering upon the second week of its limited engagement here, is regarded as one of the greatest plays of the past decade. Its success in New York, where it ran for nearly all of last season at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre was sensational in the extreme.

The theme of the play is the thoughtlessness of carefree youth enbarking upon its own adventures in the pathway of life and giving no heed to the tenderness and pathetic bewilderment of the parents who are left behind like the discarded toys of childhood's days. The author has not permitted the pitiless lucidity with which he treats his theme to interfere with the structural process of an absorbing drama, but has availed himself of scenes of striking realism to build a truly great play. Tears and laughter follow swiftly on each other's footsteps. "The Nest" is a play carrying a message to both parents and grown-up children.

WEEK END PARTY AT CAMP DAY

Several Y. W. C. A. girls spent the week end at the Frank A. Day Camp. The girls left Saturday on the afternoon train for Brookfield. The few days at Camp Day were certainly used to great advantage. There was swimming, rowing, canoeing, hiking, bowling and tennis.

The day's program started with a dip before breakfast, a long hike before lunch, swimming in the afternoon and canoeing on the lake by moonlight in the evening. The long days were all too short for the enthusiastic "Y" girls, and without exception they are looking forward to another trip.

Miss Badger will be back from her vacation Monday, September 11.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of

Henry O. Billings

late of Newton in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Edward W. Blodgett who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourteenth day of September, A. D. 1922, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of August in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two.

The primary campaign which ends next Tuesday has not been one in which either the candidates or the voters can take much pride. Notwithstanding the passage of an act, fathered by the editor of the Graphic, prohibiting, under severe penalties, the making of "false statements" to aid or defeat a candidate, there has been much misrepresentation and undoubted direct violation of the law. Both parties are equal offenders in this respect and so long as we continue to operate under a direct primary, we may look for similar conditions.

In the charges and counter charges which have characterized the contest for the Republican nomination for governor, we hope that the voters of Newton will not overlook the fact that one of our own citizens is a candidate and that Attorney-General J. Weston Allen has shown remarkable qualities of ability, courage and persistency in his present office and would carry those same qualities into the office of governor, if nominated and elected.

As former attorney-general Pillsbury well says, "Unless they take such a man when they can get him, they will never have him when they need him." We do not disparage in the least the fine record that Mr. Cox has made as Governor for the past two years, but we are of the opinion that Mr. Allen should be nominated.

For Lieutenant-Governor we hope that ex-speaker Joseph E. Warner will be successful in his campaign to correct the mistake of two years ago when he was defeated by means of half truths and misrepresentations. Mr. Warner's long and honorable record in state politics entitles him to the most careful consideration of the Republicans of Newton and his nomination will be most creditable to the party.

There are contests for nomination for three offices on the state ticket. Mr. J. Arthur Baker opposing State Auditor Cook, former treasurer Fred J. Burrell opposing State Treasurer James Jackson, and six aspirants to succeed Mr. J. Weston Allen as Attorney-General. State Treasurer Jackson comes out this week in the daily press in a strong article opposing the renomination of Mr. Cook as state auditor and this together with Mr. Cook's past record ought to lead to the nomination of Mr. Baker. Mr. Jackson, of course, should be renominated as state treasurer, and the campaign of Mr. Burrell is more or less of a joke.

There is an array of talent for nomination for attorney-general and we favor the selection of the present assistant attorney-general, Mr. Jay R. Benton of Belmont for the place. Mr. Benton has had several years' experience in office and has ample qualifications for the place besides.

For United States Senator, there should be, of course, no doubt whatever of the renomination of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Massachusetts Republicans would be held up to derision of the whole country if we fail to return Senator Lodge this fall. Senator Lodge is a national figure and honors Massachusetts by accepting the office more than the Commonwealth honors him by the election.

For district attorney for Middlesex county there are six candidates and the outcome is very much in doubt. We have served in the House with Representative Arthur K. Reading of Cambridge and feel confident that the Republican party will make no mistake if he is nominated and elected. Mr. Reading has held important chairmanships in the Legislature, and can qualify for the office. As to his political standing, for he is Able, Active and Aggressive.

Rep. Abbott B. Rice The Logical Candidate

With all the bitter political fights which the Republicans have on their hands this Fall it is regrettable, to say the least, that any clique, for a selfish purpose, should deliberately start additional fights in the ranks.

For more than twenty years there has been a general understanding among the Republicans in this senatorial district that the candidates be selected first from the eastern and then from the western part of the district.

This understanding has worked in perfect harmony during this period. It was Newton's turn to name the candidate this Fall, and they selected Representative Abbott B. Rice of that city.

It is said in Newton that a representative of the Arkwright Club did not take kindly to Mr. Rice's candidacy from the fact that he could not use him, and that he persuaded Mr. John M. Merriam of Framingham to get in and make a contest.

Now, if this is true, the voters should know it before primary day, for we are persuaded that this senatorial district is not particularly interested to have a senator "hand picked" who, if elected, will serve any particular interest.

Rep. Abbott B. Rice is the logical candidate; the western part of the district has had their inning. It is now Newton's turn, and we don't believe that Framingham is going to "hog it" to satisfy the political aspirations of any small political clique in Newton.

We note that the so-called "Old Guard" want harmony, or talk harmony, only when they have a candidate of their own selection. We don't mean by this to cast any reflection on Mr. Merriam. He is a gentleman and an honored citizen of Framingham, and we hold him in the highest respect. It is simply this respect which we have for him that makes us sorry to have him dragged into this uncalculated agitation in order to please any clique.

It would seem that in all fairness Newton was entitled to name the senator this Fall and they have done so in naming the Hon. Abbott B. Rice.

Natick realizes the justice of Newton's claim and will support the Newton candidate. Framingham should, and we believe will, do the same.

The above article appeared in a Natick Republican Paper Aug. 25. The article speaks for itself. We in the western part of the District who know Representative Rice's record, believe that opposition to him is not justified and that he should receive the same loyal support from Framingham and the other towns in the western part of the District as he surely will receive in Newton and Weston.

REP. ABBOTT B. RICE

FRANK H. FALES,
4 Frederick Street,
Framingham, Mass.

The contest for the nomination for state senator in this district is between Representative Abbott B. Rice of this city and former representative John M. Merriam of Framingham. Both are worthy candidates and the Commonwealth will be well served whoever is nominated.

For Representatives to the General Court the Republicans have a wide choice with ten candidates for three nominations. It is a good policy for the city to return experienced men to the Legislature, for seniority counts for a great deal in that body and new members do not and cannot exert much influence until they obtain the knowledge of both men and measures. We earnestly hope that Representative Bernard Early will lead the entire list. His work at the State House during the past four years entitles him to that honor. As House chairman of the committee on State Administration Mr. Early should be returned in order to carry out the recommendations of the Webster Commission for a rearrangement of the executive departments of the state, a commission which he served as vice-chairman.

Two years ago prompt and drastic measures brought in our local police court directed public attention to the evils of eleventh hour political propaganda. We trust that the lesson taught at that time will not be forgotten and that the voters of Newton at least will pay scant attention to statements regarding candidates issued too late for reply.

Attention is called to the fact that at the meeting of the aldermen next Monday night another public hearing will be held on the zoning ordinance, the question being whether or not there shall be a distinction between the first and second zones as defined in the ordinance which was rejected last summer. A large attendance is expected.

act and all persons employed as laborers must be registered with the Registrar and wait their turn for certification when men are needed by the Street and Water departments. Their registration runs only for the current year and must be renewed for the succeeding year.

The names of applicants for labor service go on the list in numerical order and are certified to the employing officer on requisition, similar to that in other branches of the service, veterans being given the preference in every case.

Of course in a field of 38 cities and some of the larger towns where employees are under civil service rules, there may be, and in the past, there have been attempts to evade the civil service requirements. To check this tendency, the law requires the head of each department to make oath to the accuracy of every pay roll and the Civil Service Department has a corps of pay roll inspectors to examine the lists. Boston has a special law on this subject.

A proper observance of the principle of civil service is absolutely necessary for the efficient administration of public affairs and while there are still sneers and gibes at this and that feature of the law, in the main it is being recognized as a necessary part and parcel of our scheme of government.

VOTE FOR REPRESENTATIVE Bernard Early

To the Citizens of Newton:

I am a candidate for re-election as Representative from this city. I have served in that position for four years and I am confident that the people of Newton know my record in City affairs, civic affairs, and legislative matters.

If you believe that as a result of this record I am entitled to re-election I hope you will attend the Primary on September 12 and that you will urge all of your friends to vote for me then. The polls will be open from 8 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Assuring you of my willingness and desire to render in the next session of the legislature the same kind of service I have rendered in the past, I am,

Yours very truly,
BERNARD EARLY.

REPUBLICAN CRISIS

We, the undersigned Republican voters of Middlesex County, believe that in the selection of a Republican candidate for District Attorney a crisis exists in the affairs of this County and more particularly in the Republican Party.

Nathan A. Tufts was removed from office by the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth for acts which have brought disgrace upon Middlesex County. Tufts' law partner, first assistant and political manager, George Stanley Harvey, seeks the Republican nomination for the great office from which his chief was removed.

The issue of this campaign, clean-cut and well defined, is whether the Republican voters, after being betrayed by Tufts, are willing to choose as their standard bearer to redeem their party, Tufts' law partner and first assistant.

We believe that Arthur K. Reading of Cambridge is the only one of the candidates in the field who can defeat Harvey. Republicans must concentrate on one man if Harvey is to be defeated. Harvey's only hope lies in a divided opposition. A vote for Pearson, Reilly or Haines is half a vote for Harvey.

We have carefully investigated the career and standing of Arthur K. Reading. He is endorsed by more than two hundred Republican members of the Middlesex Bar, by eminent judges, and by nearly all the Republican members of the Legislature who have served with Mr. Reading. His opponents have conducted a campaign based on misrepresentation, understatement of facts, and false propaganda. We believe that his nomination and election will reflect credit and honor upon the Republican party and remove all danger of a repetition of recent conditions.

We strongly urge all Republican voters interested in the welfare of their party and the good name of Middlesex County to go to the polls on Primary Day, September 12, and vote for Arthur K. Reading for the Republican nomination for District Attorney.

Hon. Gilbert A. Pevey, chairman of the Grievance Committee of the Middlesex Bar Association.

Hon. Charles H. McIntyre, former President of the Middlesex Bar Association.

Hon. William H. Dolben, Member Governor's Council.

Hon. Charles Sumner Smith, Member Governor's Council.

Hon. John J. Higgins, for six years District Attorney of Middlesex County.

Hon. William J. White, Jr., Asst. U. S. District Attorney.

A FINAL WORD

I have been careful throughout my canvass for District Attorney to say no unkind word of my opponents, as I do not wish to advance myself by assailing the reputation of others. It has seemed to me that my long record of service in highly responsible positions and the judgment of men and things acquired by thirty years experience as lawyer, legislator, administrator and executive, is the best guaranty of fitness for the office, and on these I stand.

In every legitimate way I have tried to make clear my attitude in favor of the enforcement of law and order and have concealed neither my past acts nor my future policies.

From the many endorsements of many well known citizens, I quote the following from the letters of several of them:

Hon. Herbert Parker, formerly Attorney General, (who was attorney for Arthur Reading, one of my opponents), says: "I count myself as unqualifiedly supporting your candidacy and would be glad to render any service whatever in my power to bring it to a successful conclusion."

"Congressman John Jacob Rogers: 'You have my unqualified support in your candidacy.'"

Charles J. Wier, Esq., Assistant District Attorney under John J. Higgins: "I consider Hon. Gardner W. Pearson—to be by far the best qualified to give Middlesex County an honest, able and vigorous administration of the office of District Attorney and do for this reason support him for that office."

If favored by your vote at the Primary September 12th, and elected, I shall strive to merit your confidence.

FAIRWEATHER—ELLIOTT

At a pretty home wedding last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Elliott on Washington street, Hunnewell hill, their daughter Esther Priscilla, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Frederick Fairweather of Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church, the bride and groom standing under a floral arch of laurel, roses and asters. The wedding march was played by Miss Hilda Joy.

The bride wore Georgette crepe and lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley with orchid center. She was attended by four sisters, Miss Maxine Elliott, as maid of honor, the Misses Katherine and Constance Elliott as bridesmaids and little Virginia Helen Elliott as flower girl. The maid of honor wore beige Canton crepe with lace and carried red roses. The bridesmaids wore peach chiffon taffeta with roses to match.

The best man was Mr. Edwin Fairweather, brother of the groom and the ushers were Messrs Howard and Donald Fairweather, brothers of the groom. P. Nelson Elliott, brother of the bride and Lawrence Perkins of Needham.

A reception followed the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fairweather.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather will reside at 1619 Centre street, Newton Highlands.

OFFICER LARIVEE REMOVED

Mayor Childs, who had reserved his decision in the case of patrolman Frank W. Larivee, after a public hearing on charges of larceny of two automobile tires from Early's store in Newton Lower Falls the evening of August 3, and untruthfulness to his superior officers, gave his decision in a letter to Captain Bernard Burke, last Saturday.

Mayor Childs states: "On August 30, a public hearing was held. Mr. Larivee was present and was represented by able counsel. A very material witness had been spirited away by parties unknown. Upon evidence as presented at the hearing I cannot find Officer Larivee guilty of larceny, but I do find that his conduct in the matter was most unbecoming an officer. I find him guilty of untruthfulness to a superior officer in a most important investigation and for the good of the service his removal is hereby confirmed."

TAKE TO 'KIDDIES'

Writer Corrects Misapprehension Concerning Bachelors.

Really They Have a Better Understanding of the Childish Heart Than Have Many Parents.

I have long been convinced that the people who have no children are secretly maligned and treated with injustice by those who have, and it is for the purpose of defending them and setting them right that these lines are written. Thomas L. Masson writes in the New York Sun. There is a kind of confraternity of those who have children arrayed against those who haven't.

The thing has gone far enough. In the interests of good fellowship and all-around sport, it certainly ought to be stopped.

I frankly plead guilty myself to this sort of thing. I can recall the many occasions in which I have remarked to somebody else who had children, speaking of some one who had them not:

"You see, he doesn't understand. He has no children of his own. Great pity, isn't it?"

Yes, I have said this so often myself, and I have heard it said so often that it is now high time to record my sense of contrition. For it isn't true. The truth is that those who have no children quite generally understand them much better than those who do. They have a kind of sense about children, very much like a sixth sense, and which appears to have been given to them to take the place of the children themselves.

I could give many instances that occur to me to corroborate this view. I know two or three old bachelors who have devoted their lives to the bringing up of boys, and the astonishing insight into boys that they have certainly could not be excelled, if paralleled, by any parent. As for maiden ladies, their perceptions about children are uncanny.

I have seen boys considered thoroughly bad and denounced and trounced by their parents, and made to feel quite worthless and unredemptible crawl under the wings of some spinster lady, and be immediately revived and mentally and morally set upon their feet, merely by the fact that the spinster lady was able to look into their hearts and to have such faith in them as to accomplish this miracle.

For this is the real miracle after all—that one may touch a human being, perhaps only by the pressure of the hand or an understanding smile and a listening ear, and immediately restore him to normal health.

I am free to confess that there are so many things about those who have no children that indicate their superiority to those who have that I find it difficult to know where to begin. They may be lost in every other way. Owing to their freedom from responsibilities of this sort, and joyousness of heart, the crusty, in their ways and cranks, and all that sort of thing, it is nothing less than marvelous the way they will let children upset them.

I have seen an elderly gentleman who had lived in bachelor apartments all his life, and who, if his newspaper was ten minutes late, or his news-paper was not delivered, or who was folded the wrong way, would fall into a profound rage. I have seen this gentleman submit to any indignity imposed upon him by a small band of children at a week-end—and cry for more.

Thus, you see, there are two sorts of miracles; there is the miracle of the childless person understanding and seeing into the child's heart when the parent is blind, and there is the miracle of the child bringing back to responsiveness and joyousness the heart of the crusty, childless person, who has become immersed in the machinery of his own selfishness.

Then, again, have you noticed that children persons love all kinds of children? Their impartiality is as wide as the world. A nice little girl with flaxen hair blowing back her hair as she runs in the wind, and who sits on one's knee in the twilight and asks for a fairy story—such a divine creature as this will appeal to any childless person, no matter who she is or where she comes from.

But the average parent sniffs at any other little girl like that who doesn't belong to him. The prejudice and intolerance of parents have never been measured!

Mass of Camels.

The mass of Faisal's army filled the valley from side to side. There were hundreds of brushwood fires burning, with Arabs round them making coffee, or eating, or sleeping like dead men muffled in their cloaks, as closely as they could in the confusion of camels. I had never imagined so many camels together, and the mass was indescribable, as they were couched or tied up here and there all over the camping ground, and more were always coming in, and the old ones leaping up on three legs to join them, roaring with hunger and agitation. Patrols were going out, and caravans being unloaded, and some dozen of Egyptian mules were bucking angrily all over the middle of the scene.—World's Work.

Reconsidered.

Philippi—You know, I fell in love with Jack Higgins at first sight. Perdita—When is your engagement to be announced?
Philippi—Never. I took a second look.

"CITY OF KINGS"

Ancient Delhi Well Worthy of Pompous Appellation.

New Capital of India Has Long History Filled With Effort, Tragedy, and Wild Romance.

It has been said as Agra is the poet's city, so is Delhi the city of kings. And certainly there is a sense of pomp and glory that still lingers about the place, an atmosphere of vanished splendors that strikes even the winter tourist who wanders, guidebook in hand, around its mass of ruins and down its stately streets. Even so, as you should see Agra first in the soft, blurred twilight of the day, you should approach Delhi in the broad, brave light of early morning. Entering the town from the Meerut side, when the sun is mounting serenely in a pale, clear sky, making the broad Jumna sparkle freshly, throwing into clear relief the brown, vigorous dhobis who bang their white washing joyously upon the stones, rousing the red, glowing walls of the great fort to cheerful welcome, this is to see Delhi in its most vital aspect, a city of life and busy, worldly activity, always at the center of the history of every age. For, whatever may be said for or against the expensive and troublesome removal of the seat of government from Calcutta, it is at least historically fitting that this ancient town—always at the core of India's history, whether as Delhi, Indraprastha or Shahjahanabad—should now again become its capital.

The seven Delhis around—scattered in ruin now—represent—each of them—a chapter of history packed with effort, tragedy and romance. Never was a city more teeming with the sense of the press of life, of history inevitably made in the shadow of its red walls.

Like Rome, Delhi has two distinct pasts lying side by side. In Rome it is the ancient Roman civilization and the past of the Renaissance. In Delhi the old days of invading Mohammedan hordes and the period of undiluted splendor inaugurated by the early Mughals. But unlike Rome, Delhi has always a background of grime to show to each bright picture, making the sensuous glory of it the more hecticly bright. Therefore, after a cheerful, sunny morning spent among the gold embroideries, the ivories and silks and jewels of the broad and lovely Chandni Chalk—the finest street, some say, in the world—amidst the imperial, forgotten pomp of the red-walled fort, the quiet of the evening is the time above all others for wandering amidst the fragments of the ancient Delhis.

The whole of the neighborhood is strewn with these remains, for although "the seven Delhis" is a picturesque enough term, in sober fact the cities that lie crumbled around the present capital of India number twelve or thirteen. True, of the original city of Indraprastha, built by the Pandava brothers, and said to have been on the site of the present village of Indraprastha, no vestige remains. . . . Drive out a few miles and you will find Tughlakabad, built by the first sultan of the house of Tughlak. . . . Long and ponderous and grim, it lies, once so full of the life and bustle of a medieval court, now deserted by all save the wild peacocks, gorgeous as any courtier of old who step daintily among its ruins.

Chance for Grandpa.

On Memorial Day an assorted pair watched the parade, an elderly business man and his little grandson. The latter amused everyone by his comments on things and his imitation of his grandfather. When his grandfather lifted his hat, the youngster did the same. And then looking at his grandfather said, "We're polite, aren't we, grandpa?"

Grandpa smiled and nodded. Then the little fellow saw the former service men in uniform and the Civil War veterans. He looked at his grandfather, sighed and asked, "Ain't it too bad, grandpa, we aren't soldiers?"

Grandpa sighed a genuine sigh. A long study and then the little fellow offered consolation. "I can be a boy scout pretty soon, grandpa," he said, "and when you get a little older, you'll be an 'Onward Christian Soldier'!"

This time grandpa didn't smile. His future didn't seem to suit him.—Indianapolis News.

Radio Station on Church Tower.

A radio broadcasting station with a coast-to-coast radius and a ten-story tower are novel features of the First Baptist church, of Shreveport, La., erected at a cost of $500,000, and used for the first time Sunday, April 9. The structure, uniting a main building of four floors and the ten-story tower is large enough to accommodate 7,000 persons. Situated in the heart of Shreveport's business district, its tower dominates the city's skyline. Many small churches throughout the neighboring section have installed receiving outfits to take advantage of the offering of the Shreveport church. Several of them have no pastor, and are able to have sermons only one or two Sundays a month, but radio has now made possible for them the same opportunities offered members of city churches.

The Best Policy.

SEPTEMBER 10th

Resolve to-day to go over your income carefully and eliminate the "little things" that are not really necessary for your family's need?

You will be surprised at the neat sum that could be saved each week.

If it seems impossible to save money, look around and you will find many of your friends with smaller incomes than yours who save regularly.

Perhaps this will give you the courage to try it yourself.

Money deposited on September 10th will begin to draw interest from that date.

SERVES TWO GOOD PURPOSES

Aerial Forest Fire Patrol Not Alone of Value in Saving Timber From Flames.

The aerial forest fire patrol is not only of inestimable value to the timber-growing states of the Pacific coast, but of great value to the United States army, writes Robert W. Ruhl in Leslie's.

If an invading foe ever strikes at the Pacific coast, maps, and similar data, direct products of forest fire patrol, will be of inestimable value to Uncle Sam. And if the millennium arrives on schedule time, and wars cease, then with the development of the commercial airplane the value of these data will run into sufficient money to make the expense of the forest fire patrol look like the German mark.

In another direction the aerial forest fire patrol is of material value to Uncle Sam. The great military problem in time of peace is to maintain fighting morale. To an extraordinary degree fighting forest fires calls forth the same qualities required in fighting an armed foe. Locating a forest fire in the wild western country is almost identical with locating an enemy battery; reporting a forest fire to base headquarters by radio is not essentially different from reporting artillery fire; dropping carbon dioxide to extinguish incipient forest fires—a projected development of the near future—demands the same technical skill as would dropping bombs of TNT on an army ammunition dump.

The aerial forest fire patrol, moreover, provides ideal training for observation squadrons. Liaison with the forest service is accomplished much the same as with the infantry and artillery in war operations.

INDUSTRY CALLS ON SCIENCE

Chemist Today Plays a Highly Important Part in Enterprise of Every Description.

It is said that whenever a car wheel breaks on a certain great trunk line the fragments are taken to the company's laboratory and carefully studied, so that when the next order for car wheels is made up, if structural weakness caused the accident, it may be guarded against. All the purchases by this railroad of iron, steel, oil, lumber or what not are tested by the chemists it employs and they draw up the requirements to which persons who sell the road supplies must conform. This is not an isolated instance. It illustrates the practicality of applied science, and the reliance of acute business men upon the expert opinion that insures them against wasting materials, time and money.

A class graduated from one of our largest technological schools numbered almost two hundred young men and women. Eleven of them took up special studies in this institution or others. All but forty of the rest found employment within a year. They engaged in the service of electric companies, railroads, cotton and paper mills, mines, machine works, iron and steel foundries and others of our most important industrial enterprises.

quaintance.

"To'able," replied Gabe Gossnell

ably would have had if I wasn't considerably lively on my feet. You see, up in Kansas City, if you meet a respectable looking man anywhere after Ignition of Escaping Hydrogen.

There have been so many cases of spontaneous ignition of hydrogen gas when charging balloons that an investigation has been carried on to determine the cause. By observing in the dark a jet of hydrogen escaping through a pipe flange, it was found that a brush discharge of static electricity was plainly visible. When the pipe was tapped, to stir up the dust, an explosion occurred. From the investigation it would seem that the spontaneous ignition was due to the friction between the hydrogen and the dust of iron rust and to the brush discharge of static electricity from the electrified particles. — Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ST. JOHN GIRL IN HEALTH WORK

The following account of an interview with Miss Gertrude Melick in a St. John, N. B., newspaper will be of interest to many in this city:

Miss Melick said that great benefit was accruing to the children of Newton through systematic caring for the health of body and mind by means of educational talks and a close personal touch together with co-operation of those in the homes. The children are rated according to their weight and those who are ten per cent below the average weight for a child of a certain age and height are referred to Miss Melick for attention.
This special class is held once a week and covers six districts, the classes being held in the school buildings.

The general programme with regard to the health work among the school children consists in a physical examination by a doctor, measuring and weighing the children teaching the youngsters the relative values of different foods by means of crayons with which they draw and familiarize themselves with vegetables and food composites and by songs set to some well known tunes easy for the children to remember. If any defects are found during the physical examination by the school doctor the case is referred to the family doctor.

The kiddies are taught to play health games representing the different vegetables. In the Newton schools each child has a half pint of milk and a small biscuit every morning. A small fee is charged for this and the results have been found to be very satisfactory. A scale of colored sections is maintained and a child is placed in one or another according to his weight. The children are thereby encouraged to keep well up in weight in order to get in the envied class. Each child reports what he or she has done during the week in playing the health games and is credited accordingly. A certain number of credit marks, indicated by stars, makes the child eligible for a health pin.

Miss Melick said she had received a great deal of valuable assistance from the churches and girls' clubs.
The school board and the welfare bureau collaborate in looking after the health of the children and Miss Melick works in conjunction with them. Since December 1, she has been successful in clothing twenty-two children. She goes into the homes and teaches the mothers how to cook the foods and what is best for the care and nourishment of the children. In her work with children she lays especial stress on the value of vegetables and fruits, urging them to eat apples or other fruits rather than candy. Children are examined every month and great care is taken to see that tonsils and adenoids are properly looked after and then the result of these corrections is examinations are also conducted for evidence of tuberculosis and these children who need attention are sent away for treatment, the money being provided usually by generous friends.

Newton is considered much advanced in the matter of health work in the schools. In one year in which Miss Melick started a campaign for better care of the teeth she sold 1,650 tooth brushes. Free dental clinics are conducted. A special school is maintained for these children under normal mentality but the children do not know that they are considered as such, or that they are being subjected to any extra observation. Mothers are urged to give their children a cup of milk every night before they go to bed and this practice is found to give very satisfactory results.

Miss Melick will return to Newton about the end of August to resume her work.

SENIORITY

By CONGRESSMAN GUY U. HARDY

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Seniority or length of service has long been a controlling factor in many things in the house of representatives. I suppose it has always been so more or less, and it is a little more so now than formerly, if possible.

A member gets his office room in the house office building, his seat at committee tables, his rank on his committee, his chairmanship of committee, his place as a conferee on conference committees of the house and senate, and many other little favors and big opportunities for influence through seniority.

There was a time when the speaker had some choice in fixing up committees and chairmanships. You heard Uncle Joe Cannon roundly "cussed" about his exercise of that privilege a few years ago. Even then most of the chairmen were selected because they had served longest on the committees. But the speaker had some latitude and he did make some independent appointments in an effort to put the best qualified man in the place. And often such appointment raised Cain. About twelve years ago there was a revolution. Uncle Joe was defeated for speaker, new rules were adopted. Committee assignments are now made by a large committee on committees and the seniority rule is closely adhered to. There has been but one notable exception in years. The present chairman of appropriations was not the high man but the second high man on the list.

Chairmen of committees have much power and influence in directing legislation. They can help write legislation, help push it through the committee or hold it back. They have charge of it on the floor. Many bills pass the house in one form and the senate in another. If one house refuses to accept the amendments of the other, the bill is sent to conference. Conference committees include three or five members from each house. The house conferees now usually consist of two Republicans and one Democrat or three Republicans and two Democrats who have served longest on the committee. These conferees get together and agree to anything they can and report their findings back. These reports are usually accepted by both houses.

The seniority rule has been much criticized, and there is room for criticism. But there is something to be said for it. Chairmen have the advantage of long experience on their committees. If they are not dubs they must have learned much about the business in hand, and usually dubs do not remain long in congress. Any other method of selection would start log-rolling, build up machinery and factions and breed strife and trouble.

The old members are for the seniority rule, and while the new members may be critical, I rather fancy we will never get far away from it.

However, after all is said, it does sometimes appear that seniority and long service have more influence and power in the house of representatives than brilliancy and ability.

WHEN A CONGRESSMAN DIES

When a congressman dies the house solemnly passes a resolution of acknowledgment and then adjourns. But usually by common consent the resolution is held on the speaker's desk until the business of the day has been completed, and at about 5 or 5:30 o'clock the resolution is read, passed and the house stands adjourned.

The resolution always runs the same. It reads:

"Resolved, That the house has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. Mr. Blank, a representative from the state of —"

"Resolved, That the clerk communicate these resolutions to the senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased."

"Resolved, That as a further mark of respect this house do now adjourn." Few things are permitted to interfere with the business of the house. The work goes grinding on through the weeks and months. The house passes laws setting apart holidays that others may rest, and celebrate, and reverse the memory of notable men, but the house goes on with the nation's business without resting or celebrating.

The house evidently thinks that the best respect it can pay to the memory of the country's notables and its own dead is to go on with its important work. And so it does, usually.

Occasionally, if business is not too pressing and if the deceased member was more or less prominent, the resolution is passed soon after the house meets at noon. And when that happens I dare say that most of the members feel a good deal as the schoolboy feels when a teacher or a fellow pupil dies and school is dismissed; they enjoy getting a day off. Seventeen members are usually appointed to attend the funeral and when a member dies in office he is likely to have a notable gathering at his graveside.

A day is set apart when those who knew him best pay eloquent tribute to his memory and life. Here again the economical tendency of congress is shown, as the day set is always a Sunday when other business is not up for consideration. The speeches delivered on this occasion are published in the Congressional Record, and a little booklet containing them is made up, each member being given a few copies.

The other day I looked up a copy of one of these memorials for a gentleman in Pueblo. It was the memorial address on the life and character of James N. Burns of Missouri, delivered February 23, 1889. Although this was over 33 years ago, I was surprised to note how many gentlemen spoke on that day whose names are well known to us of this day; and some of the addresses are notable examples of eloquence. Ex-Speaker Henderson, Dockrell, Holman, Randall, Breckinridge, Butterworth, Storer, Grosvenor, Cockrell, Voorhees, Hale, Gorman and Vest. Surely an array of brilliant names.

It is customary for congress to vote a year's pay to the widow of a deceased member.

There are many deaths in congress. I am told about eighteen a year, and the flag on the house office building flies at half-mast a good deal of the time.

In the present congress there have been twelve deaths and it is only about half over. They are as follows: Fred L. Blackmon of Alabama, Samuel M. Taylor of Arkansas, John A. Elston of California, William E. Mason of Illinois, William H. Frankhauser of Michigan, Charles F. Van de Water of California, Henry D. Flood of Virginia, Prince J. Kuhio Kalaniana'ole of Hawaii, Lucian W. Parrish of Texas and Samuel M. Brinson of North Carolina.

Two of these members committed suicide and two were killed in automobile accidents.

Over in the senate when a death occurs the governor of the state appoints a senator to fill the vacancy until the next regular state election. A constitutional amendment has been suggested to provide that vacancies in the house should be filled in like manner. Such an arrangement would save the states much money which special elections necessarily cost.

Home Problem of Members.

One of a congressman's little troubles is the home problem, getting a house to live in. Washington is the highest priced city in the country. Property and rents are high. If a man is there alone he can live at a hotel. If he has a family he must have a house or an apartment. The hotels are high priced. The houses and flats are out of sight.

What members pay for houses of course depends upon what they get and want to pay. Several members pay $7,500 a year rent, and quite a number pay from $3,000 to $5,000. Of course they do not live on their salaries. They get something from back home. The members who try to live on their salaries, or nearly so, pay from $150 to $250 a month for a furnished house. And you don't get as much in Washington for $200 a month as you can get in Colorado cities for $50.

Within the moderate prices, houses are very hard to get and usually undesirable. Most residence property in Washington is built in rows—houses in solid blocks like store buildings. They are usually 17 to 20 feet wide, three stories high with three rooms on each floor, windows only in front and back, a front yard 10 or 12 feet deep.

First Congress Met in 1789.

The congress in session at this time is the Sixty-seventh congress. The first congress under the Constitution met in 1789. It should have met on March 4, but a quorum did not show up so it adjourned from day to day until April 1, when it opened for business. On April 6 of that year both houses met in joint session and canvassed the electoral vote for President and vice president. George Washington was found to be elected President and John Adams, vice president.

Congress Lasts Two Years.

Congress consists of a two-year term. There are two regular sessions and occasionally a special session or two. Members of the house of representatives are elected for two years and senators for a term of six years. The congress elected in November does not convene in regular session until the first Monday in December of the following year. But for several years a special session has been called soon after the 4th of March following the election.

Hearing the Other Side.

"You have decided to stay on the farm?"

"Yes," said Mr. Cobbles. "I get discouraged durin' th' week, but I cheer up considerably on Sundays."

"How is that?"

"I listen to people who come out here from town in their automobiles. After I hear them tell their troubles I forget that I have any of my own."

LOST BY GREAT MISSIONARY?

"Lorraine" Crosses Recently Found in Michigan Believed to Have Belonged to Father Marquette.

Not long ago, writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, some schoolboys of Delta county, Michigan, who were gathering acorns at recess from a large tree on a hill near the Escanaba river, found some valuable relics that date from the time of Father Marquette.

The boys had climbed the tree and shaken the acorns off. While they were picking them up a large one rolled under a sod. One of the boys pulled up the sod and disclosed four crosses, tarnished with age. Each was standing upright, and the tops, which have rings in them, were close together as if they had once hung from a string. The peculiar shape of the crosses roused the boys' curiosity, and they took them to their teacher, who scoured them and found that they were of solid silver.

They are of different sizes. The largest is six inches long and four inches wide; the smallest is four inches by two inches. All four crosses are elaborately engraved; except for the initials "R. C." the engraving on each is different from any on the rest. The workmanship shows the crosses to be handmade. But, unlike the ordinary cross, they have two horizontal bars. The upper bar, which is shorter than the other, represents the "title" that Pilate ordered to be placed above the head of the Savior. The double-barred cross has several names. It is called the Lorraine, or Jerusalem, cross, because Godfrey de Bouillon, duke of Lorraine, whom the crusaders chose as the first Christian ruler of Jerusalem, adopted it as his symbol. It is called also the archiepiscopal, or patriarchal, cross, because in the Roman Catholic church it marked the rank of cardinals, archbishops and patriarchs. Cardinal Richelieu, as archbishop of Lucon, always wore it.

How did those four double-barred crosses ever come into this country? Cardinal Richelieu's niece, the duchess d'Angoulême, was much interested in the missions in New France. She made many gifts to the missionaries, among which were some crosses that were to be given to the Indian chiefs as rewards for good conduct and zeal for the faith and for other meritorious things. In honor of her uncle, the cardinal, the duchess had the crosses made with two bars.

There were several missionaries who received the crosses, but Father Marquette was the only one who traversed the region in which the boys made their discovery. It is likely, therefore, that he himself lost them; since the four were together, it is not probable that Indians lost them.

First Message by Wireless.

Sending messages by telegraph and telephone without wires thousands of miles over the oceans is a far cry from sending a wireless impulse the length of a kitchen table. But before Marconi did that others had discovered certain principles which made it possible. Not, however, until Hertz discovered the progressive propagation of electromagnetic action through space was the period of speculation and experiment near its end.

Marconi, then a young man just out of his teens, read of the experiments of Hertz, and conceived the first apparatus for demonstrating the idea. At the end of several months he had his idea of such an apparatus complete and a message in the Morse code was sent the length of an ordinary kitchen table on which the apparatus was set up. Out of this initial success the wonderful system of wireless telegraph and telephone communication of today has developed, remarks the Detroit News.

"Resurrection Plant."

During the autumn and early winter several years ago men might have been seen in the streets selling an odd little plant which they called the "resurrection plant." Many and wonderful were the tales told of the plant by these itinerant salesmen to persuade their prospective customers to buy. Most of them either stated directly or else led their hearers to infer that the plants came only from the Holy land, where they were emblematical of the Resurrection. Most of them, however, were Polypodium incarnium, the commonest of all the ferns of Florida.

During the dry season the plant curls up into a small ball and has the appearance of being dead. In this condition it will bear transportation well. When placed in a bowl containing a little water its leaves will unfold and assume a bright green color, making a pretty and ornamental plant.

British Race Increasing.

The population of the United Kingdom, a little less than 10,000,000 when the century opened, had doubled by the time the American Civil war broke out. In 1901 it was 41,458,721; in 1911 it was 45,221,615. The after-war census for Great Britain showed a population of 42,707,530, excluding Ireland, so that the total for the British Isles must now be well over 46,000,000. This steady growth has gone on side by side with a huge emigration. From 1853 to 1920 14,000,000 Britishers left home for places outside of Europe, for the most part British North America, the United States, Australia, British South Africa and India.

Something Off Her Salary.

"I didn't really mean that you are a beast," said the prima donna when the row was over. "You make allowances for my artistic temperament." "I do," said her manager, bitterly, "but if there were any justice in this world I'd make deductions for it."

HOW MASSACHUSETTS IS GOVERNED

The 6th article in a series on state departments written by Representative J. C. Brimblecom

the soldier or his widow. It is roughly estimated that these forms of pension have cost the state over fifty millions dollars since the close of the civil war. The present cost to the Commonwealth and the various cities and towns is estimated to be about $700,000 a year.

The Commonwealth does not pay all the cost of this service to the soldier. All of this relief is first paid out by the local authorities, under statutes which forbid it being handled by the overseers of the poor and which expressly provide that the recipients shall not be pauperized thereby.

State Aid is wholly reimbursed by the Commonwealth to the various municipalities, and 50% of the amount paid out for Military Aid. Soldiers Relief is wholly paid for by each city and town, although the state exercises a supervisory power over the local action and can compel the payment of Soldier Relief, on appeal from an adverse action by the local authorities.

It is said that the position taken by Newton authorities has been generally satisfactory to the Commissioner of State Aid and the cases here are well investigated and there is neither evasion or abuse of the law.

The department reports a total of 6716 recipients of state aid of whom 2128 are soldiers and 4475 widows of soldiers, all of the Civil war. There are 181 recipients from the Spanish war and 161 from the world war. For

While most of us are fairly familiar with the direct cost of war, few of us realize its burden on the future in the way of pensions and kindred matters.

State aid to soldiers and dependents of the civil war, which closed over 50 years ago cost Massachusetts in 1920 the sum of $411,000, and what the cost will be in 50 years hence to sold world war, is a matter of serious concern and dependents on account of the Massachusetts is said to have the most generous laws of the whole country in caring for its soldiers and their dependents. In addition to a Federal pension, the soldier of the civil war or his widow receives $6 a month, and if this is not sufficient, the soldier is entitled to Military aid of $10 a month additional. There is a third form of pension called Soldiers Relief for both military Aid, there are 109 soldiers of the Civil War, 65 from the Spanish War and 406 from the World War. Newton has 34 cases.

The Commissioner reports that the total payments of bounties to soldiers in the civil war were over $17,000,000, the gratuities on account of the civil war total $571,000 and the gratuities of the world war over $18,000,000, sums which added to the previous estimate of cost, make a grand total of $83,800,000, as the cost of this form of relief to soldiers and widows.

In addition to the cost of supporting the living the state also provides for the proper burial of the dead, in order that no soldier shall lie in a pauper grave. For this, the state allows $60, and 214 persons were buried under this statute in 1920.

The Commissioner also examines applications for federal pensions and prosecutes the same at Washington with out expense to the applicant, 1320 applications and some 4000 depositions were handled by the office in 1921, of which some 611 applications were allowed and 218 rejected.

It may be of interest to note that a new federal pension act went into effect on Sept. 1, under which the pensions for widows of soldiers of Spanish War, Chinese Rebellion and Philippine Insurrection have been increased from $12 to $20 per month and for minor children from $2 to $4 per month.

Another item of interest to the Civil War Veteran is a federal ruling under which payments of pensions of $72 per month from date of medical examination may, on application be changed to date as of May 1, 1920.

In view of the public sentiment over the adjusted compensation act now under consideration in the National Congress, residents of Massachusetts can point with pride to the fine record the Commonwealth has made for its treatment of the old soldiers of the state and can confidently predict that no soldier in the future shall ever want of the necessities and even some of the luxuries of life.

COX SWEEPS CITY AND STATE

Fair vote cast at State Primary, with Cox, Fuller, Cook, Lodge, Rice, Brimblecom. Early and Saltonstall among the winners

While the sultry, rainy weather on Tuesday undoubtedly affected the size of the vote at the state primary election the vote cast was the largest ever polled at a primary in this city. 6528 votes cast of which 6024 were Republican and 504 Democratic, and 4002 were by men and 2526 by women.

With a total of 18256 registered voters, of whom 9456 are men and 8791 women, this means that 42% of the men voted and 28% of the women.

The greatest interest of course was over the Republican candidates. Governor Cox a candidate for renomination carried every precinct but one over Attorney General J. Weson Allen of this city. Newton Highlands remained loyal to its neighbor by giving him 101 majority. The vote for the city was Cox 4042, Allen 1881.

Lieutenant Governor Fuller ran away from former speaker Warner for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, polling 3704 to 2120 for Warner. State Treasurer Jackson had 4906 for renomination to 641 for Burrell, whose candidacy we characterized last week as a "joke." State Auditor Cook had 2301 votes while J. Arthur Baker his opponent carried the city with a total of 2030, but was defeated in the state.

The six candidates for Attorney General made an impressive showing on the ballot, but Asst. Attorney General Jay R. Benton was way in the lead here, as in the rest of the state, he had 3861, Wilson had 690, Drury, 406, Cavanagh, 190, Donnell, 187 and Bodfish 93.

Senator Lodge had a flattering vote of 4806 to 961 for Joseph Walker.

Congressman Robert Luce and Councillor Smith were unopposed. Representative Abbott B. Rice made a fine run for the nomination for state Senator, receiving 3772 votes to 1443 for Merriam, and his lead here more than equalled the Merriam majorities in the other places in the district.

The six candidates for District Attorney for Middlesex split the vote in all directions. Reilly, Democrat, running for the Republican nomination as well as the Democratic, received 1617 republican votes. Undoubtedly due to the strong endorsement given him by District Attorney E. P. Saltonstall. Reilly was second with 1175 and incidentally carried the district by about 5-00 votes. Harvey was third with 819, Pearson next with 745, Haines had 478 and Drouet, 204.

The greatest local interest centered around the three nominations for Representatives to the General Court. There were ten candidates and all sorts of combinations were possible, as well as bullet voting. Alderman Leverett Saltonstall, comparatively unknown, astonished everyone with a total vote of 3853, leading in every precinct but three. Representative Brimblecom was second with 2746. Representative Early, third with 2259. Alderman Hollis gave Mr. Early a close call for the third nomination having 2389 votes. The other candidates were far below the leaders, Brewer having 1089, about half of which was in his own section of the city. Alderman Ross had 911, Alderman Young 507, Colon S. Ober, 871, Reuben Fokk II, 480 and Alderman Smith 376.

The Democratic vote was light, as usual, Fitzgerald leading for Governor with 325, Ely had 58, Sullivan 54 and Foss 28. For Lieutenant Governor, O'Leary had 162, Doherty 160 and Cummings 91. McGhee for Secretary had 311, Venable for Treasurer, 305, Cram for Auditor, 310, Swift for Attorney General 229, Caston for U. S. Senator 275, Whipple 142, Walsh 47 and Sharp 4. Favinger for State Senate had 219 and Miss Audick for Representative had 242. Reilly for District Attorney had 181 and Doherty 169.

For the minor offices the Democrats made no nominations, while those by the Republicans were unopposed. Barlow for County Commissioner had 4519, Smith for Clerk of Courts, 4622, Leighton for Register of Deeds, 4728, Hildfield for County Treasurer, 4964 and Clark for State Committee, 4054.

The following members of the committee and delegates to the state convention were unopposed for election.

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Being the story of the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association

Our next stop was for a convention of three days in the attractive little city of Missoula, where we named the "Garden City" of Montana and which compares most favorably with Newton, the Garden City of Massachusetts. Missoula is located at the junction of five valleys and is surrounded with snow capped mountains. It has many miles of paved streets, excellent stores, many of them as large as those in Boston, and fine residences. It supports two flourishing daily papers, one issued in the morning and one in the afternoon and was evidently glad to see our Association as its main streets were gay with banners and flags in its honor.

The city has but 15,000 population and its hotels were unable to care adequately for our party of over 200, so my family were entertained at the charming home of Dr. and Mrs. Spottswood during our stay in Missoula, and we certainly appreciated and enjoyed the whole hearted and warm hospitality of the west while their guests. As this was our convention city and as I had to preside at the meetings, I was unable to drive about the city as much as I would have liked, but from all quarters I heard nothing but praise of the city and of the committee in charge of our entertainment.

We met in the lodge room of the local lodge of Elks, a splendid building well arranged and most comfortable.

Our program included notable addresses by Governor Dixon of Montana, Mayor Beacom of Missoula, National Commander MacNider of the American Legion and Mr. Charles F. Kelley, President of the Anaconda Mining Company, as well as many of our members. I was honored by the Association with a unanimous election as President. It is an honor which I greatly value, as the Association includes some 1700 newspaper publishers from all over the United States.

After our convention adjourned the first day, we took a 50 mile automobile drive up the Blackfoot valley to Salmon Lake, the summer home of Mr. W. A. Clark, Jr. The house and grounds are across a narrow arm of Lake from the road, and we were ferried over in motor boats and row boats. An outdoor lunch was followed by a vaudeville entertainment which we all enjoyed. On the second evening there was a banquet which was out of the usual run on account of the address of General MacAlexander of the U. S. A. The general gave us a vivid picture of the Battle of the Marne and of the work of his division which earned for it the title of the "Rock of the Marne." He followed this with a stirring appeal which aroused our patriotism to the highest degree. General MacAlexander ought to be assigned to duty as a lecturer and sent to all parts of the country. I am sure he would make better Americans of us all.

The General was in Missoula to take part in the reproduction of the battle of Chateau Thierry, which the War Department had arranged for our entertainment. This was given the next evening on the hillside in front of the Fair grounds. Our party was seated in the grand stand and the grounds were packed with thousands of spectators from all the surrounding country.

The deep boom of the 75's echoing, blanketed by the pall of smoke which hung over the battle field, the sharp crack of the shrapnel bursting overhead, the crash of shells bursting with a concussion that shook the stands a mile away, rockets and flares, the rattling of machine guns and a continuous tattoo of rifle fire from the doughboys brought to the thousands of spectators from all over the northwest some of the small realization of the "hell the boys who fought on the western front have gone through."

The military spectacle opened at 8.30 in the evening, the army planes flying about in reconnaissance and combat work. A typical French village was bombed and destroyed while various signal rockets played through the air above the flaming ruins.

Dense clouds of smoke emitted from smoke bombs spread over the valley from the battlefield, and from behind it came the muffled report of cannon belching forth.

A momentary lull in the firing came just before the hour of 9.30 P. M. and then all hell broke loose with a roar as the barrage from the American guns laid down on the wire entanglement in front of the enemy trenches.

For a time there was some desultory

HELPFUL BANKING

A Bank of real service does more than receive your deposits, rent safe deposit boxes or pay your checks.

The ideal banking is true co-operation, investment advice, financing worthy business and making Home Ownership possible.

With assets of nearly $6,000,000.00 this bank is ready to continue constructive work with business men, professional men or women and the Home Builders.

Our policy of the past, which today places the Waltham Trust Company in the foreground of safe and strong banks, will still be followed.

With all the essential conservatism for "Safety First" viewing the Depositors Funds as a distinct Trust, it is still possible for a progressive bank to keep a vital interest in the community development.

Coal Shortage

As a result of the coal and railroad strikes, it is evident New England householders face a serious shortage of fuel during the coming winter. The gravity of the situation is not generally realized by the public.

Perfection Oil Heaters will be of the utmost help in overcoming the discomfort and inconveniences incident to this fuel shortage. We have ordered a large supply of heaters which we hope will take care of the demands of our customers.

It will be to your advantage, therefore, immediately to give most careful consideration to your heater requirements and place your order with us at once.

Immediate attention to this matter is essential for the supply of heaters will of necessity be limited—we do not want our customers to suffer this winter for lack of heat.

firing from the big guns of the enemy but soon these were silenced.

Shortly after the doughboys' advance across the field pitted with shell holes could be followed by the flashes from their rifle fire, and as an occasional star-shell lighted the ground they lay like dead men, until darkness again enveloped them before pushing on.

Through it all the intermittent flashing of signals from various observation posts could be seen. Two and three star signals, red, white and green, shot into the sky from time to time, guiding the men in their advance through broken wire entanglements, shell holes and battered trenches.

To the spectators the battle may have been a bit too realistic, as they could not see the advancing lines clearly enough, but to the men who had been through the real hell-fire of battles, it was all too real for them, it brought back the memory that each flash was the harbinger of a messenger of death. The rat-tat-tat of machine guns meant more than a bit of noise on the distant hillside as he pictured days gone by when his buddies tumbled into oblivion to that same music.

With a final outburst of rifle fire from the opposing infantrymen the American doughboys captured the final line of trenches with a rush and "up and at 'em, fellahs," that had all the zest and earnestness of a real fray.

A moment later a number of flares lighted the field and Old Glory was hoisted to a mast while the band, which had been playing all the old war tunes for the audience during the battle, struck up the "With the Star Spangled Banner." The audience stood in silent respect to our national emblem and to those who have paid the supreme sacrifice upon the field in keeping its ideals untrammeled.

The last day of our stay in Missoula, we were the guests of the residents of the Bitter Root valley, said to be one of the most beautiful and richest valleys in the west. It is noted for its McIntosh apples and produces crops of all kinds valued at $2,000,000 a year. The Bitter Root range of mountains on the west is one of the most beautiful mountain ranges I have ever seen and was a constant source of delight as we rode for nearly 90 miles up the valley. It is in this valley that the late Marcus Daly, the copper king made his summer home, and we drove through the grounds of his estate on our way back. Near the upper end of the valley is the little village of Darby, said to have the highest range of any place in the country in percentage of its inhabitants who entered the world war. It is said that with about 300 population 108 men and boys enlisted from this little hamlet. The people of this village honored us by closing all the business in the place for the day, and lining the main street with evergreen trees and a banner across the street bearing the word "Welcome."

A few miles farther on we came to Medicine Springs, where we enjoyed a most delicious dinner of brook trout. It is said that over 500 pounds of trout had been caught for this affair. We shall certainly remember with pleasure our day in Bitter Root valley, even if it did involve 130 miles of disagreeable automobile travel.

SCHOOL NOTES

With a formidable number of public hearings on its docket, the first meeting of the aldermen following the summer vacation on Monday evening started out to be a record breaker in length of session, especially as one of the hearings was on the important and much discussed matter of zoning. But the unexpected happened—the hearing took but little time and the board was able to adjourn at 10 o'clock.

President Hollis was in the chair and Aldermen Jewell and Pratt were the only absentees.

The first matter of business was the filling of a vacancy in the board by the resignation of Alderman F. E. Banfield, Jr. of Ward 6. Alderman Saltonstall proposed and Alderman White seconded the name of Mr. Norman F. Pratt of Newton Centre and he was then unanimously elected to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the present year. Mr. Pratt was then sworn in by the City Clerk and took his seat in the board.

On the following hearings no one appeared and the petitions were subsequently granted.—Edison poles on Richardson street, Rossmore street, Hunnewell terrace, Middlesex road, Kingsbury road, Edison and Telephone pole on Prentice road, petitions of Herbert Swanson to increase to 3000 gallons permit for gasoline at 1174 Beacon street, Cole Hardware Co. to sell gasoline at 911 Boylston street, McManus & Holian for automobile repair shop at 5 Park street, H. A. Wilder, Newton Theological Institution, Louis H. Fitch and R. A. Nordblom to keep fuel oil on their premises.

No one appeared at the following hearings.—H. W. Marshall for 3-car garage Victoria circle, Beacon Motor Sale Co. for service station at Beacon & Union streets, relative to the Newtonville drain, for sewer in Pond street, for laying out of Dorset road and for discontinuance of present building line and establishing a new building line on Washington street at Auburn street.

Considerable opposition developed to petition of Dr. C. L. Overlander for permit for a 4-car garage on Jewett street. Dr. Overlander explained that he owned 7 houses with 14 families and needed a garage for their use. The permit was protested by Messrs. Fredey, Craig and others.

A representative of Boston College appeared in favor of its petition to keep fuel oil and it was granted. A representative of the Colonial Filling Stations spoke in favor of its petition for a filling station corner of Washington and Cross streets.

There were numerous protests against the proposed widening of Dedham street to 60 feet from the West Roxbury line to Walnut street. Rev. W. M. Mick said that an assessment of $3.75 a running foot meant ruin to the abutters. Mr. Hartman for himself and the Charles River Country Club opposed a 60 foot street and favored an 80 foot street as originally petitioned for. He thought the city ought to keep the street safe for traffic. James P. Esty, the Chas. F. Coburn estate, Harry Burke, F. S. Esty, George M. Heston also protested.

Mr. George M. Stone was opposed to the widening of Walnut street to 60 feet, as a continuation of the Dedham street project.

Mr. J. Earle Parker favored the laying out of Locke road and Mr. W. F. Garcelon for A. D. Locke did not oppose provided the drainage was adequate.

Chairman E. E. Kent of the school committee spoke in favor of taking land to enlarge the present Underwood school lot on Baldwin, Vernon and Eldredge streets, saying that the plans called for a 16-room building, shaped like the letter L and that it could not be put on the present school lot. It was proposed to use the area of land inside the L for a small playground.—Mrs. George D. Byfield opposed the taking of her land and a written protest was also filed by F. W. Whiting.

There was apparently little public interest in the proposed zoning ordinance, and there was nothing definite before the board for action. After a five minute recess President Hollis said the hearing would be a general discussion of the subject. Mr. J. C. Irwin of Newtonville said he was thoroughly convinced that the original ordinance would more nearly satisfy residents of his village. Mr. Chas. E. Gibson, chairman of the Planning Board, spoke on the same line saying that the amended ordinance failed to give us zoning worthy of the name. Mr. Henry Whitmore said the zoning ordinance as a whole was a proper one, although he personally would be willing to have one district for single and double houses but not allow apartment houses in such a district. He believed the city must protect itself against the apartment house or we would see the end of Newton as it is today.

Rev. Mr. Cook said that the combination of residence and apartment houses meant the death of residence districts. He thought the apartment house belonged in a class by itself and that two family houses belonged with the single residences. He characterized the amended ordinance as "fundamentally at fault."

Mayor Childs sent in a veto of the permit for garage for the Sawyer Construction Co. on Elmore street. He was quoted to have said that his objections to the permit had been removed and the permit was then passed over the veto unanimously. The mayor recommended appropriations for pensions to Peter Brady, John Kelley and Patrick Fitzpatrick, appointed John Coakley, Jr. and Francis J. Regan as public weighers and appointed the following additional election officers.

Ward 2, Precinct 2. Inspectors, William H. Zoller (R); Thomas L. Driscoll (D).

Ward 3, Precinct 1. Inspectors, George A. Haynes (R); Thomas J. Bradley (D).

Ward 3, Precinct 2. Inspectors, James H. Sawyer (R); Francis J. Barry (D).

Ward 4, Precinct 1. Inspectors, Francis McGill (R); A. Leslie Moriarty (D).

Ward 5, Precinct 2. Inspectors, Albert H. Mellen (R); Louis J. Mullen (D).

Ward 6, Precinct 1. Inspectors, Francis J. Linehan (D); Howard P. Fessenden (R).

Ward 6, Precinct 2. Inspectors, Francis E. Maher (D); C. Forknall Kendall (R).

The mayor also recommended $30 for land damages on Glenwood avenue extension, $9054 for reconstruction of drain at Linwood avenue, $345 for new flooring at the City Home, and he also sent in the recommendation of the Street Commissioner for $13,300 additional on the garbage contract for the balance of the year.

Street Commissioner Stuart sent in usual schedules for moth and street sprinkling assessments and they were approved. He also reported the cost of curbing on Webster street as $88, curbing on Green street as $445.54, curbing on Dalby street as $2904.27 and sidewalk on Commonwealth avenue as $2588.80.

City Engineer Rogers also submitted schedules for sewer charges and assessments.

These petitions were granted.—auctioneer licenses to T. D. Murphy, D. Bradley Rich and Chas. Scipione, taxi licenses to George W. Chase, Patrick F. Sweeney, and A. J. Sampson, victualler license to J. E. Palolan, at 325 Walnut street, intelligence office at 279 Tremont street to Julia W. Keene private garages to Grada Visco Allison street, M. J. Herlihy, Edinboro street, R. A. Nordblom, Colbert road, H. J. Brown, Winchester street, Grace J. Hill, Pleasant street, J. L. Campbell, Lexington street, Helen M. Robinson, Ridge road, C. J. Davis, 924 Watertown street, S. Picariello, Westland avenue, M. L. Roope, Birch Hill road, H. L. Tange, Aspen avenue and Wallace Egerton, Neshobe road, Edison attachments on Newbury street, Walnut street and Bowers street, Edison and Telephone relocation on Woodbine street and removal of pole on Waverley street and telephone attachments on Carlton road, and of T. Stuart Sons Co. to enter sewer on Washington street at less than usual grade.

Petitions were received for private garages from Z. E. Cliff, Newtonville avenue, F. W. McAleer, Warwick road, G. M. Briggs, Clark place, Lucy H. Snow, Eddy street, and L. W. Grant, Ardmore road, of Anthony Scazzini for victualler license, 207 Islington road, Henry J. O'Meara for reimbursement on account of sewer in Algonquin road, W. A. Edwards claim for damages to automobile, Margaret Martin claim for damages on account of fall on Elliot street, Daniel Horgan that heavy teaming be prohibited on Jackson road, for street sprinkling on Lake terrace, for sewers in Salisbury road, Nobscot road, Waverley avenue and Merton street, and for laying out of Cranberry lane and Owatona street. The Public Works committee recommended that the Middlesex & Boston street railway company should renew its rails on Walnut street and that the street should be resurfaced.

Leave to withdraw was granted on petition of Fannie W. Fogg for abatement of sewer assessment on Woodward street.

Hearings were ordered on taking land for sewers in Alban road and Acacia avenue.

On the matter of zoning Alderman White stated that it was hoped to present an ordinance on Oct. 2nd, which would be acceptable to all interested.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Almost 100 candidates responded to the Newton High gridiron call of 1922, and for the last ten days Coach Dickinson has had this large squad of a few veterans and a number of recruits under his watchful eye. Newton got away to an early start and after two weeks of conditioning the boys are prepared to enter upon the strenuous campaign to determine the men who will compose the varsity eleven.

It is a common practice among sporting writers to cover columns of space commenting on the first workouts of the training season. Especially is this true in football and baseball. It is not our intention to follow in this run. We could give you the names of all the candidates and could insert an encouraging remark for each of them. But such remarks would be entirely guess work on our part and hence utterly without value. Therefore, if we fail to wax enthusiastic over "the promising crop of candidates" and neglect to say that so and so looms up as a new star in the scholastic firmament, it is only because we don't believe in "kidding" you or ourselves into swallowing any such trash. Undoubtedly there are several hidden gems in the 1922 Newton squad but we must plead ignorance until Coach Dickinson uncovers them.

Certainly Newton will miss several members of last year's championship eleven. The departure of such athletes as Capt. "Jake" Stafford, "Herb" Garrity, "Shad" Osborne, Leahy, Jenkins, and Esty is sufficient to cripple the average high school team. But it is the very fact that Newton has no average high school teams and above all the fact that Newton has no average Coach, that eliminates these many handicaps which go with a new season. Coach Dickinson seeks only the material with which to work. Given this material we do not fear for the results. Julius Kohler, who played full back on the 1921 Championship, is captain of the 1922 Orange and Black eleven. He is the only player we will mention in this issue but by the time next Friday rolls around we promise to have many more names printed in this column.

The Newton schedule for this season is made up of the same teams which faced the Orange and Black in 1921. Quincy High will be the first to meet Newton, the inaugural date being set for Saturday, Sept. 30. Last fall Quincy gave Newton a stern tussle in the opener, Dickinson's men winning by a single touchdown. The 1922 Quincy eleven is a veteran outfit and according to statistics, which may or may not mean a thing, it looks as if the 1922 Newton baptism will also prove interesting. The week following the Quincy game Newton makes its annual trip to Franklin to oppose the usually strong Dean Academy second team. This game makes the close of preliminary skirmishes and the big Suburban race is under way on Columbus Day. Coach George Brickley bringing his Everett team to Clifton Field for some real excitement. Just like the movie serial, "continued here next week."

Auburndale

—Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Grout of Central street are leaving Auburndale for Wellesley Farms. They will be much missed by their many friends.

—Dr. John E. Merrill and family are also moving to Newtonville. They have been valuable members of the Congregational church of Auburndale.

—The opening meeting of the Senior Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church will take place at 6.30 next Sunday. The service will be a special service for college young people.

—The Annual Field Day of the Congregational church school will be held tomorrow afternoon on the lawn of the church. Mr. Felix Ranlett, the associate superintendent will be in charge.

—The Church School of the Messiah Commonwealth avenue and Auburn St. will resume its sessions next Sunday at 12 o'clock. The church services will be at 7.30 and 10.30 A. M., the rector Rev. P. M. Wood officiating.

—Through the kindness of Miss Sarah M. Dike, two pictures and a handsome fireplace, from the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Dike, are presented to the church and parsonage of the Congregational Church.

—The opening meeting of the Mothers Association was held in the chapel of the Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon. The speaker was Mrs. David Black of Melrose, and her subject, "The Psychology of Motherhood and Child Training."

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Currier Eddy of Woodbine street entertained as their guests for the week-end, Mr. Samuel Alden Eddy of Canaan, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. William Simonson Eddy of Plainfield, N. J., and Mr. James Williamson Eddy of Boston, all of whom were here to attend the Annual Meeting of the Eddy Family Association, held in Boston on September 9.

—Rev. Percival M. Wood, Rector of the Church of the Messiah, attended this week in Philadelphia, a meeting of the Educational and Service activities Convention of the Interdenominational Young Peoples Commission. Mr. Wood is a member of the Commission representing for the central department of Religious Education of the Episcopal Church, the interest of that Commission in Young People's Societies.

—Mrs. J. R. Draper has been appointed Assistant Home Demonstration Agent for the Middlesex County Bureau of Agriculture and Home Economics. The Mass. Agricultural College and the United States Department of Agriculture co-operate with the Middlesex Bureau, whose headquarters are at 12 Moody street, Waltham. Mrs. Draper will give demonstrations and with her assistant teach classes in millinery throughout the county. She will also teach some clothing, basketry, and cane-sewing. The Home Department of the Bureau has grown very rapidly the last four years, and is reaching groups of women in nearly every city and town of Middlesex County.

Are a Revelation in Clothing Values to All Who Have Seen Them

FOR over twenty-four years Griffin's has been noted as a store of dependability and quality where only merchandise of merit and substantial value could find place. It was inevitable, therefore, when we decided to install a new department of Men's Clothing, that we would search for a line of clothes that would measure up to Griffin standards in every detail.

In Stratford Clothes nationally known as the "Style Clothes of America," we believe we have found that exceptional brand of clothing that measures up to our ideals—and yours.

Stratford Clothes, are absolutely the last word in modern clothes making. Not alone are they distinctive because of tasteful style in designing but also because of the exclusive fabrics from which they are fashioned.

Stratford Individualities

Stratford coats, being made without body linings, wear infinitely longer. No linings to wear out. Stratford coats are made with two-way pockets, permitting you to use the regulation flap pocket or a welt pocket if preferred. Stratford trousers are made with double thickness at crotch. Double fabric means double strength. Stratford trouser pockets are made with double stays. Pockets will not sag, and trousers give longer wear.

Stratford Clothes

EDITORIAL

I am most grateful to the Republican men and women of Newton for the splendid vote given me in the recent campaign for the nomination for representative to the General Court. I shall endeavor to justify the confidence shown me by their votes by performing the duties of that office to the best of my ability.

J. C. Brimblecom.

The residents of Newtonville are justly stirred up over the school accommodations and the manner in which the children are being cared for until the new Junior High School is completed. The contractor for the new building has until October 1st to complete his work and in the meantime the school committee has placed the children who are to enter the new building, in the Horace Mann and the Clafin buildings, from which the former portable buildings have been removed. The result is over crowding and the parents rightly feel that their children are not receiving the care they should. In our opinion the school committee ought to have planned its program so as to use the new Junior High school not earlier than January 1st, in which case the present unpleasant situation would not have occurred. Hurrying the completion of the new school is not conducive to good work and for a building of that size it is good policy to allow at least a year for its construction.

As a personal friend of both Governor Cox and Attorney General Allen, the editor has been in a difficult position during the recent campaign, and these gentlemen for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. We fully realize the admirable administration which Governor Cox has given the Commonwealth the past two years and have frequently complimented him on the high character of his appointments. We supported the candidacy of Mr. Allen, not only from local pride but from the honor which would come to the city as the home once again of a governor of the Commonwealth, but because the Attorney General gave the editor his prompt and valuable assistance two years ago in determining the authorship and responsibility of a reprehensible political circular. We shall give Governor Cox our whole-hearted support in the future as we have in the past.

The political campaign which closed with the primary on Tuesday was one which reflects little credit on both parties. Personalities, misrepresentations and half truths were the weapons freely used in many of the contests for party nominations on both tickets and seemed to be more general than ever before. We believe that a return to the former convention system, with its details properly safeguarded, would be a great improvement on the present direct primary and would prevent many of the regrettable features which have characterized the recent campaign.

The residents of Dedham street have a right to protest against placing on them the entire cost of widening and improving that street. The proper solution of that problem would be the taking of the land for an 80-foot street and the construction of an ordinary width road in the center of such a location. The road would satisfy the needs of the present and the widened location would provide for the future. It has also been suggested that it might be advisable to have Dedham street made a state highway.

In next of the important offices to be filled next November, the real election was that held at the primary last Tuesday and it is a matter of regret that less than 7000 Newton voters out of a registration of over 18,000 took enough interest to exercise their right of franchise. If improper selections were made on Tuesday, the stay at home voters have only themselves to thank.

The public hearing on a zoning ordinance attracted but little attention, doubtless due to the general feeling that the matter has been so thoroughly thrashed out that the passage of some ordinance of the kind is certain, and the minor details do not interest the average citizen.

The selection of Mr. Norman F. Pratt of Newton Centre to fill the vacancy in the board of aldermen caused by the resignation of Alderman Banfield is to be commended. Both Mr. Banfield and Mr. Pratt are the kind of men Newton should have in its city government.

Mr. John M. Merriam wishes the Graphic to express his thanks to his old friends for their loyalty and to his new friends for their confidence in him during the recent senatorial campaign.

The victory of Senator Lodge was not unexpected but with Mr. Gaston as his Democratic opponent, it will take a united Republican party to ensure his election next November.

CAMP MARY DAY

The Newton Girl Scouts who were fortunate enough to be able to spend a few days at Camp Mary Day this summer are most enthusiastic about it. Camp Mary Day is the Newton Girl Scout Camp. It is situated on Nonesuch Pond just on the boundary line between Wellesley and Natick, and it is an ideal spot for a Camp. Pretty walks, good hiking country, and a beautiful little pond with good bathing and boating furnish everything that one could wish for in a Camp and all so accessible to girls from all parts of Newton. The Camp was opened on August first by Miss Caroline Freeman of West Newton, Director of the Newton Girl Scouts; Miss Doris Lovel of West Newton, Captain of Troop 7; Miss Elizabeth Carter of Newtonville, Lieutenant of Troop 7; Miss Margaret Ball of Newton, Lieutenant of Troop 2a, and a group of Scouts from Troop 2—the Newton Troop. Since that time 82 Scouts and leaders have visited the Camp. Each group has had only a short time in Camp as owing to the delay in finishing the Camp house the season has been necessarily short, but the girls are looking forward to another summer when their visits may be longer. Scouts will be in Camp Fridays and Saturdays during September and October. Parents of Scouts, or friends who are interested in the organization and would like to see the Camp will be welcome on Saturday afternoons between 2.30 and 4.30 o'clock. Four miles beyond Norumbega Park on South avenue you will see the sign.

"MARKET DAY"

Only one thing is necessary for the complete success of "Market Day," to be held by the Woman's Auxiliary, on the Y. M. C. A. grounds, Tuesday, Sept. 25th, from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., that is, the generous cooperation of all friends. If you have—Flowers, fruits, vegetables, canned goods, their natural state, notify Miss Abby, 244 Franklin street, N. N. 39, cooked food, of any kind, notify Mrs. Miner Robinson, 51 Park avenue, N. N. 1200. Articles for the handicraft table send to Mrs. D. W. Anders, 44 Pearl street, N. N. 2736-R. Remnants, accumulating in your piece boxes, send to Mrs. E. T. Wetherbee, 21 Orchard street, N. N. 2994-J. Articles suitable for 25 cent mystery packages send to Mrs. H. P. Fuller, 136 Washington street, N. N. 1480. Candy and candy boxes send to Mrs. W. L. Sampson, 321 Tremont street, N. N. 1753-M. Second hand boxes may be left at the Y. M. C. A. building, Church street.

Last, but not least, come yourself, with all the family, to enjoy the amusements, children's "grabs," refreshments and luncheon.

DIES ON GOLF LINKS

Dr. John R. Slattery, superintendent and physician in chief at St. Elizabeth's hospital at Brighton, died suddenly while playing golf at the Woodland Golf Club last Monday afternoon. Dr. Slattery was playing with his brother, Rev. Lawrence W. Slattery, pastor of the Church of Our Lady, and seemed in good health, until he fell while on the 18th green, and died before he could be removed to the club house. Dr. Slattery resided on Grasse street, Newton, and was one of the most prominent physicians in New England. He was 55 years of age. The funeral services were held at the Church of the Presentation in Faneuil and were attended by many prominent Catholics, including Cardinal O'Connell.

LOBBIES - 6

The meeting last Tuesday of Garden City Grange was made an Educational Fund night. The speakers were Ernest Cobb of Newton, and C. V. Heald of Needham.

After the meeting there was a shadow auction of many baskets filled with appetizing food, but soon devoured. From the sale was realized a large amount of money for the Educational Aid Fund of the Massachusetts State Grange. The Fund is loaned to members, deserving college education, at 2 per cent. About 200 members have been assisted since the Fund was established.

AUBURNDALE CLUB HOUSE

The work on the improvement of the Club House is progressing and though we cannot avail ourselves of all its advantages, the Board of Directors are pleased to announce that it will be partially open on and after Saturday evening, September sixteen.

The bowling alleys and pool tables will be available and there will be opportunity for games.

New members, as well as the older ones, are urged to take this opportunity to enjoy the sociability and good fellowship of the club.

MR. RICE IS GRATEFUL

To the Voters of Newton:
I want to thank the Voters of Newton for the support given me at the recent primaries. A finer testimonial no candidate could ask. I appreciate it the more because it came as a recognition of the efforts I have made during the past four years to serve the City to the best of my ability. If elected, as I expect to be, I shall continue to give to the performance of my duties the best that is in me.

Sincerely yours,
ABBOTT B. RICE.

CITY HALL

A special meeting of the aldermen was held Tuesday evening to draw jurors for the September session of the Superior court at Cambridge. Albert H. Morrill, Grove street, Harrison Hyson, Watertown street, M. B. Chipman of Washington street, and Wm. W. Colton of Bellevue street being drawn.

136 building permits were issued in August with an estimated value of over $700,000, of which $435,000 was in single residences.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

The editor of the school column wishes to thank the principals and teachers of the different schools for their kindly cooperation in the past, and to ask for further cooperation during the coming year, promising to do her part to make the column of real value to the community.

As much interest is being expressed in the arrangements which are being made for the pupils of the different schools preparatory to the coming of the Junior High School, the following may be noted:

The 3rd of the 9th grades from the Stearns, Horace Mann and Clafin Schools are at the Horace Mann School.

The 1st and 2nd year from the Stearns District are at the Stearns School.

The 1st year of the Horace Mann are at the Horace Mann School. The 1st year of the Clafin School, and the 2nd year of the Horace Mann and Clafin Schools are at the Clafin School.

A small group of 1st year pupils from the Peirce School are at the Horace Mann School, the remainder of the 1st and all of the 2nd year pupils remaining at the Peirce School.

Teachers are distributed as follows: At the Peirce School Miss Durand and Miss Goodenow; at the Horace Mann School, Miss Fales, Miss Scheid, Miss Grenier, Miss Johnston, and Miss Hackett; at the Stearns School, Miss Kingman, Miss Phillips, Miss Manning and Mr. Dacey; at the Horace Mann School, Miss Sanborn, Miss Pierce, Mrs. Chandler and Miss Hinkley.

Burr School and Williams School

The Burr School is at present engaged in organizing its departmental work.

The Williams School is rejoicing in its new equipment which includes new adjustable furniture, new blackboard, and new floors.

Stearns

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow had a most enjoyable summer at the Sea Pines Summer Camp at Brewster on the Cape.

Miss Trask who spent last year teaching in Miss Branson's private school in San Rafael, California, has returned to the Stearns School, where she received a warm welcome.

The Junior High pupils in the Stearns School are meeting as follows: Miss Kingman and Mr. Dacey's group of about seventy-five, in the hall, Miss Manning's group in the sloyd room, Miss Phillips' group in the cooking room.

Candidates for the football team will be formally called out next Tuesday afternoon. The boys are anxious to repeat their success of last year. The material is of a high standard, and ought to develop into a worthy Stearns team.

Bigelow

School opened Sept. 11 with an enrollment of 482. Of these 57 are in the portable building, which has recently been placed in the northeast corner of the school yard. This temporarily relieves the crowded conditions both in the Bigelow and Underwood schools.

Miss Gibbs comes to Bigelow to teach a third grade, Miss Brown is the new building assistant, and Miss Seavey takes Miss Scully's place as instructor in cooking.

The boys appreciate the new benches equipped with good tools which have been added to the sloyd room during vacation.

Seventh and Eighth grades are being conducted this year wholly upon the departmental plan. In these grades the following clubs have also been formed—a literary club, a science club, a music club, and a debating club.

The girls of Eighth Grade have two captain-ball teams and have already begun their fall series of games.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The Newton High Schools reopened for the fall term on Monday, Sept. 12. The Freshman class was smaller than usual, due to the fact that a great many will go to the new Junior High School in Newtonville.

There are new concrete walks around the Classical High School, which make a very attractive addition to the grounds.

Mrs. Bemis, a teacher in the Vocational High School, has returned to her duties after a year's leave of absence.

Eight minutes a day are devoted to a "rigid setting-up exercise, given by student leaders who were instructed by Doctor Martin, physical instructor. These exercises aid the students, both mentally and physically, and have proved a great success.

The Seniors in the Technical High School have already organized a traffic squad to aid in the passing of pupils in a week or so. At present the students pass more orderly and rapidly.

A great many teachers of all the Newton High Schools have left to take up new duties in the Frank A. Day Junior High School in Newtonville.

This school is not completed yet, but is expected to be ready for the pupils in a week or so. At present the students who will enter this school are studying at the Clafin and Horace Mann Schools.

Looking In on Congress From the House Gallery

THE STORY OF A BILL

By CONGRESSMAN GUY U. HARDY

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

About the easiest thing in the world for a member of congress to do is to introduce a bill.

All one needs to do is to write the bill out on a piece of paper and put it in the basket on the clerk's desk. Then it has been introduced.

Many bills are introduced, but few are passed. In the last congress 13,170 bills and 559 joint and concurrent resolutions were introduced in the house and 5,052 bills and 394 joint and concurrent resolutions in the senate.

Out of all of these, 69 public resolutions and 521 bills passed and became laws of the land. The record for the greatest number of bills introduced was made in the Sixty-first congress, when 34,383 bills and resolutions were introduced in the house alone, out of which 810 became law.

When the clerk gets hold of the bill he refers it to the appropriate committee. And there it may rest in peaceful slumber forever more, or it may be heard from again if enough pressure is exerted in its favor.

Out home a good friend of mine suggested once that he didn't like this committee system; he thought that each member should give individual consideration to every bill introduced. Imagine it, if you can.

No man can read fast enough to keep up with all bills introduced.

Most committees get more bills referred to them than can be given intelligent consideration. So, naturally, the bills which have the greatest support in the country get first consideration. Congress gives first consideration to the appropriation and revenue bills. These and some other bills of nation-wide importance come along automatically.

Hearings on Bills

When a committee decides to give consideration to a bill, if it concerns many people or interests, hearings are held. That is, people interested are invited to come in and tell the committee why they think the bill should or should not become a law.

Sometimes these hearings are quite elaborate affairs. Some last several weeks and hundreds of people come from all over the country to testify for or against the bill. The tariff bill hearing brought experts and prominent representatives of every line of industry to Washington.

The appropriations committee has 35 members, the ways and means 25 members and other important committees have 21 members each. The members sit around a long table and the witness addresses them. The witness must know what he is talking about if he would make a good impression. Any member may interrupt him at any time with any question, and before he gets through the committee is likely to find out all he knows and some he doesn't know about his subject. The hearings are open to the public.

An official reporter takes down everything that is said, and later the hearings are printed in paper-bound book form. Some of these hearings, like that on the tariff, for instance, run into thousands of pages. They bring out a vast amount of useful information, and some of the printed hearings are practically textbooks on the subject discussed. The printed hearings are given to all members, so that they may become posted on any proposed legislation. Others who are interested may, at times, get copies.

After the hearings are closed the committee holds executive sessions and discusses the bill. It may decide not to report it out. This practically kills a bill. It may decide on some or many amendments to the bill, or it may rewrite the bill in another form, or it may report it out as it was introduced.

When the bill is reported out it goes on the calendar. There are several kinds of calendars, operating for different classes of bills under different rules.

Debating the Measure

The big bills come up in the committee of the whole house on the state of the Union. Debate is usually two or four hours, though any amount of time may be agreed upon. Sometimes 12 or 14 hours has been agreed on. The time is equally divided between the majority and minority sides. The greatest fairness as to division and distribution of time always prevails. The time is parceled out by the chairman of the committee in charge on the majority side and the ranking minority members on the other side.

The bill is first read. Then comes the debate. Sometimes members must stick to the subject under discussion and sometimes they are permitted to talk about anything under the sun. Here is where campaign speeches sometimes get in.

After the hours for general debate have been used up the bill is read again by sections for amendments. This is termed "reading the bill under the five-minute rule," as no member may talk more than five minutes, except by unanimous consent. No member can get the floor except to advocate or oppose an amendment. Members do often make a motion "to strike out the last word" or "last two words," etc., in order to get the floor for five minutes.

Many amendments are offered and usually some are adopted. On one bill over 300 amendments were offered. Often amendments are offered in order to weaken the bill and help to defeat it. Amendments not supported by the committee have hard sledding and few are passed. Occasionally amendments are offered by members merely to enable them to make a speech that may please constituents interested. It has been estimated that only about five per cent of the amendments offered on the floor are adopted.

When the bill is read through for amendments, which is the second reading, the committee of the whole votes on recommending its passage. If this is favorable the committee then "rises" and the speaker takes the chair and calls the house to order.

The chairman of the committee of the whole reports the proceedings to the speaker. Then the bill comes up for third reading. It is read by title only and voted on without further remarks or debate.

Fixed Up in Conference

If it is passed, the bill is sent to the senate and has the same rocky road to travel over there. Probably it will have sundry amendments tacked to it in the senate. Then it comes back to the house for another vote. If the house declines to accept the amendments put in by the senate, the bill is sent to conference. That is, a committee made up of a few senators and representatives, the ranking members on the committees that reported the bill out, consider all phases, endeavor to compromise differences, and when they agree, their report goes back to both houses and is usually adopted. Once in awhile the bill is sent back to conference several times, before one of the houses is satisfied.

Many a poor father of proposed legislation does not recognize his fond offspring when it is finally passed by both houses and is ready to be sent over for the President's signature.

There are several other ways of getting bills up in the house. Those pertaining to claims, and pensions, and of a private nature, come up under "unanimous consent." On consent day the father of the bill has good reason to be on the anxious seat, for a single member may "object" and prevent the consideration of the bill. Very seldom does a member object out of spite or on account of personal enmity. But there are a half dozen who make a specialty of studying these bills and stand ready to see that they are properly amended or objected to. And many an innocent looking little bill is choked to death on unanimous consent day.

Some bills come up under a special rule. The rules committee presents a resolution providing a special rule for consideration of a bill. The bonus bill, for instance, came up under a special rule. Four hours were allowed for debate and then the bill came up for vote without allowing any amendments to be offered. You had to take the bill the way it was or not at all. The object, of course, was to prevent unreasonable and harmful amendments being offered or adopted. Men often vote for an amendment and then vote against the bill.

Some think that a curb should perhaps be put on the introduction of so many bills, but that is hardly possible. Who would be competent to censor? Of course the greatest freedom in this respect must prevail. Let the congress and the country decide which are worthy and needful. As a matter of fact when you come to think about it, the wonder is that many more bills are not introduced, for practically every man and at most every woman in the country has in his or her system the idea of some new law or laws that in his or her opinion ought to be enacted. Many of these ideas of proposed new legislation find their way in the shape of bills to the basket on the clerk's desk in the house of representatives or in the senate. Many start there, but very few wind up at the White House seeking the President's signature.

Buncombe in Congress

When the Missouri compromise bill was up for final passage in the house of representatives in 1820, Henry Clay was pressing for a vote. A member from North Carolina had been begging for a little time. Mr. Clay tried diligently to put him off; there was no time to yield, the big bill should come up for a vote.

"But," retorted the industrious member, who had a speech in his system and wanted to get it out, "I must make a speech for Buncombe."

Thus, a hundred and two years ago, a new word was coined in a most unexpected manner, and it has come on down the century, growing in significance as it has been abbreviated.

Buncombe, bunkum, bunk—they all mean the same, and the meaning has not changed in the 102 years.

COMMUNITY SCHOOL

The Norumbega District Community School of Religious Education will open its second season on the evening of Monday, October 2, at 8 P. M., at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, with an address by Professor Francis P. Strickland, of Boston University School of Religion.

The committee in charge of the school, of which Mr. Nathan Heard of Newton is chairman, announces a strong program of courses, including Bible study, together with courses in the professional management of the church school, in educational structures including methods for various departments. The instructors include Dr. Herbert W. Gates, Director of the School; Prof. James P. Berkeley, of the Newton Theological Institution; Dr. Priscilla H. Fowle, Dean of Women and Instructor in Religious Education at the Newton Theological Institution; Mrs. Harry W. Fitts, of Newton; Miss Luliona Barker, Executive Secretary of the Norumbega District S. S. Association; and Miss Ruth I. Seabury, Young People's Secretary of the Women's Board of Missions, Boston.

This School is one of many such institutions whose value and importance is being recognized more and more all over the United States. The courses and credits offered are approved by the newly organized "International Sunday School Council of Religious Education," an organization which is the result of a merger between the denominational and inter-denominational forces of the whole country. This merger was ratified last June in Kansas City, Mo., by the Convention of the International Sunday School Association. It has for fifty years had the large share in the work of promoting Sunday School standards, and has, through its Lesson Committee, been responsible for outlining the courses of study used in most of the Sunday Schools of the country. In its organization it has been democratic and inter-denominational, though its committees have not been chosen officially by denominational overhead authorities.

The Sunday School of Evangelical Denominations, the second body which now combines to form the new "International Sunday School Council of Religious Education," was organized about twelve years ago by the educational officers of the various denominational boards, who felt that the Educational Boards in their official capacity should have a larger share of initiative in the planning of lessons and adopting of educational policies.

These two organizations have combined in order that we may have a more effective and unified administration and a more statesmanlike policy in Protestant Religious Education in America. The new body is charged with responsibility for leadership in promoting religious educational interests of all the Protestant Churches in the country, and will be an important factor in guiding the work of such organizations as the Norumbega District S. S. Association, is affiliated with new Council.

A LETTER

To OUR CUSTOMERS present and future:

Just because we carry "GOOD WILL" on our books at a dollar, it doesn't signify that it is only worth that much. Its real value is many thousands of dollars. We believe it is our greatest asset. There is a lot of pleasure in cultivating "GOOD WILL" and we intend to have it grow.

"Treat Them Right" is our motto,—that is all there is to it. Commencing with our own organization we see that our employees experience the pleasure of being treated right, and through them we know that it will be kept going until it reaches our customers and friends.

To Keep It Going is our problem. To be treated right, to feel that you are treated right, to know that you will be treated right, is enough to influence buyers to trade with those who want to treat them right.

We are "Those"—with modesty we proclaim it. Our business is to serve our patrons pure, clean natural ice. We guarantee Full Weight. We aim to make our service efficient, regular, dependable and we intend that our employees will be obliging.

Help us grow.

Why Looking Your Best is Most Economical

It's really most economical to look your best where clothes are concerned.

Garments neglected, out of press, filled with dust and grit, wear out faster.

We believe in the thriftiness of frequent dry-cleaning—and you will too, if you try it.

Say the word, and we will call tomorrow.

NEWTON Y.W.C.A.

Saturday, September 16, hike to Oak Hill, leave the Y.W.C.A. at 11:00 o'clock, bring box lunch.
Next Saturday, September 23, a trip to Cohasset is being planned, for further information call at the Y.W.C.A.
Plans are being made for winter activities which are to start the first week in October and which are to include classes in Millinery, Dress-making, Gymnasium, etc.

General Secretary, Miss Badger has been in Maine and New Hampshire the greater part of this summer and is now resuming her responsibilities.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Kick In," the Willard Mack drama, comes to the St. James this week with its underworld characters capably portrayed by the excellent players of the Boston Stock Company. The arrival of a "crook" play adds to the diversity of this week's theatrical offerings in Boston, and with the memory of Mr. Mack's "Smooth as Silk" still fresh in the minds of Boston theatregoers, his earlier play is assured of a warm welcome. The play is good melodrama because it has suspense in abundance, it achieves a really stirring climax, and its humor is the robust variety that is compounded of extravagant slang and shrewd observation.

PRESCRIBING LIQUOR SCORED BY DR. HOWARD A. KELLEY

Dr. Howard A. Kelley of Johns Hopkins University speaking before the Delaware legislature against the repeal of the state law, which forbids the prescribing of even the pint of liquor permitted in the Volstead act took the stand that the nation would be better off if physicians were forbidden to prescribe whiskey or brandy for their patients.

"Some 125 doctors of Delaware petitioned the legislature to retain the right of prescribing whiskey and brandy as provided under the Volstead act," said Dr. Kelley. "Others advocated its abrogation."

"Dr. Conwell, secretary of the State Board of Health, earnestly sustained my contention that whiskey and brandy are not medicines in any proper sense. It was stated subsequently that only a small percentage of the doctors on the petition actually prescribed alcohol. . . . In my address to the legislature I attempted to make these three points clear:

"First, that when I was a young practitioner, alcohol was universally given in almost all diseases; that in practically every one of these it has been finally abandoned as a routine treatment; that it was in reality a relic of the barbarous blood-letting age of medicine. Most of the far-sighted and best men in the profession declare against it, notably Frank Billings, of Chicago, and Charles Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., the latter declaring the only field of alcohol today lies in the arts and sciences. It has been pronounced against by the American Medical Association, and whiskey and brandy have been deleted from the pharmacopoeia.

"Second, the dangers of abuse of the privilege of prescribing these alcoholic potations vastly outweigh any possible problematic good. The permission given by the United States Government of a pint every ten days is, in my view, a folly, and degrading to the medical profession, as this act has no possible relation to medical use of alcohol. The act simply turns doctors into bartenders. The abuse is illustrated by the citations of one doctor who wrote 1,000 whiskey prescriptions in 24 hours.

"Third, the Delaware law was read and it was shown that it actually allows the prescription of alcohol, but of beverage liquors. Now, if 90 per cent alcohol is diluted to the alcoholic strength of whiskey or brandy this drug can be used exactly as these potables and with the same physiological effect. It is the alcoholic content of the fluid with which the doctors are concerned in their treatments. I closed with the most earnest petition I knew how to address to the medical profession to suffer an apparent wrong in order to eliminate this great nationwide iniquity."

NEWTON CENTRE
At the opening service of the Second Church in West Newton, last Sunday morning, Rev. J. Edgar Park preached an excellent sermon, taking the forty-sixth verse of the first chapter of St. John, as the text.

"It is a peculiar thing," said Mr. Park, "that you can't swim until you know how, and can't know how until you swim. Swimming just comes, you don't know how, but you find yourself swimming. It is a similar case with being religious. You do not know how to be religious until you are. There is something in religion for you, in your life, you are getting something out of it. Religion is commanding the forces of God in us.

"We do not all worship one God. He is different to different men. Your vocation and your mood are the influences which make of God, a Ruler, a Force, a Judge, a Spirit, a Father, a different times and at different tasks, or Servant. We think differently at different times and at different tasks.

"The religious life is the one that allows God to serve you spiritually.

"In the engineering world, the engineer never sits on the bank of a river, twiddling his thumbs; rather he is taking command of the forces of Nature and making them work for him. Engineering is a command of the forces of Nature without; Religion is command of the forces of God within.

"There is a disease attacking the tip-top shoots of the pines on the Cape. These shoots are the future of these trees. Such a disease seems comparable to the diseased civilization of the past twenty years of dancing craze, amusements craze, and war craze. The entire world dances, fifteen million people daily sit in motion picture houses in our country, and four years ago there were fifty-nine million men in arms. We have all been mad together. Something has diseased the upward shoots of the tree of life. But there is room for hope. Just as the reports on the tree are, that the trees will ultimately recover, so there is hope in civilization—it will ultimately recover.

"Here is religion's opportunity. It is concerned with these shoots which mean growth, the desire to aspire, to grow taller, and finer, is the life of the individual. The youth in us is not dead. Hope lies in the individual, which will spread to another and another and another until all is well again.

"The lesser things of life melt away when we come into the presence of a Spirit that is fine, real, and lofty. The presence of Jesus and God in our lives comes thru the practise of Godly and Christlike acts and thoughts. Get into closer touch with this Great Reservoir of Power, from which aspiration comes as a mystery until we all find ourselves clothed with His sympathy and His love."

William Lester Bates officiated at the organ and the double quartette sang. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed.

GODFREY-PATCHETT

A quiet wedding of September 6 was that of Miss Edith Patchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Patchett of 50 Auburn street, Auburndale, and Mr. Henry T. Godfrey of Arlington, in the presence of only the immediate families. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride the Rev. Percival M. Wood officiating. The double ring service was used.

Miss Patchett was attended by her sister, Miss Marie Patchett as bridesmaid and the bridegroom had as his best man Mr. Linwood Fessenden. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The Wedding March from Lohengrin was played by Mr. Clement C. Patchett, brother of the bride—also Simple Confession by Francis Thome, concluding with the Wedding March by Mendelssohn.

The bride was very charming in a pale green satin gown with overdress of net and rhinestones and veil of tulle. She carried a large bouquet of white brides roses. The bridesmaid was in white silk and carried pink roses.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey will be at home after Sept. 21, at 17 Fairmont street, Arlington.

BLUE-NIGHTINGALE

At a pretty home wedding Miss Lois Boylston Nightingale of Arlington became the bride on Saturday evening of Edward Warren Blue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blue of 243 California street, Newton. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Park Nightingale at 51 Jason street, Arlington. Rev. William R. Campbell, pastor of the Highland Congregational Church in Roxbury and an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony, using the double ring service.

Mr. Madeline I. Fuller of Fitchburg was the maid of honor, and Miss Marion F. Blue of Newton, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Katharine E. Holway of Arlington were bridesmaids. Henry K. Doane of Newtonville was best man, and the ushers were Ralph Hayes of Auburndale and Sherman Hall of Newton.

A reception followed the wedding. The bride is a graduate of the Wheelock Kindergarten Training School, and for two years taught in a private school in Cleveland and last year in the public schools of Springfield.

Mr. Blue is a graduate of Brown University, class of 1916, and there was a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity. He is now an instructor of mechanical engineering at the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, where the couple will make their home.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHNSON

Mrs. Eleanor R. Johnson, widow of Charles A. Johnson, died Tuesday morning at her home, 6 Merton street, Newton.

Mrs. Johnson was a resident of Newton for the past 14 years and was a member of Channing Church. She had been failing in health for several years.

Funeral services were held at her home yesterday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Chester A. Drummond, officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Linwood Cemetery, Weston.

Mrs. Johnson survived her husband less than 6 months.

Public Buildings Department

Proposals for the Erection of a Schoolhouse

The Public Buildings Department of the City of Newton invites proposals for the erection of a proposed new schoolhouse in that part of Newton called West Newton, on land located on Waltham street, West Newton, in accordance with contract, specifications and plans, copies of which may be obtained at the Office of the Architects, Hartwell & Richardson, Little Building, Boston, Mass., on and after Friday the 15th of September for the General Contract, Plumbing, Heating and Electric. Plans and specifications will be loaned on deposit of $10.00 which deposit will be refunded on return of plans. The bidders must use the form of proposal to be obtained at the above office, and the successful bidder must furnish a bond in a form satisfactory to the City (copies to be had from the Architects) in a sum of fifty (50%) per cent of the contract price with a Surety Company authorized to do business in Massachusetts as surety to secure the due performance of the contract and full protection for the City. Proposals will be received by the Public Buildings Commissioner at his office until 10 A. M., October 2, 1922, City Hall, West Newton, at which time and place all bids will be opened and publicly read.

All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check upon a National Bank or Trust Company doing business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars for the general contract, five hundred ($500) dollars for the plumbing contract, five hundred ($500) dollars for the electric contract, payable to, and to become the property of the City of Newton if the proposal which it accompanies is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the proposal and to execute the contract and furnish the bond required by this invitation within ten (10) days notice to him or it in writing that his or its proposal has been accepted.

The competency and reliability of the bidders and of their proposed subcontractors will be considered in making the award. The City does not obligate itself to accept the lowest or any other bid and any contract made will be subject to appropriations and grants to meet payments thereunder.

THE DANGERS OF ANTHRACITE SUBSTITUTES

The impending coal famine, like most emergencies, presents certain factors of fire hazard not realized by the general public, the National Board of Fire Underwriters stated today, in issuing the following precautions designed to prevent loss of life and property by fire, due to the use of soft coal, wood, kerosene, electrical appliances, and other substitutes for anthracite.

Since bituminous coal is subject to spontaneous ignition particularly when stored in large quantities, it should never be piled near the furnace, nor against a combustible surface, such as the wall of a wooden bin.

One of the important safety measures is to see that smoke pipes and flues are thoroughly cleaned before the furnace is started. Soft coal burns more rapidly than anthracite and gives off considerably more flame and soot; thus it increases the probability of a chimney fire where the flues are not attended to.

The radiated heat from a smoke pipe leading to the chimney is also greater, under such circumstances, than when anthracite is burned, and this increases the chances of igniting the woodwork or other combustible material nearby.

The hazard will be particularly acute where furnaces are designed for the use of anthracite; hence, to overcome the additional dangers created by substituting bituminous coal, the following precautions should be taken, to the flue-cleaning already mentioned:

(a) Furnaces should be encased on sides and top with incombustible protective covering, not less than 1 1/2 inches thick, and the overhead clearance should be not less than 15 inches. Any wood construction within 2 feet of the top should be protected by a loose fitting metal shield, but such shields should not be so placed as to form concealed spaces.

(b) Any woodwork, or wooden lath and plaster partitions within 4 feet of the sides or back of the furnace, should be covered with metal shields, or other approved incombustible material to a height of at least 4 feet above the floor. This covering should extend the full length of the furnace, or heating appliance and to at least 5 feet in front of it. All metal shields should be so attached as to preserve an air space between them and the woodwork. In no case, should combustible construction be permitted within 2 feet of the side or back of the heating appliance, or within 5 feet in front of it.

(c) Smoke pipes should be at least 18 inches below any wooden lath and plaster, or other combustible ceiling, unless at least the upper half is protected by 1 inch or more of asbestos covering, or its equivalent. In such case, a 9 inch clearance is sufficient. Smoke pipes should not be permitted to pass through floors, closets, or other concealed spaces, and where they pass through a wooden lath and plaster partition, a ventilated metal thimble having a diameter of not less than 12 inches larger than the smoke pipe, should be used. Equivalent protection would be afforded by 4 inches of brick work, or other incombustible material. The same precautions apply if wood is used.

In communities where wooden shingle roofs prevail, numerous roof fires may be expected when soft coal and wood are employed in furnaces or grates, because of the burning embers that will escape from the chimneys.

Fires from defective chimneys and flues are also fairly certain to increase, because of the greater heat generated by the substituted fuels mentioned, the larger amount of soot created and the embers given off.

Newton

Sprinkler Systems
The coal shortage is likely to result in the freezing of many wet pipe sprinkler systems and consequently they should receive special attention.

Use of Oil
It is probable that oil burning equipment will be installed by some householders. In such cases they should be safeguarded in accordance with the regulations issued by The National Board of Fire Underwriters. It may be said, briefly, that systems employing the gravity feed to the burner introduce a greater hazard than those having the fuel supply delivered to the burner by pumps taking suction from tanks located underground.

While kerosene is not as hazardous as gasoline, it gives off inflammable vapors that are explosive under certain conditions.

There is little doubt that the portable oil stove will become a prominent household appliance in the near future and its use should be attended with great care. Numerous fires have been caused by filling the reservoir while the wick was lighted. All filling should be done by daylight and away from open fires or lights.

Another cause of fire is the placing of heaters where they will come in contact with curtains or other light, inflammable house furnishings. Fires have also been caused by placing heaters too close to woodwork. The portability of the device is in itself a hazard; not being secured in place, it is easily overturned in numerous cases, serious injury by burning has resulted from weak spring catches securing the burner cylinder to the lower section. If, in such cases, the heater is lifted, the catch gives way and causes the heater to open like a jackknife, with the consequent probability of fire and injury. Therefore the catch should be examined frequently and repaired if it is not functioning properly. The heater should not be carried or moved while lighted.

Explosions have been caused by defective wicks which do not entirely fill the wick tube section of the burner, thus leaving free communication between the flame and the space above the oil in the reservoir. Under such conditions, the vapor ascends and, in contact with the burning wick, flashes back to the reservoir. Occasionally the wick and burner should be boiled in a strong solution of soda or lye and carefully dried before again being placed in service. This not only gives a better light, but enhances the safety of operation.

Oil stoves used for cooking purposes should be maintained in the same manner, and always located at a safe distance from woodwork or other combustible surface.

Gas
The portable gas heater should also be kept at a safe distance from wood construction or furniture and connections should preferably be made with rigid iron piping. The safest form of flexible gas hose is that which is metal covered. Particular care should be exercised where open front gas heaters are used. Cases have occurred where persons wearing loose garments have passed too close to the flame, with the result that they have been painfully, and sometimes fatally, injured.

Electric
Similar care should be taken where Electric Radiator heaters are used. Electric cooking utensils are perfectly safe if properly used, but they should not be placed upon combustible surfaces, nor should they be left in contact while not in active operation. The safe method is always to disconnect such appliances at the socket when they are not in service.

Another serious automobile accident took place yesterday noon when a Boston & Worcester trolley car collided with a truck and trailer on Boylston street, Newton Highlands. The driver of the truck, Carl Bosson of Winchester, and Mcneel O'Brien of East Boston, were pinned under the machine and were later taken to the swollen Hospital in the police ambulance. The motorist on the car escaped with slight bruises.

CEDARCREST FARM MILK

We are extending our milk routes from Brookline as far as Centre St., Newton.

For fifteen years we have been delivering Cedarcrest milk in Cambridge, Back Bay and Brookline. Our many customers in these districts, we are sure would recommend the Farm most highly to you.

We produce our entire milk supply from cows which are tuberculin tested twice yearly, the cows are kept scrupulously clean, the milkers using white suits, and because the milk is clean, it will keep most any length of time without souring, and has an exceptionally good flavor, which the children take to readily.

We would be pleased to supply you on a week's trial and could convince you that our product is worth the price.

DEATH OF FATHER KELEHER

Pastor of St. Bernard's Church at West Newton Dies After Long Illness

Rev. John F. Keleher, who has been the pastor of St. Bernard's Church at West Newton for the past ten years, died at the rectory in West Newton last Monday noon, after an illness of four years.

Rev. Fr. Keleher was born in Woburn on January 17, 1861, son of John and Margaret (Corbett) Keleher. He was educated in the Woburn public schools and was graduated from Boston College in 1889. He was ordained in 1894 at Montreal, Canada.

Rev. Fr. Keleher's first assignment was at Westfield, where he was curate. He was later made curate at St. Francis de Sales' Church in Charlestown and then served as curate at St. James Church, Salem. Subsequently he became curate at St. Joseph's Church, West End, Boston, remaining there 12 years.

His first pastorate was at Campello, where he built a church. Ten years ago he was appointed to the West Newton pastorate.

While at St. Joseph's Church in Boston, Rev. Fr. Keleher was curate with Cardinal O'Connell and Bishop Anderson.

Rev. Fr. Keleher is survived by two brothers, Cornelius E. Keleher and Dr. William H. Keleher of Woburn, and two sisters, Miss Annie M. Keleher of Woburn and Mrs. Mary E. Maloney of Allston.

The funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, and that spacious edifice was too small to accommodate the friends and parishioners, and many stood outside the church.

Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Michael P. Doody of Cambridge, a classmate of Fr. Keleher. Rev. Fr. John Gorman of Woburn was deacon and Rev. Fr. James Doherty of Norwood was sub-deacon. The master of ceremonies was Rev. Fr. James O'Rourke of South Boston. Halier's Missa Quinta was sung by a choir of priests under the leadership of Rev. Neil Cronin of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, with Edw. P. Illingworth, organist. Rt. Rev. Bishop Joseph G. Anderson pronounced the final absolution. With Bishop Anderson within the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Mgr. Arthur Connolly of Jamaica Plain, Rt. Rev. Mgr. A. J. Teeling of Lynn and Rt. Rev. Mgr. Ambrose Roche of Watertown.

The eulogy was delivered by Rev. Fr. Henry A. Walsh of Needham, who took for his text, "Thou Art a Priest Forever."

The pallbearers were J. Alyward J. Murray, Timothy Duffley, James Costello, Harry McKenna, Timothy C. Hickey, William M. Cahill and John H. Gordon.

More than a hundred priests were present including Rev. Fr. Chas. J. Galligan, Rev. Fr. Joseph Holland and Rev. Fr. Wm. J. Farrell, former curates at St. Bernard's Church.

APPOINTED U. S. JUDGE

President Harding has honored one of our prominent citizens, Mr. James Arnold Lowell of Chestnut Hill, with an appointment as one of the new Federal judges for this state.

Mr. Lowell was born in this city on Feb. 5, 1869, and was the son of John and Lucy B. Lowell, his father having been a judge of the United States District and Circuit courts for many years.

He graduated from Harvard in 1891, taking his LL.B. in 1894 at the Harvard law school. He was married in 1897 to Mary Wharton Churchman of Philadelphia. He has served on many commissions in the state; as chairman of the commission on workmen's compensation, 1910-12; chairman of the board of labor and industry, 1913-14; Massachusetts constitutional convention, 1917-18; Massachusetts commission to consolidate the laws, 1917-20. He was a member of the Newton City Government in 1897-1900 and was a member of the House of Representatives from 1904 to 1906. He is a director of the Merrimac Manufacturing Company, member of the Union Club, and author of "Lowell on Bankruptcy."

Mr. Lowell is a member of Lowell & Lowell, attorneys, 54 Devonshire street, and is prominent in social service work in Boston, being president of the Travelers' Aid Society of Boston and the South End House Association. He is also a trustee of the Perkins Institution for the Blind.

BOY SCOUTS

Troop 7 had its opening meeting of the season at Riverside this week. The scouts and scout masters met at the Second Church in West Newton and hiked to the Auburndale playground, where a game of tag football was played and Captain George Hick's team won. Webster Gadsden, Bill Park, and Jimmie Hoyt played fast ball.

At the swimming pool at the recreational grounds, a swimming meet was conducted by Assistant Deputy Commissioner E. J. Ovington. Scoutmaster Smith acted as Scorer, and Scoutmaster Dow was Judge. It was an excellent day for swimming, the water was warm, and the sun shone brightly. In the diving events, Senior Patrol Leader Jimmie Hoyt won first in the surface dive; Patrol Leader Eddie Ovington, first in the takeoff dive; and Scoutmaster Harlan D. Crowell, third, 15½ points; Cliff Snow, fourth, 12½ points; and Eddie Roberts, fifth, 11½ points. Special mention is made by Judge Dow and Starter Ovington of Scout Glazier, who entered all but two events although a new recruit in the

GIRL SCOUTS

The West Newton Girl Scouts, Troop 5, will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, Sept. 26, in the Entertainment Hall of the Congregational Church, West Newton, at 3.30 P. M. Any girls, 10 years old or over, wishing to join this troop will please meet Captain Freeman at 3 o'clock.

Two groups of Scouts visited Camp Mary Day last week. On Wednesday, Sept. 13, a group of girls from Troop 5 (West Newton) went into camp for two days and on Friday the 15th eleven girls from the Senior Division of Troop 3 with Mrs. Wm. J. Hodges, their Captain, visited Camp for the week-end. These week-end visits are proving most enjoyable and Miss Freeman, the director, hopes that they can be continued through October. The girls make camp as soon as possible after school on Fridays and stay until late Saturday afternoon. If the weather is suitable the girls go for a swim as soon as they reach camp. Then there is a big fire down by the shore and a picnic supper. After supper out-door games until dark and then an open fire in the camp house and more games and a "sing." Taps is played at 9.30. After camp chores on Saturday morning there is another swim and then there is a good long afternoon for games. When the girls leave at 5 o'clock they all agree that the visit has been all too short.

Troop 7 (Upper Falls) will be the group in camp this week. Visitors will be welcome on Saturday afternoons from 2.30 to 4.30 and the director will be glad to show anyone interested in the organization over the camp.

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Being the story of the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association

The Bitter Rooters returned us to Missoula in the early evening and that night we bid an revoir but not farewell to the warm friends we had made in that attractive little city and resumed our places in the Pullmans on the first part of our journey home.

The next morning we woke at a little town of Ronan, where we transferred to a long train of flat cars, with temporary seats, and rode several miles up into the mountains of the Mission ridge for breakfast at Polley's Lumber camp. It was a great novelty to most of us and the long ride in the clear mountain air gave us appetites for the many good things which the camp cooks provided for us. At the camp we held a brief service to dedicate one of the peaks on the Mission ridge as Mount Harding, permission having been given by the President for that purpose.

Returning from the lumber camp we arrived late in the forenoon at Polson, at the southern end of Flathead Lake. This lake is the largest body of fresh water west of the Great Lakes and has an area of 120,000 acres. In this beautiful body of water is mirrored the snow-capped peaks of the Mission range, a glistening silver wall on the east, and on the west the low retreating foothills of the Bitter Root range and to the north and south a wide expanse of rich agricultural land extends for miles and miles. Flathead lake is the great scenic asset of Montana and lying in the doorway of Glacier National Park is visited by thousands of tourists. Its scenic beauty is rivaled by climatic conditions favorable to successful horticulture and around its shores are clustered beautiful orchards that annually produce bountiful crops of premium fruit.

The lake is wholly within Flathead county, the largest county in Montana and is three fourths the size of the entire state of Massachusetts.

Polson, is a city of potential greatness. From the energy developed from the turbines of the swift running waters of Flathead River at Polson's back door, transcontinental trains will be propelled, factories will be supplied,

Coal Shortage

As a result of the coal and railroad strikes, it is evident New England householders face a serious shortage of fuel during the coming winter. The gravity of the situation is not generally realized by the public.

Perfection Oil Heaters will be of the utmost help in overcoming the discomfort and inconveniences incident to this fuel shortage. We have ordered a large supply of heaters which we hope will take care of the demands of our customers.

It will be to your advantage, therefore, immediately to give most careful consideration to your heater requirements and place your order with us at once.

Immediate attention to this matter is essential for the supply of heaters will of necessity be limited—we do not want our customers to suffer this winter for lack of heat.

thousands of acres of land will be made highly productive by irrigation.

The Federal Government control of the development and use of water power has been liberalized by the recent water power act. Already there is well under way a survey of the power resources of this particular section. Approximately 200,000 horsepower at the beautiful island of Devils Lake will be developed at this point. This will be present, when completed, an investment from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. This part of Montana is rich in hydro-electric resources. Probably in no other part of the country is there opportunity for such large and economical development as here.

Polson is capitalizing this valuable legacy and heritage by espousing to the country at large the opportunities here for manufacturers seeking locations where cheap and permanent energy can be procured.

Nature's kindness in providing an inexhaustible supply of water, capable of relatively cheap development, has not been the only factor that so seriously affect the growth and upbuilding of many portions of the country which have not been so generously endowed.

A bright future awaits Polson. Her citizens have visioned the coming Metropolis and are now planning to build accordingly. There is evidence on every hand of fine civic spirit. They are prideful people and rightly so, for Polson is today one of the most charming and prosperous little cities in the Pacific Northwest.

At Polson we took a small steamer, propelled by a single enormous paddle wheel for a trip up the lake, stopping at the beautiful island of Devils Lake at noon for lunch. Here we were entertained by the United States Forestry service and the methods of fighting forest fires were explained and the apparatus used placed on exhibition. The steamer then took us to the town of Somers at the upper end of the lake where we waited for a train for Kalispell, our next stopping place. We had continually lost time since leaving Polson and in consequence did not make a close connection with the train for Kalispell and were forced to wait for some time for it to arrive. It was rather late in the evening when we finally reached Kalispell and we were a tired and hungry bunch of travellers, for the day had been hot and following our experiences of the day before at Bitter Root valley, we were tired out.

Kalispell was another clean and attractive city of the kind we had begun to class as typical of the Montana. It had entertained the Elks and the American Legion of the state, but still had plenty of hospitality left for our party. We made our headquarters in the Elks Club, a most comfortable and well equipped building. Drives about the town the next morning only confirmed the good impression we had received on our arrival. After lunch, part of our number went in automobiles and the remainder, took the train, for the railroad station of Belton one of the entrances to the noted Glacier National Park the baby of our National Park system. The great attraction here is Lake McDonald, said to be one of the most beautiful of the world, and situated in the country. The trip up the lake to the hotel is one to be long remembered, and its beauty grows on you as the panorama of its mountains gradually unfolds before you. We had dinner at the hotel and returned in the late evening to Belton and the sleepers.

"The Fruit and potato country" is what the Montanians call that part of the state west of the Rocky Mountains marked on the maps as the Kalispell section. Crossing the mountains from the plains country in northern Montana one finds oneself in one of the most thickly timbered countries in the northwest, with broad valleys, big rivers and high mountains. This is the garden spot in Montana tributary to the Great Northern, where they grow the big red apple, the premier potato, the luscious melon, the beautifully colored and equally tasty peach, the pear to perfection, and small fruits in abundance. Not only that, but the yield of the small grains and alfalfa to the acre is excellent nowhere. It is a natural clover section.

Flathead county, in which this favored region is situated, is one of the big counties of the state, with an area of 6,000 square miles. There are many fertile valleys, but the largest and the best developed in an agricultural way is the Flathead of which Kalispell in the northern part is the trading center. In this part of the county there are several good towns in addition to Kalispell, each having County high schools.

The cultivatable land is in large part rolling, the soil being a deep sandy loam. The county is one of the best timbered in the state, farmers not only being assured of cheap lumber for building operations but of an abundance of fuel.

Land values are not excessive, all conditions being considered. First class farm land, well improved, sells at from $100 to $125 per acre, but very good land can be purchased at from $60 to $80 an acre.

The big opportunity offered in this section is in the cut-over lands. When cleared these logged off lands have been found to be the most productive. These lands can be bought at from $10 to $25 an acre depending upon the location on the most liberal terms. Only a small payment is required down, and some of the companies owning these lands make an agreement with the purchaser to buy all the cordwood he cuts off his place, at a stipulated price, paying 60 per cent in cash for the wood, the remaining 40 per cent to apply on the purchase price.

The county and especially the northern section of Flathead Valley has excellent transportation facilities, being served by the main and branch lines of the Great Northern. There are more than 3,000 miles of improved highways in the county, and stage lines from Kalispell and other towns reach those sections not served by the railroad.

The altitude at Kalispell is a little below 3,800 feet, the growing season running from 71 to 149 days. Due to its location, the winters are not so severe as in some of the more open country, and there is very little wind.

POLICE NOTE

Charles Decotis of Boston, was found probably guilty of the larceny of $950 and held in bonds of $1000 for the Grand Jury by Judge Weston in the Newton District Court on Tuesday.

Paul Topocian, a Nonantum shoemaker, complained that the defendant and two of his friends sold him a package supposed to contain three diamonds for $950. The diamonds were said to have been appraised at $1055.

When Topocian opened the package he found that it contained, not three diamonds, but nine sapphires, worth a few dollars apiece.

Decotis testified that the two men who disposed of the stones were not friends of his, but had promised him $100 as commission for selling them. He said the pair had made their getaway without giving him the $100 promised.

The Exiled Emperor Exposes His Innermost Thoughts to the World

KAISER'S MEMOIRS

The Man Tells:

"Still others say the Emperor should have killed himself. That was made impossible by my firm Christian beliefs. And would not people have exclaimed: 'How cowardly. Now he shirks all responsibility by committing suicide.' This alternative was also eliminated because . . ."

(Alluding to the choice of Prince William of Wied as King of Albania): "It was particularly unpleasant to me that a German Prince should make a fool of himself there . . . the ambitious, mystically excited wife of the Prince saw in Albania the fulfillment of her wishes. And 'what woman wishes God wishes.'"

(Alluding to the educational methods of Germany before the Kaiser "reformed" them): "This degradation is all the more difficult to understand in view of the fact that the youth of Germany, although it was impaired in health by overstudy and not so toughened by sport as the English, achieved brilliant feats in the World war such as were nowhere equalled before."

"The road to compromise has been my road both in domestic and foreign politics."

He declares that when Bismarck's son conducted the foreign office his rudeness was such that when anybody left him "their coat tails stood right out behind them."

The Ex-Kaiser snapped walking in his garden.

The Emperor Says:

"Professor Roland Usher, the American, talked out of school and conclusively proved at whose door lies the guilt of the World war . . . America—or rather President Wilson—was resolved probably from the start, certainly from 1915—to array herself against Germany and to fight."

"The Prince (Bismarck) gave away to a violent fit of anger. He spoke about 'family dictation in England,' of interference from that quarter which must cease; how the Crown Prince and Emperor Frederick had been ordered about and influenced by his mother-in-law, wife, etc."

"I stuck to my ideas, adducing in support of them the maxim of Frederick the Great, 'I wish to be King of the Rabble.'"

"I refused to abdicate and declared that I would gather troops together and return with them in order to help the government to maintain order in the land."

"Thus the decision as to my going or staying, as to my renunciation of the Imperial Crown and retention of the Royal Crown of Prussia, was summarily snatched from me. The army was shaken to the core by the erroneous belief that its King had abandoned it at the most critical moment of all."

—Troop 7 has its first indoor meeting tonight in the entertainment room of the Second Church. Stephen A. Whidden, Rev. J. Edgar Park, John A. Paine, Albert C. Blunt, and Edmund W. Ogden, the members of the troop committee have been invited to be present for inspection of the scouts.

—Harmony Day was observed on Saturday afternoon at the Swedish Home For Aged People at the corner of Waltham and Crafts street. A number of guests were received and an entertainment was given for the residents of the home. Two glee clubs, the Swedish Glee Club and the Harmony Glee Club, both of which just returned from Bridgeport, Conn., where they attended the singing convention and won several prizes, provided the musical program.

DEATH OF MRS. CLINE

Mrs. Anna A. Cline, a well known resident of Newton, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles T. Noble of Lincoln street, Newton Highlands on Wednesday in her 80th year. Mrs. Cline has lived in Newton about 26 years. She was an active member of the Cline Methodist Church, which was erected in memory of her late husband. She was also interested in missionary work, and in the W. C. T. U.

Besides Mrs. Noble Mrs. Cline leaves a daughter, Mrs. William J. Cozens of Woodward street, Newton Highlands. A number of guests were present at the funeral services held at the Cline Memorial Church on Thursday. Rev. Frederick C. Robinson, pastor of the church officiating, and the burial was in Frederick, Maryland, her early home.

NEWTON WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Mary Martin the wife of Rudolph Martin, Jr. of Playstead road, Newton was instantly killed last Sunday evening, in an automobile accident on Massapoag street, in Sharon.

Mr. Alfred L. Southwick was cut about the face, his son Rodney suffered a fracture of the skull, and Miss Mildred Lacey suffered internal injuries.

Mr. Southwick, the owner and operator of the machine, turned suddenly to avoid striking a group of young women who were in the road, and the automobile struck a tree.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Martin is survived by a three year old child.

SCOUTS TO MOBILIZE

During the month of September all Scout Troops under Norumbega Council will mobilize and reorganize for active service this Winter. Already several have got away with an early start, others are following up closely. It is time for all registered scouts to show their colors by reporting to their various Scout Headquarters. Other boys 12 years of age or over who wish to become active scouts will find a few openings in the various Troops of Newton. Troops meet as follows:

Monday—Cong. Church, Newton Highlands at 7.30. Mr. Lichtenhaeler, Scoutmaster, Mr. Collins Asst. Scoutmaster.

Tuesday—High School Gymnasium, Newtonville, at 7.30. Mr. R. W. Cotton, Scoutmaster, Robert Irwin and H. W. Tucker, Assistants.

Tuesday—Playground House, Newton Centre, at 7.30. Dr. Martin, Scoutmaster.

Thursday, Scout House, Watertown street, West Newton, Rev. A. V. Hill, Scoutmaster, Mr. R. L. Hatton, Asst.

Friday, Congregational Church, West Newton, Mr. H. D. Crowell, Scoutmaster, C. M. Smith, E. Dow, Assistants.

Friday, Bigelow School, Newton Corner, Mr. John Woodbridge, Scoutmaster, Raymond Church, Henry Stafford, and Mr. Butts, Assistants.

Friday, Newton Centre, Playground House, 7.30. Mr. M. I. Stone, Scoutmaster, Mr. Allen, Mr. Hubbard, and Mr. Spence, Assistants.

Friday, Stearns School, Nonantum, 7.30. Mr. E. E. Forknall, Scoutmaster.

Applications may be obtained from the Scoutmasters of these Troops on the night of meeting. Each candidate will be charged a fee of 30 cents for registration privileges.

The Executive Committee of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, met at the Newton Club last Tuesday evening and made preparations for the work of the season. Mr. Sharratt, the Scout Executive made his report and announced the program of council activities. At the present time Norumbega Council has 20 Scout Troops with a total registration of 585 scouts.

The aim for the year is 700 and all boys not in Scouts are urged to join. The program for the year among other activities has the following:

1. Council Camp Fire in Cabot Woods, October 11th at 7.30. This will be a real Scout fire with the usual campfire attractions.

2. Council Hike to the Blue Hills under the leadership of the President, Mr. James A. Stafford.

3. Swimming Meets during November, December and January.

4. Scout Week Rally and Celebration in February.

5. Rifle Contest in March.

6. Track Meets between Troops in April.

7. Annual Scout Rally in May.

8. Summer Camping in July, August.

COLLINS—THOMSON

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth M. Thomson, the daughter of Mrs. Samuel F. Thomson of Newton, to Harold E. Collins of Newton Highlands took place last Saturday evening in St. Paul's Church Newton Highlands.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Theodore S. Ludlow, at 8:30 o'clock, the bride being given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William H. M. Milton of Reading.

The bride was attended by Miss Charlotte Griffen of Brooklyn, N. Y., as maid of honor and by the Misses Nancy Kreider of Annapolis, Penn., Miss Dorothy Underhill of Summit, N. J., Miss Rebecca Stickney of Arlington, Mass., and Miss Esther Joel of Everett, Mass. as bridesmaids.

Mr. William Loveloy Collins, brother of the groom was the best man and the ushers were Messrs Harold Turner of Schenectady, N. Y., Parks Odenweller of Arlington, Mass., and Harlan J. Maynard and Holden Whitaker of Newton Highlands.

Little Virginia Merrill, was the flower girl and Billy Merrill the ring bearer, both cousins of the bride.

A reception followed at the home of the bride, 15 Adena road, West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Collins being assisted by the mother of the bride and the parents of the groom.

On their return from a wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Collins will reside at 15 Adena road, West Newton.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley College and the groom, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

LODGES

The installation of officers of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars will take place at Masonic Hall on next Tuesday evening.

The newly elected officers of Newton Royal Arch Chapter were installed at the convocation held Tuesday evening at Masonic Hall, by Rt. Ex. Lorenzo L. Green, assisted by Ex. Comm. Edward N. Brown. Those installed included J. Harold Libbey, EHP, Joseph B. Ross, King, John D. Rockefeller, Scribe, Warren W. Loomis, treasurer, Dr. Chas. E. A. Ross, Secretary, Rev. Henry H. Two vacancies are to be filled. Information can be obtained by addressing Congressman Robert Luce, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

High School Notes

The enrollment for the Technical High School exceeds 650 pupils. The Newton Savings Bank has installed Automatic Teller Machines which enables students to deposit money without going to the bank.

The pupil puts a coin in the machine and receives a stamp of the same denomination which he places on a card and turns over to a teacher. The amount is placed to his account at the bank.

Last year the money saved by pupils through the use of the machine was far more than was expected, and this year it is quite probable that the amount will be much larger.

Candidates for the fall tennis tournament were signed up on Wednesday. There are a great number of enthusiasts, and the competition will be very keen.

A special class in English, specializing in grammar and punctuation, will be formed next week for Sophomores in the Technical High School.

Mr. Harrington of the Science Department and also director of the Technical High School orchestra has spent a great deal of time trying to discover some musical instruments that can be purchased for the orchestra. He has found some which will probably be purchased within a short time. The first rehearsal was held in the assembly hall on Wednesday.

The Technical High School is contemplating buying a pipe-organ for the assembly hall.

Candidates for the fall golf tournament reported on Wednesday. A great deal of interest is being displayed in this sport inasmuch as Clark Hodder, State Champion, was a member of the high school golf team when he was a student there. Much skill has been displayed by various members in the past, and this year's tournament promises to have its thrills.

Albert Edgar Angier School

The Albert Angier School Bank has opened with Donald Charlton, Eleanor Burnham, Priscilla Heathcote, Helen Sheehan, and Frank Spain in charge. Bank folders have been given every child in the school and saving has begun in earnest. Last year 165 children had accounts varying in amounts from $1.00 to $51.00. This year the desire is to pass the 300 mark. Accurate records are being kept to be used in tracing those who are falling behind either through failure to establish an account or to maintain constancy in saving.

Class officers will soon be elected in grades six, seven, and eight. These officers together with Mr. Crowell will form the Albert Angier School Council.

In these grades, the formation of clubs is being discussed. Among those first mentioned were the Opening Exercises Club, which would have charge of the daily auditorium exercises; a Physical Development Club, to study personal, school, and community hygiene; a Literary Club, which would publish the school paper, and a Glee Club.

Miss Dixon is this year departmental teacher of the English subject for the upper grades; Miss Doolittle has elected the social studies and mathematics, and Miss Doran has charge of the fine arts courses. Some departmental work has been introduced in the lower grades to take advantage of the excellence of teachers in special subjects; Miss Goodhue has the physical training for grades three, four, and five; Miss Moore has the penmanship and Mrs. Forbes the spelling for the same grades. In grades one and two, Miss Wyman teaches drawing, and Miss Lincoln, music.

Captain Frank Spain and his boys reported in fine condition last Monday. In all there are about twenty-five boys looking forward to playing on the school team.

Kenneth Cady, although small, are making strong bids for the end positions. Richard Thayer is assisting in the coaching of the boys, and the school is hoping for a successful year.

Hyde School

The Hyde School has opened with an enrollment of nearly six hundred pupils.

We have two new teachers this year, Miss Ruth Stopp, in the seventh grade, and Miss Harriet Jeffers in the eighth.

Miss Womboldt of Framingham Normal School is acting as primary assistant.

During the summer the much-needed electric lights were installed in the Old Hyde.

Mr. Maguire, the janitor, has resumed his duties, after a week of illness.

Miss Hanscom's eighth grade and Miss Bryant's second grade have made the fine beginning of the school year with one hundred per cent attendance for the first week.

The sixth grade classes are enjoying the change from the usual grade work to departmental instruction.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The total enrollment of pupils in the school is 500 with 9 more yet expected to come. The early September enrollment one year ago was 511. The present enrollment in the kindergarten is 64. The average class enrollment for the grades is 33.

The class pin committee in the graduating class consists of Florence Ingham, Mildred Marcy, and Sigmund Romaszewicz. The committee has made its report and a pin design has been adopted by the class. In three weeks the pins are expected to arrive.

was held on Monday morning. Principal Frank W. Chase of the Bigelow School was a guest, and he and the Emerson Principal entertained the pupils with a number of songs.

Miss Darling of the kindergarten is on sick leave of absence for three months. Miss Holley is substituting in her place.

Two classes scored 100 per cent in attendance for the opening week. Miss Lewis' grade six, and Miss Dill's grade three.

The interior of the building was retinted throughout during the summer vacation. We are all enjoying the new dress, together with the general cleanliness of the building which is the work of our efficient janitor, Mr. John Ward.

Lasell

Lasell Seminary opened its seventy-first year on Thursday with its usual large enrollment made up of representatives from the middle and far west as well as Porto Rico, Mexico and Honolulu.

Among the new members of the faculty are: Miss Doris Coggeshall of Simmons College and Miss Margaret Matton of Skidmore College in the Home Economics Department; Miss Doris Lane of Simmons College in the Secretarial Department; Miss Ellen Hemmon of Mount Allison University in the French Department, and Miss Winnifred Stackpole of the Lasell Seminary in the Spoken Word in the Expression Department.

On Saturday evening will be held the party given by the "old" girls to the new.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Two Newton men are members of the Committee on Education of the newly organized International S. S. Council of Religious Education, a body which is the result of a merger of the denominational and interdenominational forces of the country in the field of Religious Education. These two men are Dr. Herbert W. Gates, of Newton Centre, Director of the Norumbega District School of Religious Education, and Rev. E. M. Ferguson, of Newtonville, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Boston, and until recently General Secretary of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association.

One of the important factors in improving the situation is the work of such Training Schools as the Norumbega District School of Religious Education, which opens on Monday evening, October 2, at 8 P. M., at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. This School is nonsectarian in its organization and management. Its object is to inform, inspire and train S. S. teachers and officers, to the end that our Sunday Schools may in time reach all the children and young people of our District, interest them for a longer period, and guide them effectively while they are growing into an intelligent appreciation of the Protestant Christian religion and into places of leadership in church activities.

Progressive church leaders in all denominations are realizing more and more the need for such training schools as this one conducted by the Norumbega District. There are 8 or 10 similar schools in eastern Massachusetts.

CITY HALL

The name of more than a score of men, eligible for appointment to the Newton Fire Department, have been received by Chief Walter B. Randlett from the Civil Service Commission. Thirteen vacancies will occur on Nov. 1, when the day off in three goes into effect.

Miss Catherine Howard, secretary to Ernest Herman, superintendent of the Playground Department, is spending her vacation in the White Mountains.

THE MAYOR'S CUP

Plans are now under way for a big celebration next Sunday afternoon at the Newton Upper Falls Playground when the Mayor's Cup will be presented to the Ramblers of Newton Upper Falls, the winners of the pennant in the Newton Twilight League. Pres. Joseph Barry of the league is now looking a fast team to oppose the Ramblers in an exhibition game.

Mayor Childs is expected to be present to make the presentation of the cup which he offers annually to the league winner.

HARRINGTON—BRIMBLECOM

A notable fall wedding was that of Miss Helen Brimblecom, of this city and Mr. Rufus Frost Harrington of Medford, which took place Saturday evening at Channing Church, Newton. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, Rev. Chester A. Drummond, pastor of the Church, tying the nuptial knot in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The double ring service was used. Previous to the ceremony, there were organ selections by Mr. Harry Fletcher, a friend of the groom. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was panned in white satin Canton crepe, with panels and sleeves of lace and with train to match. She wore the conventional tulle veil caught with orange-blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Edith B. Lamproy of Roslindale, the maid of honor, was in orchid taffeta and georgette with silver hat and carried Columbia roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Doris Elliott of Newtonville and Miss Ruth Elliott of Newton were gowned alike in amber satin with tulle skirts of shaded colors. They wore gold hats and carried opelia roses.

Little Virginia Helen Elliott the flower girl was dressed in peach color georgette crepe and carried a basket of roses.

Mr. Harrington was attended by Mr. Malcolm W. Valentine of Medford as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Sidney T. Guild of Medford, Alexander S. Wright of Atlantic, Clifford Hicks of Natick, Merton Hosmer of Waltham and Louis Tryon of Claremont, N. H. A reception for relatives and intimate friends followed at the Brimblecom home on Breamore road, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington being assisted in receiving by Mr. G. K. Harrington of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brimblecom, of Newton.

The receiving party stood under a floral arch of asters, roses and southern smilax.

Following an automobile trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Harrington will reside in Medford, where they are building a home at Trainscroft which will be ready for occupancy in the late winter.

The groom is a graduate of Tufts College 1913, and since that time has been associated with the Hunt-Spiller Manufacturing Corporation of Boston as head of the metallurgy department. He is a member of the Engineers Club of Boston, and of several technical societies in the country. He is also a member of the Appalachian Club, the Field and Forest Club and the Meadowbrook Club of Reading. The bride, the daughter of Representative and Mrs. John C. Brimblecom is a member of one of the oldest families in New England, and is a lineal descendant of Governor Thomas Hutchinson of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

DECREASED DRINKING AMONG STUDENTS SHOWN BY SURVEY

The Rev. Franklin C. Southworth, president of the Meadville Theological School, alarmed by rumors about the increase of drinking among students, four months ago addressed a letter of inquiry to the deans of 436 American colleges and now publishes a resume of replies received from 308 of them, including all the leading eastern universities. He says:

The tenor of the replies received was overwhelmingly in favor of the proposition that instead of an increase in the number of students addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor since the passage of the prohibition amendment, there had been a marked decrease.

The main findings may be tabulated as follows:

No. of Institutions	No. of Students	Reply
111	125,960	No increase
133	181,009	Decrease
16	6,929	No drinking ever
13	44,741	Increase
35	?	Noncommittal

As has been pointed out before in these columns, an exaggerated interest in drink because of its prohibition and the difficulty of obtaining it was manifest in the first year of the law's enforcement and has since diminished. Mr. Southworth says:

In the vast majority of American colleges the drink problem has ceased to exist. It will continue to be a problem in some of the metropolitan colleges until the law is more successfully enforced in the cities themselves. Sporadic cases of drinking by college men attract far more attention than formerly and are, on account of the poorer quality of liquor consumed, attended by worse results. These cases, however, are becoming increasingly rare, and the sentiment of college students throughout the country is setting more and more strongly against the illicit use of liquor.

CEDARCREST FARM MILK

We are extending our milk routes from Brookline as far as Centre St., Newton.

For fifteen years we have been delivering Cedarcrest milk in Cambridge, Back Bay and Brookline. Our many customers in these districts, we are sure would recommend the Farm most highly to you.

We produce our entire milk supply from cows which are tuberculosis tested twice yearly, the cows are kept scrupulously clean, the milkers using white suits, and because the milk is clean, it will keep most any length of time without souring, and has an exceptionally good flavor, which the children take to readily.

We would be pleased to supply you on a week's trial and could convince you that our product is worth the price.

HOW MASSACHUSETTS IS GOVERNED

The 6th article in a series on state departments written by Representative J. C. Brimblecom

The effectiveness of any government depends in the final analysis on its ability to defend and protect its people, and the "police power" of the state must have not only popular opinion but physical force behind it.

In Massachusetts this branch of government is called the Department of Public Safety and covers not only the protection of the public but also functions in many ways for the prevention of causes which may be injurious to the common weal.

This department has seven divisions. The state police—a division of inspection—a division of fire prevention—a division of Sunday Censorship—a division of Explosives and Inflammables—a division of Liquors and a Boxing Commission.

The State Police, which was formerly almost exclusively a detective force engaged on crimes which took place in rural parts of the state, has the past two years taken on a new form through the establishment of a state constabulary. Beginning last year with a force of 50 men, the legislature the present year authorized an increase to 140 men, part of whom have already been appointed. These men selected from thousands of applications, were given a rigid physical and mental examination with the sole aim of securing the highest type of men for this arduous and important service. The force patrols the state roads, using motor vehicles when conditions permit, horses when motor vehicles fail and going on foot when it is impossible to use horses. The constabulary has headquarters at Framingham and at Northampton. The work has hardly yet had a fair trial but all indications point to a most successful result.

FALL DOG SHOW

About a year ago, on the grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A., on Church Street, the Middlesex County Kennel Club held an All Breed Sanction Show which was very successful and greatly enjoyed by exhibitors and spectators alike.

The sentiments then expressed by a number of those present and the success achieved has encouraged this club to announce another show for All Breeds on the same grounds on October 12, Columbus Day.

This time the show will be held during the entire day, and will be what is known as a Licensed Show under American Kennel Club rules, at which the points gained by the winners will count towards championships, as in the largest shows in the country. In this respect the coming show differs from that held a year ago, and as a catalogue has to be prepared, entries must be made beforehand, and only dogs thus entered can be admitted to the grounds during the show.

To provide for this some three thousand premium lists and entry blanks have been already mailed to prospective exhibitors and dog owners special attention having been given to those living in the city of Newton.

OPENING RALLY

"What is our Aim in Religious Education?" is the subject of an address to be given at the Opening Rally of the Norumbega District Community School of Religious Education, next Monday evening, at 8 P. M., at Central Church, Newtonville. Prof. Francis L. Strickland, who gives the address, is Professor of History and Psychology of Religion in Boston University.

The public is invited to this rally, since this subject of religious education is one which is being discussed much all over the country, both in public school circles and by Church leaders. After the Rally, there will be opportunity for anyone to register for the sessions of the Community School, which begin on the following Monday, October 9, and last for 20 weeks, with a recess at Christmas time. The First Term closes Dec. 11, and the Second Term begins January 8, 1923.

WEST NEWTON CARNIVAL

The great events of the fall in West Newton will be the Fair to be held there Nov. 1-2, to aid the Library Fund. The housekeeper, the mother, the tired business man, the bookworm, the connoisseur and the children will all find fascinating display of things to buy. It will be an ideal time in which to do Christmas shopping, since to do Christmas shopping early is a public duty now-a-days. A number of West Newton friends in Europe, Japan and on the Pacific coast were asked, during the past summer, to make purchases for this fair, and the result will be an unusually attractive display of beautiful articles, though just as much emphasis will be placed on the plain and practical type of articles always wanted for household use.

A unique feature of the Fair will be the arrangement whereby the children are to be entertained and have their fun and frolic in a place by themselves, a few doors away from where (Continued on Page 3)

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Being the story of the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association

We woke the next morning at the principal entrance to one of Uncle Sam's newest National Parks. The Glacier. Opened but ten years ago, it is steadily and increasingly attracting much deserved attention from lovers of Nature. It is mostly a jumble of mountains, interspersed with numerous and most beautiful little lakes.

To the ordinary tourist, however, the park is now but a series of beautiful pictures. If one wants more, it is necessary to take long and toilsome hikes or travel on horseback for it is only at certain spots that hotels have been constructed.

We arrived at the Glacier park hotel in time for breakfast and a brief inspection of the most unique lobby I had ever seen.

Here the trunks of twenty-four giant fir trees forty-two feet in height and four feet in thickness, processed

so that their barks is retained, serve as pillars and tower to the lobby's roof, where the trunks of other fir trees serve as girders and gables. Out of the trunks of firs, too, sawed and halved, the various departments that the lobby houses are fashioned—the Room Clerk's Desk, the Government's Information Bureau, the Transportation Desk, and the Store where all needful outfitings for the tourists are to be had. Out of the trunks of young firs the rails of the two tiers of balconies which encircle the lobby are built. Splendid skins of bears and mountain goats who in life roamed Glacier Parks Rockies, carpets of Indian design and potted young pines are among the appropriate "out-of-doors" decorations of the lobby. A buffalo skin tepee, for centuries the council lodge of the Black Feet and a gift of the tribe to the Hotel, is (Continued on Page 2)

Coal Shortage PERFECTION OIL HEATERS

As a result of the coal and railroad strikes, it is evident New England householders face a serious shortage of fuel during the coming winter. The gravity of the situation is not generally realized by the public.

Perfection Oil Heaters will be of the utmost help in overcoming the discomfort and inconvenience incident to this fuel shortage. We have ordered a large supply of heaters which we hope will take care of the demands of our customers.

It will be to your advantage, therefore, immediately to give most careful consideration to your heater requirements and place your order with us at once. Immediate attention to this matter is essential for the supply of heaters will of necessity be limited—we do not want our customers to suffer this winter for lack of heat.

A New Development

On Commonwealth Ave., West Newton. The estate of Sen. Geo. H. Ellis, known as "Wauwinet," is now being subdivided into moderate-sized lots averaging 12,000 sq. ft. each, which we are offering at this opening at 12c per sq. ft. and up. Making the price per lot

The Most Exclusive Residential Lots In all the Newtons

The Steps Necessary in Securing Your New House

- First. Select the lot.
- Second. Let us submit the sketches and floor plans to fit that lot. Study them carefully and mark on the plans all the closets, cabinets, bath rooms, fireplaces, and modern conveniences. Plan your gardens and shrubbery.
- Third. Let us figure the cost and show you how to check it so you will know it is right.
- Fourth. Let us show you how easy it can be financed. The banks are established for this purpose. The money they receive as deposits must be loaned.

We guide our customers from the time they choose the lot until they are comfortably settled in their new home. The man with the small bank account gets the same consideration as the one with the large one. The difference is only in the time it takes and the size and cost of the house. Start on the right track if you have but $100.

We advise you to start by selecting the lot now. The best locations are being taken. It costs no more to have a good one, if you choose it now. We give you plenty of time to pay for it. Three years if you wish.

HOW TO GET THERE

Go straight out Commonwealth Avenue to Prince Street. Our office is on the right hand side of the Avenue at Prince Street. Auburndale cars from Lake Street pass the property and our office.

RICHARDSON—GREENWOOD

Among the many weddings this month is the wedding last Saturday of Miss Dorothy A. Greenwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Greenwood of Jewett street, to Mr. Harold S. Richardson of Church street, Newton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ambler Garnett of the Methodist Church.

The gown of the bride was of white tulle, with long veil, and orange blossoms. Mrs. Charles F. Brown of Watertown was matron of honor, and her gown was of turquoise blue tulle with silver trimmings. Mr. Charles F. Brown was the best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride the house being decorated with autumn foliage and gladioli.

After a trip to the White Mountains until Oct. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will live in Watertown.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

An automobile owned by James M. Clow of Rosindale, operated by his son, James W. Clow, was in collision Monday evening with an automobile, operated by Lewis F. Rozon of Brookline, at the corner of Commonwealth av. and Grafton st., Newton Centre. The machines were badly damaged. Mary Burns who was in the Rozon automobile, was slightly injured.

The auto of A. Burgess of 15 Orris st., Auburndale, while being driven on California st., near Victory field, Nonantum, Saturday evening, struck 4-year-old Edward Landry of 11 Dalby st., Nonantum, knocking him down and cutting his mouth and bruising his head. Mr. Burgess told the police that the youngster ran out from the sidewalk directly in front of the car. Mr. Burgess stopped it quickly, but was unable to avoid hitting the child. He took the injured youngster to a doctor and then drove him home.

pitched upon the lobby's first balcony. A bevy of great Japanese lanterns, suspended from the roof at odd angles, and by night electrically lit, added to the lobby's brilliancy of color. And not the least novel of the lobby's features is its unique indoor campfires; here of evenings the "Glacier Park" guests gather about a bed of bricks set in the lobby's floor where knots of fragrant pine merrily crackle and whisk their smoke roofward through a steel stack.

After breakfast we were taken in busses similar to those in use at the Yellowstone for the long ride to Many Glacier hotel. Most of this ride was outside the park itself and was in the rolling prairie of the Blackfoot Indian reservation. It was uninteresting from a sight seeing standpoint, but the air was clear and fresh, and the way did not seem as long as it really was. A ten minute stop was made at Lake St. Marys, where half of our party took the launch ride to St. Marys chalets, while the rest of us kept on to Many Glacier hotel on the banks of Lake McDermott.

The view from this hotel is well worth the long automobile ride. The lake is surrounded by several high mountains with jagged peaks and tremendous ledges, all of which are perfectly mirrored in its clear waters. One could spend hours on the hotel veranda drinking in the beauty of the scene. A short half mile away is Lake Josephine, another scenic gem, over which there is a splendid view of Grinnell glacier. We spent the afternoon and night at this hotel, which is not quite so pretentious as Glacier park, but which is a most comfortable place to stay.

The next morning we bade the mountains and lakes a lingering farewell, and rode back to St. Marys lake, where we took the launch ride to St. Marys chalets. These little hamlets are perched on the rocky promontory which practically divides the lake into two bodies of water. From the chalets there is a superb view of Going-to-the-Sun mountain, one of the finest mountains in the park. This mountain was christened by the Blackfoot Indians generations ago and commemorates an important Blackfoot personage, Spirit. Spirit, who taught the Blackfeet many useful things and then returned to the Sun. The Blackfeet name is "The-face-of-sour-spirit-who-went-back-to-the-sun-after-his-work-was-done Mountain." In full view of the chalets and rising directly from the edge of the lake are Goat mountain, Eagle mountain and Little Chief mountain, all of them over 8500 feet in height. While away up the lake there is a fine panorama of the mountains of the continental divide. We had lunch at the chalets and then went back to the main land and returned to Glacier Park hotel.

After dinner that night we were entertained by the ceremonies of adoption into the Blackfeet tribe of Indians, conferred upon a score of more of our number. This feature of our trip had been eagerly anticipated by some but proved to be nearly a farce. Whereas the adoption ceremonies into the Cheyenne tribe at Miles City had been a rather solemn and impressive affair, this at Glacier Park was mostly a hilly-ho, the few Indians taking part laughing and talking most of the time while they daubed a little paint on the foreheads and cheeks of those who were being initiated.

It was late that night when we sought our berths in the Pullmans for every adopted Indian was compelled to give a war dance for the amusement of the rest of the party.

For quick action in emergencies, we commend the Chamber of Commerce of the Little City of Lewistown, our next stop in our trip thru Montana. Our train was three hours late in reaching this live little town and it was a hungry and impatient crowd that descended from the train when it finally reached its destination. The Chamber was not supposed to furnish our breakfast, but learning of the train delay, some rapid thinking, followed by hard work, provided all of our party with hot coffee and sandwiches, a repast which certainly tasted good to all of us. The Chamber not only provided the breakfast but they had a large tent ready for us fully equipped with typewriters, stationery and even a telephone and to all of which we were most welcome. Automobiles were waiting after our breakfast and a ten mile ride taken out into what is known as the Judith Basin, the great wheat section of Montana.

Our objective was the home of one of the early settlers in the territory—the King ranch. Much of the country here is prairie and trees are scarce and far apart. The King place, however, was surrounded with large and beautiful trees and was a most comfortable spot. Light refreshments were served on the lawn under the shade of the trees and with a beautiful garden of flowers around us. Bidding good-bye to Mr. King, we were driven back to town while a few of us went directly to the Country club where we were to be entertained that evening. The club had a most comfortable house, perched on a hill overlooking a wide valley and a fairly good nine hole golf course.

Preparations were in progress to give us a dinner of brook trout, served in the open and we were ready and waiting when the glad cry of "Come and get it" was heard. The dinner lived up to the keenest anticipations of all of us and will be long remembered. After dusk, the grounds were illuminated and the Elks gave an enjoyable concert. All in all it was one of the most enjoyable days we had while in Montana, particularly so, as we had thought that our outward bound trip would be a sort of anticlimax to all the splendid entertainment we had been given all thru the state.

And Great Falls, our next stopping place continued the same hospitality of Lewistown. We had a delightful breakfast at the Rainbow hotel followed by a long automobile ride out into the surrounding country to show us a big field of wheat. The Missouri river at this point has cut a deep and wide channel in the plateau and is walled in by high bluffs on both sides.

We stopped to look at the Giant springs right on the banks of the river, said to be the largest springs in the country. The water boils and bubbles in a series of springs, covering an area of fifty feet in diameter.

We had lunch at the Park hotel and in the afternoon inspected the wire pulling and zinc plant of the Anaconda Copper Company. Here we saw the huge copper billets made at the Anaconda plant, just outside Butte, reduced by successive processes to various sizes of copperwire. It was an interesting sight and we were glad to receive little letter weights of miniature copper billets, as souvenirs of our visit. We were refreshed with lemonade at the Company's club house before leaving for the Great Falls of the Missouri.

An interesting feature of this plant of the Anaconda company is the gigantic chimney which is said to be large enough to swallow the big Washington monument, with the exception of ten or twelve feet at the top.

Our visit to the plant of the Montana Power company will long be remembered by all of us. Following an uninteresting drive on the prairie we suddenly came to the edge of the bluff, from which we could see the river several hundred feet below. On arriving at the bottom we had a full view of the immense dam of the Company, just above the Great Falls themselves. The dam is 78 feet in height and the falls drop is 87 feet further, and from this fall of water the Company develops over 90,000 horse power. For our edification, the flow was cut down to one third its normal capacity thus allowing a large amount of water to flow over the dam. It was a beautiful sight to see this water drop in a straight fall for some 75 feet and then dash downwards as much more over the rocks and boulders in the river bed. We were entertained at the Company house on a ledge which projected out over the river, with a fine box lunch and as darkness came, the dam was illuminated with a thousand railroad fuses while rockets curved gracefully from either side and roman candles were displayed from the dam. It was a beautiful scene and a fitting climax to a red letter day.

Great Falls is said to be unique in that it was planned and laid out to be a great city, with a place prepared for all of the adjuncts of a metropolis. It was an attractive city, with well laid out streets and acres of fine parks. We were informed that as the water supply is not as large as it might be, it is necessary to restrict the use of water for lawns. Accordingly, one side of the street uses water on the one side and the other side has its turn on the next day.

The city has a fine daily newspaper produced in a modern up-to-date plant, one which many an eastern city might well envy. We made three stops the next day on our way home, at Havre, Malta and Point. Havre was a railway center and we heard that it heartily sympathized with the strikers, but we were not prepared to see placards in almost all the stores, with the words, "If you are a scab, stay out!" It made a mighty bad impression on all our party and every one "stayed out" and was glad when the train pulled out of the place. At Malta we made a brief stay, long enough to inspect a fine exhibition of fruits, vegetables and grains which were in a tent near the station. At Wolf Point we were guests at the finals of a three days round up. I was captured at the station platform by a cow girl and rode to the enclosure in front of the grandstand where I had a hearty greeting from the crowd. The exhibition of bucking horses and steers was the best we had seen and our stay was altogether too short.

That night and all the next day was spent in traversing North Dakota and Minnesota, reaching Minneapolis and St. Paul in the early evening and where we bade au revoir to some of our party. That night we travelled to Chicago, arriving the next morning, an hour late, in a journey of over three weeks—a most remarkable record considering the wide extent of the railroad strike at that period. Those of us who stayed in Chicago for other train connections were guests at lunch that noon of Swift & Co. and were later shown over their enormous plant at the stock yards and travelling a thousand miles and more, even Niagara Falls, which we stopped at on our way to see the next day, did not seem as impressive as usual. And it was with great delight that we woke the next morning amid the green hills of the Berkshires and realized that we were actually in good old Massachusetts and at "Home, sweet, Home."

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. Annie M. (Bond) Barnes, the wife of Major Fred P. Barnes, died Monday at the home of her sister, Dr. M. E. B. Foote at Larchmont, N. Y., where she went about a year ago on account of a serious illness.

Mrs. Bond was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was married to Major Barnes on March 6, 1872. Their golden wedding anniversary took place this spring but Mrs. Barnes health prevented any observances of the event.

Mrs. Barnes was a patriotic and hard worker during the war in the West Newton branch of the Red Cross and was active in the work of Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R., with special interest in the chapter house at Lower Falls. She was a regular communicant in the Second Church and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. Mrs. Barnes has resided in West Newton for over 50 years.

She is survived by her husband and sister. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church officiating and the burial was in the family lot at Forest Hills.

Y. W. C. A.

Classes at the Y. W. C. A. are now being planned to start the first week in October. Gymnasium classes for girls and women, folk dancing, basket ball and dressmaking, millinery will also be offered. On Saturday afternoons there will be hikes and picnics. Clubs and recreation groups are also being planned for the winter.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE—Francine Larrimore in "Nice People" Scores Big Success: When Sam H. Harris sends out an attraction from New York, he generally makes it one well worth seeing. "Nice People," the comedy in which he presented his young star, Francine Larrimore, at the Hollis St. Theatre last Monday night was no exception to that rule. It was one of the most delightful comedies that has been presented in Boston for some time. And as for the star—well, she is one of the daintiest, brightest little comedienne that Boston has seen in a generation. What is more, the young lady can act. She is an artist, finished to the tips of her dainty finger tips. Her performance of the willful little rich girl who defies all conventional ideas of propriety only to find that in the end it does not pay, is as enjoyable as it is rare as a bit of theatrical artistry.

Scouting is a Movement primarily rather than an organization. This makes it possible for other agencies to cooperate in forwarding the Scout Program among boys.

"Scouting has been very fortunate in having the confidence of all Churches of all faiths and denominations."

"The Scouting program gears with the researches of modern religious education and provides a program adaptable to the needs of the Churches."

"Scouting provides the tools, the activities, which aid the Church in developing the religious motive along active channels."

"The job of Scouting is to teach boys what service is, what citizenship is."

"Citizenship implies service and sacrifice for the country's good."

Scout Executive Sharratt reports that boys are beginning to sign up for the coming season. Already under Norumbega Council 588 Scouts are registered. The aim for this year is 700. Boys desiring to become scouts should visit one of the Troops and secure application blanks from Scoutmaster.

WOMAN'S GUILD MEETING

The Woman's Guild of the Second Church will have its first meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 10, Sewing at 11 o'clock, luncheon at 1. At 3 P. M. Mrs. J. Sumner Bird will speak on "In Washington with the Peace Conference," illustrated with slides.

Mrs. Bird was one of four women appointed by President Harding to represent the United States on the Advisory Committee for the Peace Conference. Women of Newton are invited to attend this lecture.

Mrs. Bird was also the first Chairman of the Woman's Division of the Republican State Committee, and was at the head of the Massachusetts Women's Suffrage Association at the time the amendment passed Congress and was ratified in Massachusetts. She is President and the principal founder of the newly organized Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, and has always been interested and prominent in civic and social affairs throughout the State.

SCOUTING'S SECOND BIENNIAL CONFERENCE

General interest has been aroused by the Second Biennial Scout Executive's Conference just closed which was held at Blue Ridge, North Carolina. Fully four hundred Executives from all over the country were present, and representatives from England and Canada, from the Y. M. C. A., Boy's Work International, Rotary, American Red Cross, Playground and Recreational Association of America, The American Legion, National Catholic Welfare Association, Protestant Churches and the Public Schools, came to express appreciation of the Scout Movement. Among the many suggestions picked from the addresses and conferences were the following:

"Scouting is a Movement primarily rather than an organization. This makes it possible for other agencies to cooperate in forwarding the Scout Program among boys."

"Scouting has been very fortunate in having the confidence of all Churches of all faiths and denominations."

"The Scouting program gears with the researches of modern religious education and provides a program adaptable to the needs of the Churches."

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Three Wise Fools," sensational hit in America. Australia and Great Britain, will be the offering next week of the Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre. "Three Wise Fools" is a member of the Golden family—"Lightnin'," "Turn to the Right," "The First Year" and "Dear Me." It will be remembered that the latter play enjoyed a record week of the St. James last month and the arrival of the second member of the Golden family, will be of special interest to Boston theatre-goers. Supporting Miss Nudsen, the popular young Danish leading lady, and Walter Gilbert, will be seen Mark Kent, Ralph Remley, Edward Darney, Houston Richards, Harold Chase, Viola Roach, Anna Layng and Lucille Adams.

A NOTABLE TRANSACTION

The sale of the Elliot Block on Centre street, Newton, is one of the important events of the week.

This property was built in 1876 by Mr. Joseph N. Bacon and has been in the possession of the Bacon family for 66 years. The Bacon heirs now convey the premises to Orin S. Green of Malden.

The property consists of a brick building with stores on the ground floor, an Elks' Home on the second floor and a large unused hall on the third floor. The building is assessed for $25,000 and the land for $19,600.

POLICE NOTES

David Sahl of 14 Porter St., Medford, was in the District Court, Saturday morning, on the complaint of Edward Greenwood of 156 Grant av., Newton Centre. Sahl, while driving along Commonwealth av., Newton Centre, on the evening of September 13, struck Greenwood's dog and injured it so badly that patrolman George Kilman was summoned to kill the animal. Sahl did not even stop, but continued in the direction of Boston. Edward Joyce of Alden st., took the number of the car, and John O'Grady, who was standing with Greenwood, jumped into his car and followed Sahl to Lake st., where he got his name and address. Sahl pleaded not guilty, but Judge Weston fined him $20, which he paid. Van Ness H. Bates of Sewell street, Brookline, a member of the Civil Service Commission, was arranged Tuesday in Newton Court before Judge Bacon, charged with operating his car at an unreasonable rate of speed on the night of September 18.
 Mr. Bates admitted that he was driving at a rate of 25 miles an hour, but said the road was clear and he had the car under perfect control. Mr. Bates said he had driven a car for 10 years, a distance of about 100,000 miles and had never been in court before. Judge Bacon placed the case on file.

DEATH OF J. WARREN BAILEY

Mr. J. Warren Bailey, a well known and somewhat eccentric resident of Newton for the past fifty years, died suddenly last week Thursday at his home on Maple street in the Watertown district, from an attack of heart disease.
 Mr. Bailey was born in Townsend, Mass., and was 75 years of age and was educated in Wilbraham academy. He has resided nearly all his life in Newton, having taken up his residence in Watertown only a few months ago.
 Mr. Bailey married late in life and is survived by his widow.
 Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the family lot in Mt. Auburn cemetery. Rev. Chester A. Drummond, pastor of Channing church officiating.

period, 7.30 to 8.15 P. M., there are to be three courses from which students may choose. "Child Nature and Development," given by Prof. J. P. Berkeley, of the Newton Theological Institution, will help the teacher to understand child life from birth to maturity and thus guide more effectively the teaching process for different ages. "Story-Telling," taught by Mrs. H. W. Pitts, of Newton, will give principles of structure, classification and telling of good stories for children of the ages 8 to 12 years. "Organization and Administration of the Church School," by Dr. H. W. Gates, Director of the Community School, is a course for pastors, S. S. Superintendents, members of religious education committees in Churches, and all others interested. Dr. Gates has had extensive experience in administrative work in local Church schools.

During the second period, 8.45 to 9.30 P. M., four courses are offered. "The Prophets of the Old Testament," given by Dr. Gates, will deal with the rise and development of prophecy, and the religious message of the prophets for today. "Geography of the Bible," by Prof. Berkeley, is a combination of subject matter and teaching method, a study of the main history of the Bible with relation to the geographical setting, and laying much emphasis on methods for using such material in Sunday School teaching. "The Primary Department," by Mrs. Pitts, and "The Junior Department," by Miss Barker, are for those who now teach in these respective departments of the Church school, and who wish very practical material and methods to obtain attention, interest and response from the children in these departments.

EDITORIAL

At the state election in November, the voters of the state will be called upon, in addition to voting for a United States Senator, Governor and other state officials, to approve or disapprove five matters of legislation which have been placed on the ballot by act of the Legislature or by referendum petition.

One of these is merely routine in character and is an amendment to the constitution to relieve the House of Representatives from many long and tedious roll calls on emergency measures. At present the constitution requires such roll call on all emergency bills and the amendment merely provides that such roll call shall be had whenever five or more members demand it. As most of the emergency bills are routine in character and as a roll call of the House takes from 15 to 20 minutes, there is a saving of much valuable time by adopting the amendment. Vote yes.

In this city we do not believe it is necessary to urge the voters to approve the act requiring district attorneys to be members of the House. It is surely a wise measure which would require our district attorneys to be lawyers of sufficient knowledge and character to be admitted to practise before our courts. Men who cannot qualify to that extent ought not to be even candidates for such an important office as district attorney. Vote yes.

The other questions are on the much discussed matter of censorship of moving pictures, to carry into effect in Massachusetts, the 18th amendment to the U. S. constitution, and to allow voluntary associations to sue and be sued as such association. We shall discuss these measures in more detail before the election.

UP IN AN AIRPLANE

Miss Elizabeth Holmes of Shornecliffe road, who with Miss Rose Loring has just returned from a ten-day trip with the Appalachian Mountain Club was one of the few ladies who went up in an airplane.

The trip was made from the Grey Locks Inn, in the Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal.

The afternoon was a perfectly clear one without clouds. Equipped with helmet and goggles, and carefully strapped in, Miss Holmes started on her upward flight. Her seat was in front of the pilot. The latter, one of the most skilful of Canadian pilots, and an ex-soldier, drove with one hand.

The car made the ascent so gradually that one was unconscious of the moment of leaving the earth.

Below, some 2000 feet, lay the many lakes and rivers with which the country abounds, the latter looking like ribbons.

The motion was a delightfully smooth one, with a slight rocking like the waves of the sea.

It was difficult to gauge the speed, as at that height there were no objects rushing by which we ordinarily perceive speed.

Miss Holmes says that she experienced no dizziness or other unpleasant sensation, and would like to go again.

FOOTBALL

The Riverside A. A. of this village will play the strong Jeffry A. A. eleven of East Boston next Saturday at the Upper Falls Playground. The Riverside has a strong backfield and a steady line. Either Cahill or Murphy will play quarterback; Fred De Doming, right half; Ravinski full back, and Max Pifer, left half. They have a fast ends in Powell and O'Donnell.

Angier School

Last Saturday the Angier School played their first game with a team from Newton Highlands. The game was a tie, the score being 6-6. The Angier School played the entire game with the same eleven that began the game. Gordon White played exceedingly well.

Mason School Notes

The school year at the Mason School opened with full numbers. Eighteen rooms are now occupied, exclusive of sewing, sloyd, and cooking rooms. Grade eight in Room Ten has had nearly perfect attendance the first two weeks, only two half-days of absence being recorded.

The Class gift of last year has added several Victor records to our collection and we hope soon to have a set that the children will appreciate and enjoy.

Miss Lawrence is the additional teacher on the third floor, occupying with her sixth grade the room formerly used as the drawing room.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION

The Officers of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, were installed by Eminent Sir Asa C. Jewett, Grand Captain General of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, assisted by Eminent Sir Charles W. Henderson, Jr., Deputy Grand Warden. It was a public installation, about 350 being present. The Commandery was honored by the presence of Rt. Em. Sir Henry C. Dexter, Grand Commander of Central Falls, R. I.

The past Commander's jewel was presented to the retiring Commander, Em. Charles E. Fogg, and the Honorary Membership badge was presented to Rt. Em. Sir Dexter.

After the installation ceremonies, dancing was enjoyed in Temple Hall until midnight. Refreshments being served.

These officers were installed: Commander, E. Sir Roland C. March; Generalissimo, Sir George A. Bacon; Captain General, Sir Winston L. Buddington; Senior Warden, Sir Charles E. A. Ross; Junior Warden, Sir George M. Pond; Recorder, E. Sir Asa C. Jewett; Treasurer, Sir Christopher I. Flye; Prelate, Sir Albert L. Harwood; Associate Prelate, Rev. McIlvay H. Lichter; Sir Herbert E. Smith; Standard Bearer, Sir J. Harold Libbey; Sword Bearer, Sir Clemente Hernandez; Warden, Sir Fred O. Burkholder; Captain of the Guard, Sir Albert E. Billings; Guards, Sir Harrison Hyslop, Sir Alfred E. Allen, Sir Winthrop B. Sargent; Sentinel and Armorer, Sir Burpee E. Piper; Musical Director and Organist, Sir Louis V. Haffermehl.

WINS MAYOR'S CUP

The Rambler A. A. baseball nine, winner of the championship of the Newton Twilight League, was presented with the cup offered by Mayor Childs at the Newton Upper Falls Playground last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Thomas J. Lyons of the Playground Commission making the presentation in the absence of Mayor Childs.

The Twilight League was formed last year but the Ramlers did not enter until this year.

They led the second team, the Algonquins of Newton Centre, by seven games; there were 30 league games. Lincoln A. A. of Newton Highlands came third, followed by Thompsonville A. C., Tigers of West Newton and the Newton Cubs. The league games were played on Monday and Wednesday evenings, but on Saturdays and Sundays the Ramlers managed to play 19 more games with outside teams, making a total of 49 games for the year.

CITY HALL

A large number of Auburndale residents were given a hearing last night by the License Committee on the petition of the proprietors of the Castle Inn for a victualler license. The Inn is on the old Puffer place on Islington road and has just been opened as a road house. The committee laid the matter on the table.

COMMUNITY THEATRE

An addition to Newton's rapidly growing business district is the new Community Theatre which opens to the public Monday evening, Oct. 2nd, 1922.

As a temple of amusement, this structure will combine, in addition to architectural beauty, the comforts which mark the last word in a theatre of the highest class.

In designing the Community Theatre, located on the corner of Washington and Bacon streets, Newton, Mass., the owners tried to keep in mind the Community feeling and had their architects design a Colonial Type on the exterior and the interior. The exterior of the building is of water struck brick with wide joints; the decorative features, columns, cornices, etc., being of stone. A pleasing marquee marks the entrance, giving ample opportunity for signs. The approach of this Theatre is designed to give plenty of space for the sale of tickets, etc.

On entering the building, one is impressed with the domestic quality and quiet refinement of the design, giving a feeling of comfort differing entirely from the usual type of theatre treatment. The color effects are soft greys with ivory tones, the draperies and hangings being of mulberry color.

An elaborate staircase on each side mark the approaches to the balcony, which is very accessible from the first floor. The concrete floors are carpeted in keeping with the decorations.

Special attention has been paid to the ventilating of the theatre; the architects worked out their own engineers the most modern system, it being designed so that there is a complete change of air every ten minutes. A cooling device has been installed which will bring the air of the theatre to any desired temperature.

On the first floor of the House is located the Manager's Office and a Balcony floor has been laid out for a Lounge Room with Retiring Rooms and Toilet for men and women.

The stage has been designed to take care of any modern up-to-date show, with gridiron and fly galleries, allowing the management to put on any special features that they may desire. Catering to the public of such a community as Newton, there is much in tradition that must be preserved in any of the Community Institutions.

This, the builders and owners have kept in mind and this, they intend to preserve in the conduct of the theatre. Modern in every department, a home-like effect is the desire of its owners and everything possible will be done for the comforts of its patrons.

The house with its balcony, seats approximately fourteen (1400) hundred; every seat commanding an excellent view of the stage. The front of the balcony has been divided into Loggias arranged for movable chairs. This theatre is the most modern constructed building in Newton, being absolutely fire-proof, the construction of the floors, walls, etc., being of steel, brick and concrete.

The Management takes extreme pleasure in announcing that they have contracted for the installation of a large organ.

What this means to the enjoyment of photo-plays exceeds ordinary words of description. It combines the majestic tones of the Pipe Organ with full symphony orchestra under the complete and unified control of one musician. In magnitude, variety and beauty of tone color, it exceeds any musical instrument ever produced.

The addition of this instrument reveals the length to which the management goes in order to make more enjoyable their patrons visits to their house.

Special attention has been paid to the exits of the House, same can be exited in three minutes if necessary.

DEATH OF CAPT. CRANDELL

Captain Lewis H. Crandell, who died on Wednesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, was born in Easton, N. Y., in 1839. He served in the Civil War as captain in the 125th New York Volunteers. The last two years he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Edwin J. Fort of George street, Lewton. Captain Crandell is survived by his widow, Marcia M. Crandell, and three daughters, Mrs. George P. Payne of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Paul D. Ives, of Easton, N. Y., and Mrs. Fort of Newton.

Services at Newton Cemetery Chapel this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Laurens MacLure officiating.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

On the Paffman Oval in Quincy at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon the 1922 Newton High eleven will line up against the Quincy High eleven in the first game of the season for both teams.

Quincy will send on the field a team of nine veterans, nine of the same men who gave Newton such a stiff battle in the opener at Claffin Field last year. Newton will line up minus the greater part of the 1921 personnel, but the men whose names will be found in the new Orange and Black lineup seem ready to make further enviable records for Newton and Coach Dickinson.

While we have no such thing as absolute certainty concerning the Newton lineup tomorrow we believe that the following men will carry the colors of the Orange and Black into the initial fray. Bowen will be at centre, Savory and Lovejoy as guards, Dewing and Johnson as tackles, with Duane, Adams, or Ryal at the wings. McQuiston will call the signals, Capt. Kohler and Esty at the half back positions, and Fairbanks in at fullback. Coach Dickinson's choice may differ slightly from this, but from what we have seen of the last few practices the above lineup comes very close to being the right one. The boys are in the best of condition and go to Quincy determined to take the first step on the ladder of another championship. It is probable they look fully capable of doing it.

Quincy High has been coming along fast under the direction of Coach Mitchell and they are perfectly willing to admit that they are out to beat Newton and do the job in the best of fashion. Viewing the coming contest in an unprejudiced light we cannot see where Quincy has a chance. Opening games are often subject to unexpected surprises but as we write this we are willing to wager a few tokens that Newton will win and win by a larger score than last year. However, tomorrow will tell the story.

A large following of Newton rooters will make the trip to Quincy, and Coach Dickinson and Co. should have no reason to feel homesick.

On next Wednesday afternoon Newton travels to Franklin to meet the strong Dean Academy second team. This game is always a hard one due to the fact that Dean Academy never quite decides which is their first and which is the second team when Newton goes up to play them. At any rate, if you pick up the paper later in the season you will find that many of the names in the regular Dean Academy lineup are among those who played on the Dean second team against Newton.

O'Donnell, who many regard as the best prospect Newton High has had for years, will not be eligible to play until after the Everett game. This will be a disappointment to those who appreciate the all around ability of the husky Newton quarterback.

It will be interesting to see what success the high school teams will have with the new "try for point" which has taken the place of the old place kick after a touchdown. We believe that it is going to make the scoring of the single point even more difficult. It will, however, add a bit more zest to the game. We like the new rule since it gives every man on both teams an opportunity to figure in the play.

There are several other high school games on the program for tomorrow that will attract the attention of Newton sport followers. Everett High plays Brockton at the Brockton Fair, Brookline goes up to meet mighty (7) Haverhill, and Malden plays Boston College High.

Y. M. C. A.

The fall and winter program of physical activities at the local Y. M. C. A. will begin Monday, Oct. 2, with a full schedule of gymnasium classes, sports, and recreational games. The Gym has been refurnished and everything put in first-class condition.

Last year the new 1200 different men and boys enrolled in the various gymnasium classes. Different individuals who enjoyed the swimming pool the year round totalling 2,200. The grand total using the physical department was 25,041. In spite of the fact these figures represent one of the busiest years in the Association's work in Newton, the present outlook gives promise of even a greater and more far-reaching work than ever attempted in the past.

The modern equipment and facilities of the Association has an appeal to young and old alike second to none in the city.

The alleys have also been refurnished and are in A-1 shape for the big opening Monday, Oct. 2. This is a popular sport at the "Y" where interesting league matches are rolled throughout the season. There will be a meeting of all bowlers October 2 for the purpose of selecting a bowling committee to handle the league games, etc. If you are planning to get on a team be on hand Monday night, 8:00.

TRIP TO THE CONVICT SHIP

Saturday morning at nine o'clock the boys of The Boys Division, Y. M. C. A., will go to the Convict Ship, stationed at Warren Bridge, Boston.

The trip will be made by car under the leadership of Clyde G. Hess and Raymond VanBuskirk.

This is the first of a series of Educational Trips which will be taken during the winter and fall months.

A STEINERT CONCERT

A very interesting concert will be given on Friday evening, Oct. 13, at eight o'clock in the Unitarian Church of West Newton through the courtesy of M. Steinert and Sons Co. of Boston, with their Duo-Art Reproducing piano. In addition to illustrating the perfection of this piano, there will be several numbers by a pianist and a charming group of songs by a soprano soloist. The concert is given to help defray some of the initial expenses of the forthcoming Library Fair. A large number of people, children as well as adults, should take this opportunity of hearing a very beautiful program of music. Admission 25c.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club opens its club year with a reception to club members at the home of the president, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, 1146 Chestnut street, on Monday evening, Oct. 2, at eight o'clock. The club will hold a Rummage Sale at Forrester's Hall, Petee street, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6 and 7.

The first regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club for the year 1922-1923 will be held Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 10 A. M. at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Scott, 144 Hancock street. The general topic for the year "Famous Men and Women since 1850," will be started on its way by Mrs. Samuel W. Dike, giving a paper on Burroughs; and Miss Ellen C. Williams one on Burbank. At 12 o'clock a simple luncheon will be served to club members in charge of the Program Committee.

The new year book of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, distributed to its members this week, announces the first autumn meeting to be held on October third, at 2.30 P. M., in the Congregational Church. Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, delegate to the Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held at Chattanooga in June, will review her personal experiences, which are sure to be of great interest given in her inimitable manner. A reception and tea will follow, the new President, Mrs. B. Walter Goddise, heading the receiving line. The Parliamentary Law Class, which was conducted so successfully last year by Mrs. Electra M. Sherman, will begin a new course under her leadership, October 10th, and continue on each successive Tuesday morning for ten weeks; time and place, 10.30 A. M., Hyde School Library.

Middlesex, ss. Probate Court

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of

John F. Keleher

late of Newton in said County, deceased,

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William H. Keleher, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the said William H. Keleher, without giving a surety on his official bond;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the eighteenth day of October, A. D. 1922, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or otherwise, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court, Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of September in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER

Clark Hodder, winner of 10 prizes in open tournaments held this year under the auspices of the Massachusetts Golf Association, was tendered a complimentary banquet Wednesday night at the Commonwealth Country Club, about 100 members attending. Pres. Harry F. Stimpson of the club presided and William F. Garcelon, former president and now secretary of the M. G. A., was toastmaster.

Addresses were made by Everett H. S. Litchfield, president of the M. G. A., Francis Outinet and Joseph S. Donovan. Each paid tribute to the young golfer and wished him luck in the pursuit of his studies at Harvard.
Mr. Donovan, on behalf of the members of the club, presented him with a gold watch. Hodder responded in his usual unassuming way. He sang several songs and entertained at the request of the members.

The committee in charge of the affair was headed by Mr. Donovan, who was assisted by A. L. Danforth, A. R. Race and W. H. Workman. Hodder is in his sophomore year at Harvard and is prominent in athletics there.

PROUD OF LONG ANCESTRY

English Families That Can Trace
Their Descent Directly for More Than Ten Centuries.

The Asshetons, in direct descent, have held land at Downham, Lancashire, during the reigns of 17 sovereigns of England. The present lord of the manor of Downham, compared with whom many dukes, earls and marquises are more parvenus as far as pedigree is concerned, is Ralph Cockayne Assheton, who has been high sheriff of Lancashire and is a deputy lieutenant and an alderman for the county of Lancaster.

But the long record of this family is equaled by others in a humbler sphere of life.

William Purkis, the groundsman at University of College school, is a direct descendant of Purkis, the charcoal burner who picked up William Rufus' body in the New forest and took it in his cart to Winchester. Other descendants of Purkis still inhabit the New forest district, and until two generations ago one of them owned a small plot which had come down to him in the male line from Norman days. The groundsman Purkis claims that up to recent times his family had in its keeping a genuine spoke of the wheel of the cart which took the king's body to Winchester!

"It was kept in a glass case," he told an interviewer, "until one night when my grandfather in a fit of temper threw the spoke in the fire. The burning of the spoke caused a great stir and next Sunday the parson preached a sermon on it."

Not long ago there died at Gattonside, in Roxbury, a farmer named Thomas Boston, whose ancestors settled there in the time of Robert Bruce. He went to Bannockburn as a harpist in the train of Edward II to celebrate in song the victory which the English king anticipated; instead, he fell into the hands of Bruce, who spared his life on condition that he compose a ballad in Scotland's honor. Boston fulfilled the condition so satisfactorily that he got in return the grant of Gattonside.

An inn at Lamberhurst, in Kent, has been held by the same family for over four centuries, and a blacksmith at Mucklestone, Shropshire, claims that his forge has been in the family at least 500 years and that one of his ancestors shed Margaret of Anjou's horse in 1459.

His Excuse.

Service on a jury is a task that is shunned more generally than any other public service. Practically every excuse imaginable is presented by talesmen as a valid reason for relief of this onerous labor. But to stay awake until almost midnight before reaching a verdict and then to leave for home, only to find that during the jury deliberation your car had acquired a "paster" for some violation of the city parking laws, would be too much for the average man's endurance. This predicament faced a juror in one of the Marion county courts the other night when he started for home after hours of jury sessions.

The jury reached a verdict late at night and the verdict was sealed. It was to be opened by the judge at nine o'clock the next day. Nine o'clock came but only 11 jurors were present and the reading of the verdict was delayed. It was later than 9:30 when the twelfth man came into the courtroom and related his story. He had spent the early part of the day explaining things at the City Court building, he informed the judge.—Indianapolis News.

Illegal Fishermen's Spy System.

The Columbia river is as much a river of mystery, of adventure and of romance, even though the romance be unrecognized by the stern eye of the law, as it ever was, according to a dispatch from Astoria, Ore.

Deputy John Larson of the state fish warden's force, state department of fisheries, vouchers for the mystery boat Governor Olcott. He believes illicit fishing is going on, but admits the fishermen have a clever system of evading detection.

Flashing signal lights from river bluffs warn of the approach of suspicious craft, even as the signal fire of pioneer days advertised for the suspicious Indian the approach of the white man's birch. According to Larson, the signal may be a blazing bunch of newspapers, or a spotlight, but when he gets there the quarry has departed for safer waters.

A Graceful Surrender.

"You don't stand a chance," said the prominent citizen's campaign manager. "The best thing for you to do is to withdraw and escape being snowed under at the election."

"But confound the luck, how am I going to get out of the race without acknowledging that I can't win?"

"Easily enough. Just announce that however much you may desire to serve your country in a position of honor and trust, you are first of all a husband and father, and the claims of your family are such that you cannot afford to sacrifice a lucrative law practice to engage in the turmoil of a political contest."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Such Is Fame.

"Who is the guest of honor this evening?"

"Scribner, the author."

"Then I'm out of luck. I'll have to avoid him."

"Haven't you read any of his books?"

"I didn't even know he wrote books."

KAISER'S MEMOIRS COMING

His Personal Story to Appear in the Boston Post

The hottest discussion in history will burst upon the world next week when the first part of the Kaiser's Memoirs appear in the Boston Post.

Every line of the book was written in the Kaiser's own hand. It is this fact which gives big significance to the book throughout. The Kaiser was not content to dictate his memoirs. He was consumed with the idea that he had a life story to present to the world, that his direct personal contact with every word of his phrasing.

As the Kaiser writes, he is by turns defiant before the world and a craven begging off from its verdict.

He sticks to his old arrogance in holding himself up as a great Christian potentate, and in assuming that he possesses vast qualities as a historian, a scholar in science and arts, an expounder of religion.

But frequently he makes a curious spectacle of himself by desperately foisting blame on others. The deeds which won him lasting censure are, according to the Kaiser, not in truth attributable to him. His misdoings resulted from his being forced by high-handed aristocrats into following what he knew to be mischievous advice.

The Kaiser disclaims any participation himself in the "Gott Strafe England" sentiment of Germany. He maintains that, in fact, he made special exertions to foster good will with England.

He gives a striking account of his innermost thoughts in connection with the famous interview with himself in the London Daily Telegraph, following one of his visits to England.

In this interview he was quoted as saying that his own people were not friendly to England, although he insists that in his farewell speech he had urged cordial relations between the two countries.

"After my return," he writes, "the Chancellor (Prince Buelow) appeared, lectured me on my political sins and asked that I sign the document which was afterwards communicated to the press."

"I signed it in silence, and in silence I endured the attacks of the press against myself and the crown."

Other blame for German hatred of England he places on Bismarck, giving such illustrations as the following: "Bismarck had just heard that the North German Lloyd Steamship Co. was going to place an order for steamships with England."

"The Chancellor was furious," writes the Kaiser. "His eyes flashed; his fist came crashing down on the table."

"What do you mean to say that these shopkeepers would rather have their boats built in England than in Germany? Why, that is unheard of! The devil take this gang of traders!"

Beginning with next Sunday's Boston Post the Kaiser's Memoirs will be published in serial form by the Boston Post exclusively in New England. For the newspaper first rights in America a group of big papers paid a quarter of a million dollars. It will be the newspaper sensation of the year.

CATHOLICS FOR LAW AND ORDER

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union has never subscribed to the un-Christian assertion that law cannot make men moral.

The common perversion of the truism that law cannot compel obedience in those who have free will. Such obvious statement has no bearing on the present issue. This union professes its faith in the laws of God and the laws of the Church and the laws of Christian nations as the most potent agencies for human progress. Laws removing the occasions of sin may be as essential to the moral growth of communities as they undoubtedly are to the moral stability of individuals.

"In safeguarding its religious ideals, this union has never dictated the political affiliation of its members. It has urged upon its members the duty of maintaining their allegiance to the national union, whatever be their convictions as to their duty as citizens."

It repeats its belief that only by association can the cause of temperance be promoted in the Church or the nation; and only by toleration of honest differences of opinion can the lovers of any cause continue to array themselves against the common enemy.

"Whatever may be the whole truth as to the results of prohibitory legislation in the United States, there is indubitable and abundant evidence of many evils of alcoholism still rife in many quarters. This union believes that sincere horror for such evils suggests unrelenting war upon bootleggers and other criminals, rather than vain discussion of actual or hypothetical conditions. Every duty is a duty of the hour, and the duty of this hour is the suppression of bootlegging and all its attendant evils. Forgetting the things that are behind, this union would have its members face present facts with honesty and courage."

"Maintenance of law and order is not political issue, but a civic duty. Catholic citizens will not be wanting in the final realization of their civic duty. They understand the dangers to the foundation of all government which the bar association of the United States has so forcefully pointed out in the too-common encouragement given to lawlessness. They will not be deaf to the appeal which the chief executive of this nation has made to all good citizens to uphold the law of prohibition because it is part of the law of the land."

(1) In defining intoxicating liquor, Congress and over 30 states, including our own legislature, have adopted the revenue standard of the United States Government for 20 years—one half of one per cent. No change was made because experience showed such limitation necessary for effective enforcement.

BEAMISH—GOODRICH

Among the many Newton brides this month, was Miss Helen Abbott Goodrich, daughter of Mrs. Melville F. Goodrich of St. James street, Newton, who last Sunday was married to Mr. William Stanley Beamish of Newtonville. Rev. Newton A. Merritt of the Immanuel Baptist Church, was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Helen M. Crossman of Auburn, Maine, was maid of honor. Mr. A. Stanley Goodrich, brother of the bride, best man, and Mr. Elbert F. Garrett of Philadelphia, and Mr. L. O. Grubbs of Springfield, Missouri, ushers.

The bride was dressed in white crepe satin with a veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor's gown was of champagne colored crepe de chine, with a chiffon tail, and her bouquet was of butterfly roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride which was decorated with palms and ferns, and a bower of green and white ribbon under which the ceremony took place.

After a wedding trip to New York City, Mrs. Beamish will live at St. James street, Newton.

The bride is a graduate of the Newton High, and the groom served in an aviation corps during the war.

COLWELL—TILTON

Last Saturday evening Miss Alice Hazel Tilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Tilton of Tremont street, Newton, became the bride of Mr. William Colwell of Lonsdale, R. I.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride, and was performed by the Rev. James V. Chalmers of New York city, and the Rev. Laurens MacLure of Newton.

The bride's gown was of white satin with pearl trimming, and she wore a long train. Her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of bride roses and swansonia.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Harry D. Wilson of Long Beach, California, wore a gown of peach color georgette and carried Ward roses and larkspur. The flower girl was Miss Frances Monroe Wilson of Long Beach, California.

The best man was Mr. Lawrence Howard Kent of Pawtucket, R. I., and the ushers were Mr. Harry A. Tilton of Newton and Mr. Wellington Rindge of Waban.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, the bride and groom being assisted by their parents and the sister of the bride. The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

After a trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Colwell will live in Providence, R. I.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS

Marjorie Moore Bates, graduate of Miss Wheelock's school, will open a Kindergarten on Monday, Oct. 2nd, in Little Players' Hall, West Newton. For terms and registration address Miss Marjorie Moore Bates, 74 Putnam street, West Newton. West Newton 431-J.—Advertisement.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association are in need of a Gymnasium outfit costing about $500. Who will supply it? Mrs. Arthur Kendrick, President; Miss Emma E. Walker, Treasurer; Miss Doris Badger, Secretary, Nonantum block.

DAVIDSON—MEADOWS

The Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, was the scene of a very attractive wedding Wednesday evening, when Miss Florence Meadows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Meadows, became the bride of Mr. Archer Davidson of Brookline, formerly of Virginia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Lawrence Wood, pastor of the Church.

The maid of honor was Miss Sylvia F. Meadows, sister of the bride, and the best man, was Mr. Harry F. Burroughs of Winthrop. The ushers were Messrs. Howard J. Meadows, brother of the bride, Eugene L. Tufts of Brookline, Everett L. Olds of Allston, Frank P. Rowbotham of Dorchester.

The bride's gown was of white satin crepe trimmed with Spanish lace, and the maid of honor's gown of orchid pink chiffon trimmed with silver.

The Waban Neighborhood Club was a scene of beauty with its decorations of cedar trees, pink gladioli, and smilax in honor of the reception which followed the ceremony. In the receiving line besides the parents of the bride and groom were the brother of the groom and his wife from Virginia, and the maid of honor and the best man, Mrs. Pearl L. Inman, organist of the Church, played the wedding march at the Church, an orchestra playing at the reception at the Club House.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will live in Brighton.

The bride took a special course in Simmons College, and the groom is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

A CONGRESSMAN'S DAY

By CONGRESSMAN GUY U. HARDY

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Most people think that a congressman has a soft snap. Little work, big pay, bright lights, much society. I suppose I used to think so. I had seen the legislature at work, and I naturally supposed that such an important body as the congress would not work more continuously than does a state legislature. I had never seen much of the eastern part of the country, and when I came down here I found myself planning little week-end trips to New York, Atlantic City, New England and nearby places.

But I had another guess coming. The congress takes mighty few week-end recesses.

In olden times, a few years ago in fact, the congress was in session, more or less leisurely, for about half the year. The members could spend a good deal of time back home where congressmen are not so numerous and where their official title cuts more ice than it does here in Washington. But during the past six or seven years the congress has been in almost continuous session. The war, of course, threw a big burden on congress and brought about the extra long sessions. The talk here would indicate that for a long time to come a member will spend most of his time in Washington.

The house meets every day at twelve o'clock noon and continues in session usually until five or six o'clock at night, and some times later. It meets usually every day except Sunday. It observes few legal holidays and has taken only short recess at Christmas times.

When the house is in session a member rarely leaves the hill. He may not sit in the house all the time, but he sticks around nearby so as to be on hand if a quorum is needed or a vote taken.

He gets his lunch whenever he can. There is a restaurant in the capitol and in the house office building, and he usually eats hurriedly in one of these when he finds a slack time. Men's tastes in lunches vary everywhere, but I have observed that members are usually light eaters at lunch time. The speaker and several other men of my acquaintance always take a pint bottle of milk and eat it in a bowl with crackers or bread. This may be followed by ice cream, pie or some simple dessert.

Hard Work in Committees.

If a member had nothing else to do but to attend sessions of the house and give some study, thought and consideration to the big problems before congress he would find himself quite well occupied. But that is only half of the work—perhaps not half. Much of the business of congress is conducted in committees.

Every bill is first considered in a committee, and sometimes a committee spends weeks or months holding hearings and considering a single bill. This was true of the revenue, tariff, bonus, immigration, educational, prohibition enforcement, appropriation and other big bills. Some committees meet every day for weeks at a time, and others at less frequent intervals. Committees usually meet at ten o'clock in the morning. Sometimes they go on working while the house is in session and sometimes they meet at night.

Some members have very hard committee work and some are more or less fortunate, as they choose to look at it. As a rule, every committee wants to consider every bill that can possibly be referred to it, and almost every member is anxious to get on the most important and hardest working committees.

Then there is the office work. The mail brings lots of office work. The office and departmental work alone would keep a man fairly busy all of the time if he worked union hours.

Much Business With Departments.

The practice has grown up for many people to write their congressmen about their business with the various departments. The Western members get a great deal more of this class of work to do than do the members from the East and South. The public land tracts furnish much business that must be looked after at the general land office. During the week a member is apt to have business before the Interior department, the forestry service, the pension bureau, the veterans' bureau and the Post Office department. And he may have an immigration case before the Labor department, a passport case before the Department of State, some business in some branch of the Agriculture department, and almost anything else before any other bureau or department in Washington.

A member never considers the question of official duty. If it is something that can properly be done, and a constituent back home wants it done, he goes and does it. And he is glad to do it, for it makes him a friend back home. But it all takes time and helps to make his day a full day.

Offices are usually open by nine o'clock in the morning and many members are there ahead of their secretaries. The secretaries may have hours to work by, but the congressman has none, or rather many. There are lights in half the offices at night and the best time to find many members in their offices is at night.

Society affairs are not on the daily program of many members. A few large receptions may be attended and a few dinners exchanged, but the average member wears his evening clothes, if he has any, less frequently in Washington than he does in his home town.

So it may be seen that a congressman, if he takes his job seriously, soon finds that in Washington he is just a plain, everyday workingman with a daily program full and complete.

A CONGRESSMAN'S MAIL

A congressman's desk is full of mail and propaganda.

What do the people write about? you ask.

Well, about almost everything under the sun. The congressman is the bureau of information for his district. He is the direct representative for his district of the great government at Washington to which all people turn when in need or distress.

Letters come favoring or opposing legislation; asking for information on every conceivable subject; asking for government aid in all sorts of enterprises; asking help to get people out of all sorts of difficulties and troubles; asking for information that will help boys and girls in debates; asking for decisions to help settle bets; asking for literature on all manner of subjects; asking for aid in getting post offices and rural routes established.

The homesteader seeks his congressman's assistance in land office matters. The old soldier and the soldier of later wars bring many problems to their congressman. The mothers of soldiers often have need of help in the way of delayed insurance adjustments, a discharge for the boy who enlisted under age, and occasionally help to get clemency for a boy in prison. The farmer asks for bulletins, agriculture year books, garden seed, rare field seed, farm loans and a variety of other things. One wrote in and asked for the loan of a government bull. They also write often about fence laws, road laws and high taxes on real estate—with all of which the federal government has nothing to do.

Claims against the government produce much mail and some work. Some of the claims are recent and collectable, but many are for losses during the Civil war and before, and these, however just, are hard to do anything with at this late date.

Many people write urging larger appropriations for various departments of the government in which they or their communities are directly interested. Some urge greater appropriations and lower federal taxes at the same time.

Some letters refer to jobs the writers would like to obtain, but as a congressman has little influence in procuring jobs now since nearly all government positions have been but in the civil service, this class of letters does not crowd the desk.

There are many unclassified requests, such as one from the citizens of a certain town alleging that the citizens of another town had stolen their court-house in the night and asking for its return through government agency.

Propaganda is Plentiful.

Then there is the propaganda, which is in a class by itself. It comes from all quarters of the globe and covers all subjects relating to life, from birth control to government graveyards. It is delivered by wire, mail and messenger. It runs in volume from a telegram or post card to bound books. No subject is suggested in congress, it seems, that does not bring forth a shower of propaganda, and some subjects bring a deluge.

So you can see that a congressman's desk is apt to be full of mail. His office is quite a business institution. If he had no legislative duties to perform he would find his whole time well employed in taking care of the mail, and the requests for service which the mails bring in.

And withal let me say that a congressman likes to hear from home. He wants to be of service to his constituents. He courts the business, so to speak. He is proud of the big bunch of mail that comes in and is pleased to see a big bunch go out at the close of the day. A big mail indicates a close touch with home. Most members answer most letters. I have replied to every letter that has come to my office from Colorado, except one. That came from a sort of anarchist. I would judge. Anyway, I could hardly dictate a proper reply to a lady stenographer, so that single letter among the thousands went into the waste basket, unanswered.

Scotch Thrift.

In a talk on thrift, a banker told a story about a Scotch farmer who, on frequent shopping trips in town, would hitch his horse on Main street, and having securely attached the feed bag would lift a hen from the wagon and let her with a stout cord to one of the shafts, in such a manner that she would be able to pick up every bit of oats the horse might drop while wrestling with the feed bag.—Judge.

and 17 men and reports 610 arrests, 422 convictions, with fines and costs amounting to nearly $14,000 and property recovered to a value of over $81,000.

This division of the department also has charge of the police boat "Lotus," which is in commission about 5 months in the year. This steamer assists in fish and game preservation, looks after the pollution of rivers and harbors by oil, and in the enforcement of the motor-boat muffler law. The coast is patrolled from Newburyport to Provincetown, daily runs being made in all navigable waters.

The inspection division has 44 members, 18 of whom are building inspectors, one being assigned to each of the 18 districts of the state, and 26 are boiler inspectors, one being assigned to each of the 26 districts in the state.

The building inspectors cover the safe occupancy of buildings in homes, factories, schools and public halls. The law requires sufficient and proper egress, prevention of fire and spread of fire and the ventilation and sanitation of all buildings.

The boiler inspectors have charge of the examination of engineers and firemen and the certification of air tanks, safety valves for ammonia compressors, as well as the inspection and certification of steam boilers used in the state. Insured boilers are examined by inspectors employed by authorized insurance companies. 21,796 boilers and tanks were examined by insurance companies and 7,525 by the department inspectors.

4,753 examinations were held for licenses as engineers and firemen and 2,573 rejected—a straw showing that these examinations are not superficial. The examination of elevators is a comparatively new duty of this division and one, which from reports of elevator accidents, has been established none too soon.

Another duty of the division is that of examination of booths, and the licensing of operators of moving pictures. This is a most important function as the films are made of material dangerous from a highly inflammable standpoint and under certain conditions the gas coming from them while burning is explosive when mixed with air. 899 operators' licenses were renewed last year and 427 applicants examined of whom 168 were rejected.

The Division of Fire Prevention has most important work to perform, for notwithstanding the large sums expended in this direction, the fire loss reached the total of $12,250,000 in this state in 1920—a tremendous price to pay for carelessness and heedlessness. This division investigates all incendiary unknown and suspicious fires with a force of nine men. 5,154 fires were investigated last year and 105 arrests made with 71 convictions. These men also assist in securing observance of the laws and regulations governing garages, explosives, fireworks, and volatile liquids and compounds.

The shortage of coal this fall has led to an increase in the number of installations of fuel oil burning equipment and there will be an increased work for this division in consequence. The department requires a plan showing the layout of the proposed fuel oil burning equipment, the facilities for storage of the oil, and the devices for protection of supply, consumption, and control.

In view of the proposed act governing the censorship of moving pictures, the work of the department in approving entertainments on the Lord's Day may be of particular interest at this time. All entertainments on the Lord's Day, following a license from the local authorities, must be submitted to the Department for approval as to character and consistency with the observance of Sunday. 12,063 licenses were thus examined last year and all but 31 approved. Of this number 117 were in the city of Newton.

The proposed censorship of moving pictures which will be voted upon next November, is merely an extension of the work which this department has been doing for some years on Sunday entertainments. In other words, Massachusetts has had a censorship of moving pictures for some years and has not suffered greatly in consequence thereof. Its extension to all moving pictures is not a new principle, in any way whatever.

The department maintains a chemical laboratory for the analysis of explosives and inflammables, dye stuffs and other matters of similar purport. There is also a bureau for the storage of liquids in tanks and which requires suitable diking and the fitting of modern and efficient safety devices to reduce the danger of handling liquids of an explosive or inflammable nature. With over 1,100 of these tanks in the state, the need for such inspection is obvious.

The control of boxing in this state is under the care of the commissioner of the State Police, which the commissioner of Public Safety is the chairman. Newton did not accept this act and therefore has no direct interest in its enforcement. Thirty cities and 11 towns did accept the act and 463 exhibitions were authorized and 525 boxers duly licensed.

The department cost the Commonwealth about $400,000 last year and returned $137,000 of this amount in fees.

The recent article on the Commissioner of State Aid was so managed by the make-up man that we publish it over again.

While most of us are fairly familiar with the direct cost of war, few of us realize its burden on the future in the way of pensions and kindred matters. State aid to soldiers and dependents of the civil war, which closed over 50 years ago cost Massachusetts in 1920 the sum of $411,000, and what the cost will be in 50 years hence to soldiers of the civil war is a matter of serious concern and depends on account of the situation.

Massachusetts is said to have the most generous laws of the whole country in caring for its soldiers and their dependents. In addition to a Federal pension, the soldier of the civil war or his widow receives $6 a month. If this is not sufficient, the soldier is entitled to Military aid of $10 a month additional. —Miss Agnes Buckley of Ossipee road died at her home last Saturday evening after a short illness. Burial services were held at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church last Tuesday at nine o'clock mass, and interment was at Needham Cemetery.

COMMITTEE SUICIDE

Lieut. Michael Daly of 108A Derby street, West Newton, shot and killed himself about 10.50 yesterday morning in his home, using a large calibre automatic service pistol. Daly was a first lieutenant in the Quartermaster Department of the army for four years and the weapon he turned on himself was the one he carried in the war.

Last Friday Mr. Daly fell from an automobile truck in West Newton Sq. and it is thought that he may have been mentally deranged owing to the injuries to his head received at that time.

Mr. Daly served for four years at various Southern camps, and was at Camp Joseph E. Johnston when he received his honorable discharge. He was very active in the Newton Legion, and when the Legion paper was first started he took charge of the advertising end. He was a member of the executive committee. He was 35 years old, and was a member of the Elks.

—The roof of the B. & A. Railroad roundhouse in the rear of 361 Grove street, caught fire Sunday morning and a still alarm was sent in at 3.55. The blaze was extinguished before any serious damage was done to the building. It is thought that the fire started from sparks lodged in the roof, but because of the strike the matter is being further investigated. On a previous occasion slight trouble with strikers has been reported to the New- ton police by railroad officials and they are inclined to think that the blaze may have had an incendiary ori- gin.

—The first social evening of the Congregational Church, for the au- tumn season will be a Get-together Social to be held on Friday evening, Oct. 6. An interesting feature will consist of the telling of vacation stories and experiences, especially by those who have travelled abroad this last summer. Among the speakers will be Mr. Edward J. Frost, Mr. Robert E. idson, Mr. Allen Davidson, Miss Annie C. Strong will represent the "stay-at-homes" and Dr. Drew will tell of his experiences in calling at the summer homes of some of his parish- ioners.

—Sunday, Oct. 1, will be Rally Day for the Congregational Church and Church School. An interesting fea- ture of the 10.30 o'clock church ser- vice will be the singing of the pro- fessional hymn by the Junior Choir as it leads the children of the younger de- partments of the Church School into the auditorium. Another feature of the Sunday morning service will be the consecration of officers and teach- ers and the installation of new officers. Dr. Drew will preach a special ser- mon on "Our Country's Call to the Guardians of its Youth." Arrangements have been made for the care of little children below the Kindergarten age, at 10.30 o'clock, while their par- ents attend the morning service. The young ladies in charge of this new department are Miss Doris Gage and Miss Katharine McLellan.

POLICE NOTES

Two more thefts were reported to the Newton police Tuesday night of auto accessories from cars left parked outside the Newton Opera House. H. L. Tange of 2081 Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, reported the loss of a mo- tor meter valued at $15 and J. A. Duane of 260 River street, West New- ton, reported the loss of a motor me- ter valued at $17. Both men were at the show last night and when they re- turned to their cars at 10.30 the me- ters were missing. Last week G. L. Finch of Walnut street, Newtonville, had a tire and rim and a radiator cap stolen from his car at the same place.

About every six months there is an epidemic of these petty thefts at New- ton Corner.
